Modern French Masters. Twenty biographical and critical monographs of the most famous French Masters, written by their American pupils and admirers. The book is edited by Prof. JOHN C. VAN DYKE, of Rutgers College, author of "Old Dutch and Flemish Masters." It is illustrated by 66 full-page pictures (insets), chosen designedly from both wood-engravings and half-tones, placed side by side, to allow judgment as to the relative merits of the two classes of reproduction. Superroyal octavo, 265 pages, $10.00.

WALTZ, ELIZABETH CHERRY.

†Pa Gladden, the Story of a Common Man. This narrative deals with one of the most interesting and unique characters of recent fiction. The mingling of religious sentiment and racy humor, and the portrayal of his relation to the people and animals among whom his life is led, have a strange fascination. With 8 illustrations, 8vo, 338 pages, $1.50.

WASHINGTON.

The principal state papers of George Washington, including his farewell address, the address to the officers, farewell orders to the armies, etc., with an introduction on "The Character of Washington" from Leckey's "History of England in the Eighteenth Century." Thumb-Nail Series. 122 pages, full stamped leather, $1.00.

Washington and the West. Being the diary of George Washington for September, 1784, kept during his journey in the Ohio Basin in the interest of a commercial union between the Great Lakes and the Potomac River, and with a commentary upon the same by Archer Butler Hulbert, author of "Historical Highways of America." Octavo, about 300 pages, $2.00 net. (Postage extra.)

WEBSTER, JEAN.

†The Wheat Princess. A dramatic love-story of an American girl in Italy. Her father has cornered the wheat market, and the starving peasants derisively call her "The Wheat Princess," in return for her efforts to alleviate their suffering. 12mo, 350 pages, $1.50.

†When Patty Went to College. The experiences of a college girl—a bright, clever book. "Far ahead of any other collection of American college tales." Full of humor. Illustrated by C. D. Williams. 8vo, 280 pages, $1.50.

WELLS, CAROLYN.

†The Staying Guest. The story of a quaint and startling but lovable little girl, who comes, unbidden and unwelcome, into the home of her supposed aunts. The child is one of the cleverest and most entertaining youthful characters in fiction. 12mo, 300 pages, $1.50.

The Story of Betty. The brightly told story of a little Irish girl near New York, who inherited money enough to "buy herself a home and family." 32 illustrations by Reginald Birch. 12mo, 260 pages, $1.50.

Eight Girls and a Dog. Some real girls go summering at the seashore for a good time. Eight merrier maids than those who kept house for themselves in "Hilarity Hall" would be hard to find. The story is funny and brisk, while the pictures are charming. 12mo, 268 pages, illustrated by C. M. Relyea, $1.00.

WHARTON, EDITH.

*Italian Villas and Their Gardens. Text printed in two colors on special plate paper, with fifty illustrations, some in four colors, and in black and white by Maxfield Parrish, and with photographs. Mrs. Wharton has had long and sympathetic familiarity with Italian outdoor life. Mr. Parrish is equally well equipped for his share in the sumptuous volume. Author and artist worked together in Italy and the result is a unique and rarely beautiful book. Royal octavo, 275 pages, $6.00 net. (Postage 27 cents.)

WHITE, ANDREW DICKSON.

*Autobiography of Andrew Dickson White. This is one of the most entertaining biographies ever written. Dr. White has had a wonderful life—a life which has touched upon many interests: education, politics, statecraft, diplomacy, literature. He has known many of the greatest and most interesting men of his time—Grant, Sumner,

Greeley, Garfield, Hayes, Arthur, Cleveland, Blaine, Lowell, John Sherman, Bancroft, McKinley, Roosevelt, and, in Europe, several of the czars of Russia, three emperors of Germany, Bismarck and many of the leading statesmen, Tolstoi, and others.

Dr. White was president of the American delegation to The Hague Conference and has filled many important special posts. He tells the story of the founding of Cornell University, and his chapters on "Early Religious Impressions," "Aspects of Religion Abroad," "Religion in Educational Institutions," are of very great interest.

In two handsome volumes of 600 pages each; five photogravure portraits; price, $7.50 net. (Postage extra.)

WHITE, MARY and SARA.

*The Book of Children's Parties. A volume whose title explains itself. A book not only for the home, but for the kindergarten. With many illustrations from photographs and drawings. Small 12mo, $1.00 net. (Postage 7 cents.)

WHITEING, RICHARD.

†The Yellow Van. A novel which does for English society in the country what "No. 5 John Street" did for London. 12mo, 379 pages, $1.50.

No. 5 John Street. A romance of the "Other Half" in London, with Side-lights on the Life of the "Upper Ten." The heroine is a flower-girl, and the hero, who tells the story, a wealthy young baronet who lives for a time in the slums, and earns his bread by the sweat of his brow. 12mo, 315 pages, $1.50.

PUBLICATIONS

THE ROBERT CLARKE COMPANY

14 and 16 East Fourth Street, Cincinnati, Ohio.

PART I—HISTORICAL AND MISCELLANEOUS.

ANDERSON. MODERN HORSEMANSHIP. An original method of teaching the art by means of pictures from life. By Edward L. Anderson. Fifth edition. Rewritten and enlarged. Sixty illustrations from photographs. 8vo. Cloth. Net.....$3.00

ALZOG. A MANUAL OF UNIVERSAL CHURCH HISTORY. By Rev. John Alzog, D.D., Professor of Theology at the University of Freiberg. Translated from the ninth enlarged and improved German edition, and edited and brought down to the present time by the late Rev. F. J. Pabisch, D.D., President of Mt. St. Mary's of the West, Cincinnati, and Rt. Rev. Thomas S. Byrne, D.D., Bishop of Nashville. 3 vols. Vol. I., Early Church History. Vol. II., The Middle Ages. Vol. III., To the Present Time. 8vo. Cloth. (The volumes are sold separately; per vol., $3.50).....$10.00

BARRETT. ABRAHAM LINCOLN AND HIS PRESIDENCY. By Hon. J. H. Barrett. 2 vols. 8 vo. Cloth. Illustrated. Net $5.00

This long-expected life of Lincoln fills an important place in the list of biographies of this remarkable man, and will prove a notable contribution to the field of American biography and history. It is an entirely new work, having the advantage of the contemporary point of view by the author, who knew him intimately, combined with that of the matured judgment gained by years of study of the man whose character was the brightest thing the country produced during an epoch of gloom. It contains much new and valuable material, including unpublished letters, new anecdotes illustrative of Lincoln's character, and corrects many errors of fact and inference that have gained general currency.

Mr. Barrett has been able to present to the reader, not merely Lincoln the President, but Lincoln the Man, in a manner unexcelled and probably unequaled by any other biographer. Lincoln is treated as a natural man of normal growth rather than as a phenomenon.

BENNER. PROPHECIES—IN FUTURE UPS AND DOWNS IN PRICES. By Samuel Benner. What years to make money on pig iron, hogs, corn and provisions. Fifteenth edition, with forecasts for 1905. 16mo. Cloth.....$1.00

BLAKE. THE MAN WITH THE HOE. By Adam Blake. "A story throbbing with the true inwardness of life and love on the farm." 12mo. Cloth. Illustrated.....$1.50

A picture of American farm life as it is to-day, told in an attractive way that will interest both old and young. Humor and pathos are interwoven in the story, and around it all is entwined a love story of high literary merit.

BRINKERHOFF. RECOLLECTIONS OF A LIFETIME. By General Roeliff Brinkerhoff. Second edition. 8vo. Cloth. $2.00

"The book has a value above that of its vivacious reminiscent interest, arising from the author's wide acquaintance with distinguished public men and his participation, as an actor or spectator, in important scenes and events; an interest almost unsurpassed by any book of the kind. It is exceedingly valuable also as a chronicle of the progress in Prison Reform and other philanthropic movements in our country during the past century, in furthering which General Brinkerhoff has had a leading part. It has a great value on this account as a book of reference for students in Penology and Scientific Charity."

BUCK. MYSTIC MASONRY; OR, THE SYMBOLS OF FREEMASONRY AND THE GREATER MYSTERIES OF ANTIQUITY. By J. D. Buck, M.D.
Third edition. 12mo. Cloth. Illustrated. $1.50

The demand for this book has steadily increased, and the publishers are glad to announce a new edition. "Mystic Masonry" has already done much to awaken interest in the science and symbolism of Freemasonry.

BUCK. A STUDY OF MAN AND THE WAY TO HEALTH. By J. D. Buck, M.D.
Second edition. 12mo. Cloth. $1.50

"The work is clearly written, and exhibits a familiar knowledge of those doctrines and speculations which have either been silently incorporated with modern theories or are now being recalled and re-examined. The author is never dogmatic, and his style is marked by what Matthew Arnold termed 'a sweet reasonableness.'"

CALLAGHAN. MEMOIRS AND WRITINGS OF THE LATE VERY REV. JAMES F. CALLAGHAN, D.D. Compiled by His Sister, Emily A. Callaghan.
8vo. Cloth. Net $2.00

The first part of the book contains the memoirs and letters from several prelates. The second part all the sermons and lectures that were found after Dr. Callaghan's death. The third part contains the best articles written by him as editorials for the Catholic Telegraph.

Among these is one which gives a very full and clear explanation of the dogma of the Immaculate Conception, so interesting to the Catholic world.

CASSIDY. ELEMENTS OF CHEMISTRY AND DENTAL MATERIA MEDICA. By Prof. J. S. Cassidy, D.D.S., M.D. 12mo. Cloth. $2.50

CHITTENDEN. THE YELLOWSTONE NATIONAL PARK. HISTORICAL AND DESCRIPTIVE. By Captain Hiram M. Chittenden, U. S. A. Illustrated with 1 large and 2 small maps, and 32 full-page half-tones and duotypes.
Fifth edition. 1905. Entire Revision with New Matter and New Illustrations. 12mo. Cloth. Net. $1.50

"The present edition of The Yellowstone embraces a thorough revision of the work. Part I. (historical) contains new matter on the early history of the park; additional information concerning its geographical names, and a new account of the Nez Perce campaign of 1877. Part II. (descriptive) is greatly enlarged in the chapters on topography, geology, thermal springs, fauna and flora, roadways and administration; while the 'Tour of the Park' has been entirely recast to conform to the completed road system which has opened up new sections of the Park. The illustrations are nearly all original. Especial pains has been taken to make them representative of the Park scenery as a whole, and not simply an album of conventional geyser and waterfall views.

CLARKE'S CLINICAL NOTES FOR THE USE OF NURSES. Size 8½x11 inches, in blocks of 50. Net. .....50c.

COTTER. SHAKESPEARE'S ART. STUDIES ON THE MASTER BUILDER OF IDEAL CHARACTERS. By James H. Cotter, A.M.
Illustrated with half-tone portraits of prominent actors and actresses, portraying in costume the prominent characters of Shakespeare's plays. 12mo. Cloth. Net. $1.00

Embracing Hamlet, Macbeth, King Lear, Romeo and Juliet, The Merchant of Venice, Othello, Richard the Third, As You Like it, and Julius Cæsar.

CRAWFORD. THE KALEVALA. THE EPIC POEM OF FINLAND. Translated into English by J. M. Crawford, M. D. 2 vols. 12mo. Cloth. Illustrated.....$3.00

Mr. Crawford's translation of The Kalevala, the famous Epic of Finland, is of vital strength and purity, and full of poetic feeling. He has a clear conception of the poem in all its bearings. His judgment of words is level and true, and his lines faithful, well balanced, strong and musical. True insight and perfect fidelity are high merits in a translation, and Dr. Crawford must be credited with both. He has reproduced The Kalevala in English as a clear, calm lake mirrors a surrounding landscape.

DIXON. REPEAL OF MISSOURI COMPROMISE, AND SLAVERY IN AMERICAN POLITICS. By Mrs. Archibald Dixon. Second edition. 8vo. Cloth. $4.00

The plain, historical truths, fearlessly told in this work, have had a powerful effect on sectionalism and prejudice. They have impressed the best minds of the country—have been a potent factor in the marked change which has been apparent of late in hitherto antagonized sections.

DUNN. THE VANISHED EMPIRE. A TALE OF THE MOUND BUILDERS. By Waldo H. Dunn. 12mo. Cloth. Illustrated. $1.50

The author has given us a story that is full of strength and feeling. We see again this ancient people, living as they did centuries ago. We think and act and feel with them. From beginning to end the attention of the reader is held, and at no time is the narrative dry or dull. The book is written in an exceedingly clear style; every word counts—nor is there any attempt at elaboration. The style is such as to appeal directly to the reader.

EDWARDS. IN TO THE YUKON. By William Seymour Edwards. Second edition. 12mo. 335 pages. Cloth. Net $1.50

A charming narrative of a tour through the Klondyke region, California and the Western States. It is published as originally penned, a series of letters, written primarily for the home circle, then published, some of them. It is a series of sympathetic and delightful pictures, and these are re-enforced by an elaborate complement of ninety-seven kodak snap-shot impressions which give to the story vividness and point. Two maps are also included showing the route taken.

EDWARDS' GENEALOGY. TIMOTHY AND RHODA OGDEN EDWARDS, OF STOCKBRIDGE, MASS., AND THEIR DESCENDANTS. Compiled by William H. Edwards. 22 Half-tone Illustrations. 8vo. Cloth. Net $2.50

FAMILY EXPENSE BOOK, THE. For keeping a complete record of family expenses for each day, week and month of the year, servants' accounts, etc. 8vo. 5½x8¼ inches. Cloth. .....50c.

GOSS. THE OPTIMIST. By Charles Frederic Goss. New edition, with additional essays. 12mo. Cloth. $1.25

A collection of essays that are imbued with a sympathetic feeling for people of all classes and conditions, bringing into view thoughts about life, which lie unexpressed in all our hearts, and which is a pleasure to have put into language.

HARRISON. THE STAGE OF LIFE. A KENTUCKY STORY. By Ellanetta Harrison. A fascinating story about the devotion of a child to a mother, how they were separated for years, and at last, through great difficulties, reunited. Illustrated with 6 halftones. 12mo. Cloth. Net. $1.50

HAYWARD. ELOCUTION FOR BUSY PEOPLE. By Frances Rolph Hayward. 18mo. Half Cloth. Net. .....50c.

The object of this manual is to present in as concise a form as possible the main principles of elocution, with appropriate selections as exercises. For school and private use.

HENSHALL. BOOK OF THE BLACK BASS, and the supplement MORE ABOUT THE BLACK BASS. Combined in one volume, new edition, revised to date, and largely re-written. Comprising its complete scientific and life history, together with a practical treatise on Angling and Fly-fishing; with a full account of tools, implements and tackle. By James A. Henshall, M.D. 12mo. Cloth. 140 Illustrations. $3.00

In fact, it is a finished production without a single omission or dull page in it, and in some instances where the author resorts to the descriptive, he pictures the fierce battling of the gamy fish in such glowing colors that the angler, in perusing the narrative, is wrought up to the strife with such warmth that he feels a deep yearning for the waters with rod and reel in hand.

HENSHALL. YE GODS AND LITTLE FISHES. A TRAVESTY ON THE ARGONAUTIC EXPEDITION IN QUEST OF THE GOLDEN FLEECE.. By James A. Henshall, M.D., author of "Book of the Black Bass," etc. Illustrated with borders, initial letters, etc., in classic designs by J. L. Ludlow, Artist.

Second edition. 8vo. Decorated cloth. 6½x9½ inches. Net. $2.00

The stirring scenes and doughty deeds, the perils of storm and disaster, the pleasant features of angling, shooting, hunting and the tournaments of athletic sports, are vividly depicted in a style of burlesque and hyperbole, as viewed by a modern angler, sportsman and yachtsman.

HOUSEKEEPING IN THE BLUE GRASS. A new and practical Cook Book, containing nearly 1,000 recipes. By the Ladies of the Randolph Mission Band of the Presbyterian Church, Paris, Ky. New edition (27th thousand) from new plates. Thoroughly revised. 12mo. Cloth. $1.00

This is a work of uncommon merit. The contributors are ladies of the highest social character, and what they have contributed can be relied upon with implicit confidence. This book will certainly be the standard for good eating, not only in Kentucky, but all over the United States. The arrangement, the index, the classification, in fact everything about the book shows that it was gotten up with great care and consideration. It should be with every model housekeeper.

(In preparation.)

The work involved in the preparation of these two volumes will require more than two years. The author is in correspondence with advanced collectors all over the United States, and will use the material of several hundred public and private exhibits, in order that no form or type may escape his notice. Containing more than a thousand figures illustrating some five thousand variations of types.

MOOREHEAD. Tonda. A story of life among the Sioux Indians. Depicting scenes of war and the chase, and a love story of absorbing interest. By Prof. Warren K. Moorehead. Handsomely illustrated. 12mo. Cloth. $1.50

PALMER Personal Recollections of General John M. Palmer. The story of an earnest life. 8vo. Cloth. Net. $3.00

"General John M. Palmer bore a great part in building up the State of Illinois. Lawyer, politician, soldier, statesman, his name is 'writ large' in its annals. He was the friend and associate of all the great men whom the people of Illinois have honored and loved, and he was worthy of their regard. He bore a part in some of the most important political events which have transpired in his State and the nation during the last half century."

PHILIPSON. The Jew in English Fiction. By Rabbi David Philipson. 12mo. Cloth. $1.00

The author's clear and earnest explanation of some points will be welcomed by all candid persons who are desirous of knowing the truth, and will do much toward removing the misrepresentations and injustices done the Jewish character.

TRUE. The Cause of the Glacial Period. A book treating of the greatest undemonstrated problem known to scientists. By H. L. True, M.D. Second edition. 12mo. Cloth. Numerous half-tone illustrations. Net.....$1.00

TUNISON. THE GRAAL PROBLEM. From Walter Map to Richard Wagner. By J. S. Tunison. 12mo. Cloth. Net $1.25

The theme of the Holy Graal is one of personal interest. It stirs the poets and romancers of our own day as it did those of a remote past. Arthur and his circle of knights are but shadows of the men who made the politics and quarreled over the religion reflected in the Stories of the Graal. These men of flesh and blood, who were capable of filling whole centuries with their activities, are worth considering in the study of a literature which they occasioned. Briefly to bring them to mind is the aim of this book.

WAR HISTORY. SKETCHES OF WAR HISTORY, 1861-1865. Papers read before the Ohio Commandery of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion of the United States. Fifth Series. 8vo. Cloth. Net. $2.00

WITHERS. PART II—LAW TREATISES AND REPORTS.

BARTON. HISTORY OF A SUIT IN EQUITY, FROM ITS COMMENCEMENT TO ITS FINAL TERMINATION. By Charles Barton. Net. $2.50

BREWER AND LAUBSCHER. OHIO CORPORATIONS OTHER THAN MUNICIPAL, AS AUTHORIZED BY THE FORMER AND PRESENT CONSTITUTIONS OF THE STATE, AND REGULATED BY STATUTE; with Notes of Decisions and a Complete Manual of Forms for Organizing and Managing all kinds of Companies and Associations. By A. T. Brewer and G. A. Laubscher. Fifth edition. Revised and enlarged. 8vo. Net..... $5.00

CARUTHERS. HISTORY OF A LAWSUIT. By Abraham Caruthers. Enlarged, annotated and revised by Andrew B. Martin, LL.D., Professor of Law, Cumberland University. (Second revision by Professor Martin.) This remarkable law book is so well and favorably known to the profession it is scarcely necessary to speak in its praise. It is what its name imports, the History of a Lawsuit, and one which meets with every difficulty that can beset litigation. The work of revision, enlargement and annotation has been faithfully done; the book is fresh, new and up-to-date. 8vo. Net..$6.00

CINCINNATI SUPERIOR COURT REPORTS. HANDY'S REPORTS. 1854-1855. By R. D. and J. H. Handy. Second edition, with Notes by Lewis E. Mills. 2 vols. in 1. DISNEY'S REPORTS. 1855-1860. By William Disney. 2 vols. in 1. CINCINNATI SUPERIOR COURT REPORTER. 1870-1873. By C. P. Taft, B. Storer, Jr., and P. R. Taft. 2 vols. in 1. Complete set, 6 vols. bound in 3 books. Net, delivered $6.50

CIRCUIT COURT REPORTS (Jahn). Price, full set $55.00

This set of reports, 22 volumes, was that originally published by the Weekly Law Bulletin. It is continued with the Ohio Circuits. (See Ohio Circuits.)

NISI PRIUS REPORTS (Jahn). Price, per volume, delivered.....$2.50

These reports in eight volumes were published by the Weekly Law Bulletin, and contained the Superior and Common Pleas Decisions. After the eighth volume it is continued with the 12, 13 and 14 Ohio Decisions and current volumes as issued.

OHIO AND OHIO STATE REPORTS. Reports of cases argued and determined in the Supreme Court of the State of Ohio. 1821-1905. 91 volumes. 8vo. Net, each $2.50

The Ohio Reports, 20 volumes, contains the decisions of the Supreme Court, under the first constitution of the State, and the Ohio State Reports, 71 volumes, the decisions under the present constitution, which went into effect September, 1851. The two series contain all the published decisions of the court of last resort in Ohio, from the organization of the State government to the present time.

OHIO AND OHIO STATE REPORTS (Century Annotated Edition).

Price, per volume, delivered $2.50

This Reprint Edition will cover volumes 1 to 20 Ohio Reports and 1 to 48 Ohio State Reports. From this point to date the regular edition is used. This is, without a doubt, the finest production of its kind ever attempted. It will contain over 20,000 corrections of the text, and in addition wherever a case is cited by name only the volume and page is added; and wherever by volume and page only the title of the case is inserted.

OHIO CIRCUITS OR CIRCUIT DECISIONS (Laning).

Price, per volume, delivered.....$2.50

The earlier volumes of this series are a reprint of the Circuit Court Reports, and are annotated to subsequent action of the Supreme Court affecting the cases. Numerous errors appearing in the original volumes of the Circuit Court Reports are corrected in this series and omissions of syllabi and other imperfections supplied. The first 12 volumes of Ohio Circuits contain all the cases given in the 22 volumes of Circuit Court Reports and many additional ones. There are now 16 volumes in the series, making the set complete to April 1, 1905. One volume per year keeps the series brought down to date.

OHIO CITATION DIGEST (Laning). Price, delivered.....$3.50

Citates every Ohio reference to all Ohio cases. Keeps pace with the work of the courts and furnishes a prompt index to all they do or say affecting Ohio Case and Statute Law. Issued annually.

OHIO CYCLOPEDIC DIGEST (Laning).

This makes 10 volumes (estimated), per volume, delivered.....$6.00

This is without a doubt one of the finest works ever undertaken, and in order to make the same come within the means of every practitioner the matter has been composed closely, and printed in large-sized pages, all padding being eliminated. A maximum of matter—a minimum in price. It embodies all the good features presented in the up-to-date digests made elsewhere, and is a skilled product in every sense of the word. Volume 1 is now ready and the entire series will be completed during the year 1906.

OHIO DECISIONS, Superior and Common Pleas (Laning).
Price, per volume, delivered $2.50

This series begins where the Reprints end and brings the current work down to date. Thus the Decisions with the Reprints make one continuous set. There are now 14 volumes to the Decision Series and is continued by one annual volume. Up to and including volume 11 it contains all the cases that were published in the Nisi Prius Series as issued by the Weekly Law Bulletin. Therefore to parties possessing the eight Nisi Prius volumes they may continue the set with volume 12, 13 and 14 Ohio Decisions.

OHIO DIGEST AND CITATOR (Laning). Price, delivered..... $6.00

Volume 4 goes back, reproduces and adds to the current volume the cases since the year 1900 and comes down to the close of the judicial year of 1903-4. Cites all considered cases and digests all decisions of all courts both State and Federal. It is admittedly the cheapest and best Digest ever published in the State.

OHIO FEDERAL DECISIONS (Laning). Price, per volume, delivered..... $3.50

The Ohio cases decided by the Federal Courts from the beginning of the State to the present time. A valuable collection of case law hitherto out of reach because of the great cost of a set of the United States and other Federal Reports. The series now consist of 14 volumes and are continued as material accumulates for the issue of additional volumes.

OHIO LAW BULLETIN (A Weekly Publication). Subscription per year..... $5.00

The official publication of the profession in Ohio for 30 years. Supplies every reasonable demand. Contains advance sheets of Supreme Court, Circuit and Common Pleas Decisions; also Ohio Federal Decisions.

OHIO MUNICIPAL LAWS (Laning). Price, postpaid..... $1.25

Containing the New Municipal Code of 1902 and all the unrepealed sections of the Old Municipal Code, revised to January 1, 1906.

OHIO REPRINTS (Laning). Price, full set of 11 volumes, per volume..... $3.50
Handy (1 and 2); Disney (1 and 2); Superior Court of Cincinnati (1 and 2), per volume $3.50

This series of Reprints is a reproduction of all the Ohio Case Law (lower courts) from the earliest period—1794 to 1894—and takes up to the point where the Ohio Decisions Series begins. These Reprints are much more valuable than the original volumes because the syllabi are carefully extended to cover points not brought out in the original print; corrections are made in the citations and references; the text is brought to date by the insertion of references to the Revised Statutes as well as to Annual Laws or old publications; annotations show cases overruled. A great work for Ohio jurisprudence. Original paging preserved as cited in Digests and elsewhere.

PRACTICE CODES—
Justice Code, price delivered $3.50
Probate Code, price delivered 3.50
Civil Code, price delivered 3.50
Criminal Code, price delivered 3.50

Bound full sheep or Flexible American Morocco. These Codes contain the Statutes brought up to January 1, 1906, as they appear in Laning's Revised Statutes, and the annotations are more complete than any that have been presented in other similar works. Indexes are clear and copious.

Samuel anointeth David. I. SAMUEL, 17. Saul sendeth for David.

for I have provided me a king among his sons.
2 And Samuel said, How can I go? if Saul hear it, he will kill me. And the LORD said, Take an heifer with thee, and say, I am come to sacrifice to the LORD.
3 And call Jesse to the sacrifice, and I will shew thee what thou shalt do: and thou shalt anoint unto me him whom I name unto thee.
4 And Samuel did that which the LORD spake, and came to Beth-lehem. And the elders of the town trembled at his coming, and said, Comest thou peaceably?
5 And he said, Peaceably: I am come to sacrifice unto the LORD: sanctify yourselves, and come with me to the sacrifice. And he sanctified Jesse and his sons, and called them to the sacrifice.
6 ¶ And it came to pass, when they were come, that he looked on Eliab, and said, Surely the LORD's anointed is before him.
7 But the LORD said unto Samuel, Look not on his countenance, or on the height of his stature; because I have refused him: for the LORD seeth not as man seeth; for man looketh on the outward appearance, but the LORD looketh on the heart.
8 Then Jesse called Abinadab, and made him pass before Samuel. And he said, Neither hath the LORD chosen this.
9 Then Jesse made Shammah to pass by. And he said, Neither hath the LORD chosen this.
10 Again, Jesse made seven of his sons to pass before Samuel. And Samuel said unto Jesse, The LORD hath not chosen these.
11 And Samuel said unto Jesse, Are here all thy children? And he said, There remaineth yet the youngest, and, behold, he keepeth the sheep. And Samuel said unto Jesse, Send and fetch him: for we will not sit down till he come hither.
12 And he sent, and brought him in. Now he was ruddy, and withal of a beautiful countenance, and goodly to look to. And the LORD said, Arise, anoint him: for this is he.
13 Then Samuel took the horn of oil, and anointed him in the midst of his brethren: and the Spirit of the LORD came upon David from that day forward. So Samuel rose up, and went to Ramah.
14 ¶ But the Spirit of the LORD departed from Saul, and an evil spirit from the LORD troubled him.
15 And Saul's servants said unto him, Behold now, an evil spirit from God troubleth thee.
16 Let our lord now command thy servants, which are before thee, to seek out a man, who is a cunning player on an harp: and it shall come to pass, when the evil spirit from God is upon thee, that he shall play with his hand, and thou shalt be well.
17 And Saul said unto his servants, Provide me now a man that can play well, and bring him to me.
18 Then answered one of the servants, and said, Behold, I have seen a son of Jesse the Beth-lehemite, that is cunning in playing, and a mighty valiant man, and a man of war, and prudent in matters, and a comely person, and the LORD is with him.
19 ¶ Wherefore Saul sent messengers unto Jesse, and said, Send me David thy son, which is with the sheep.
20 And Jesse took an ass laden with bread, and a bottle of wine, and a kid, and sent them by David his son unto Saul.
21 And David came to Saul, and stood before him: and he loved him greatly; and he became his armourbearer.
22 And Saul sent to Jesse, saying, Let David, I pray thee, stand before me; for he hath found favour in my sight.
23 And it came to pass, when the evil spirit from God was upon Saul, that David took an harp, and played with his hand: so Saul was refreshed, and was well, and the evil spirit departed from him.

Chapter 17.

1 The Israelites and Philistines being ready to battle, 4 Goliath challengeth a combat. 12 David accepteth the challenge, and slayeth the giant. 55 Saul taketh notice of David.

Now the Philistines gathered together their armies to battle, and were gathered together at Shochoh, which belongeth to Judah, and pitched between Shochoh and Azekah, in Ephes-dammim.
2 And Saul and the men of Israel were gathered together, and pitched by the valley of Elah, and set the battle in array against the Philistines.
3 And the Philistines stood on a mountain on the one side, and Israel stood on a mountain on the other side: and there was a valley between them.
4 ¶ And there went out a champion out of the camp of the Philistines, named Goliath, of Gath, whose height was six cubits and a span.
5 And he had an helmet of brass upon his head, and he was armed with a coat of mail; and the weight of the coat was five thousand shekels of brass.
6 And he had greaves of brass upon his legs, and a target of brass between his shoulders.
7 And the staff of his spear was like a weaver's beam; and his spear's head weighed six hundred shekels of iron: and one bearing a shield went before him.
8 And he stood and cried unto the armies of Israel, and said unto them, Why are ye come out to set your battle in array? am not I a Philistine, and ye servants to Saul? choose you a man for you, and let him come down to me.
9 If he be able to fight with me, and to kill me, then will we be your servants:

Christ a priest of the HEBREWS, VII, VIII. order of Melchisedec.

19 Which hope we have as an anchor of the soul, both sure and stedfast, and which entereth into that within the veil;
20 Whither the forerunner is for us entered, even Jesus, made an High Priest for ever, after the order of Melchisedec.

CHAPTER VII.

Christ a priest after the order of Melchisedec.

FOR this Melchisedec, king of Salem, priest of the most high God, who met Abraham returning from the slaughter of the kings, and blessed him;
2 To whom also Abraham gave a tenth part of all; first being by interpretation King of righteousness, and after that also King of Salem, which is, King of peace;
3 Without father, without mother, without descent, having neither beginning of days, nor end of life; but made like unto the Son of God; abideth a priest continually.
4 Now consider how great this man was, unto whom even the patriarch Abraham gave the tenth of the spoils.
5 And verily they that are of the sons of Levi, who receive the office of the priesthood, have a commandment to take tithes of the people according to the law, that is, of their brethren, though they come out of the loins of Abraham:
6 But he whose descent is not counted from them received tithes of Abraham, and blessed him that had the promises.
7 And without all contradiction the less is blessed of the better.
8 And here men that die receive tithes; but there he receiveth them, of whom it is witnessed that he liveth.
9 And, as I may so say, Levi also, who receiveth tithes, payed tithes in Abraham.
10 For he was yet in the loins of his father when Melchisedec met him.
11 If therefore perfection were by the Levitical priesthood, (for under it the people received the law,) what further need was there that another priest should rise after the order of Melchisedec, and not be called after the order of Aaron?
12 For the priesthood being changed, there is made of necessity a change also of the law.
13 For he of whom these things are spoken pertaineth to another tribe, of which no man gave attendance at 14 For it is evident that our Lord sprang out of Judah: of which tribe Moses spake nothing concerning priesthood.
15 And it is yet far more evident: for that after the similitude of Melchisedec there ariseth another Priest,
16 Who is made, not after the law of a carnal commandment, but after the power of an endless life.
17 For he testifieth, Thou art a Priest for ever, after the order of Melchisedec.
18 For there is verily a disannulling of the commandment going before, for the weakness and unprofitableness thereof.
19 For the law made nothing perfect; but the bringing in of a better hope did: by the which we draw nigh unto God.
20 And inasmuch as not without an oath he was made Priest;
21 (For those priests were made without an oath; but this with an oath by him that said unto him, The Lord sware and will not repent, Thou art a Priest for ever after the order of Melchisedec:)
22 By so much was Jesus made a surety of a better testament.
23 And they truly were many priests, because they were not suffered to continue by reason of death:
24 But this man, because he continueth ever, hath an unchangeable priesthood.
25 Wherefore he is able also to save them to the uttermost that come unto God by him, seeing he ever liveth to make intercession for them.
26 For such an High Priest became us, who is holy, harmless, undefiled, separate from sinners, and made higher than the heavens;
27 Who needeth not daily, as those high priests, to offer up sacrifice, first for his own sins, and then for the people's: for this he did once, when he offered up himself.
28 For the law maketh men high priests which have infirmity; but the word of the oath, which was since the law, maketh the Son, who is consecrated for evermore.

CHAPTER VIII.

The excellency of Christ's ministry.

NOW of the things which we have spoken this is the sum: We have such an High Priest, who is set on the right hand of the throne of the Majesty in the heavens;
2 A minister of the sanctuary, and of the true tabernacle, which the will light upon him as the dew falleth on the ground: and of him and of all the men that are with him there shall not be left so much as one.

13 Moreover if he be gotten into a city, then shall all Israel bring ropes to that city, and we will draw it into the river, until there be not one small stone found there.

14 And Absalom and all the men of Israel said, The counsel of Hushai the Archite is better than the counsel of Ahithophel. For the LORD had appointed to defeat the good counsel of Ahithophel, to the intent that the LORD might bring evil upon Absalom.

15 ¶ Then said Hushai unto Zadok and to Abiathar the priests, Thus and thus did Ahithophel counsel Absalom and the elders of Israel; and thus and thus have I counselled.

16 Now therefore send quickly, and tell David, saying, Lodge not this night in the plains of the wilderness, but speedily pass over; lest the king be swallowed up, and all the people that are with him.

17 Now Jonathan and Ahimaaz stayed by En-rogel; for they might not be seen to come into the city: and a wench went and told them; and they went and told king David.

18 Nevertheless a lad saw them, and told Absalom: but they went both of them away quickly, and came to a man's house in Bahurim, which had a well in his court; whither they went down.

19 And the woman took and spread a covering over the well's mouth, and spread ground corn thereon; and the thing was not known.

20 And when Absalom's servants came to the woman to the house, they said, Where is Ahimaaz and Jonathan? And the woman said unto them, They be gone over the brook of water. And when they had sought and could not find them, they returned to Jerusalem.

21 And it came to pass, after they were departed, that they came up out of the well, and went and told king David, and said unto David, Arise, and pass quickly over the water: for thus hath Ahithophel counselled against you.

22 Then David arose, and all the people that were with him, and they passed over Jordan: by the morning light there lacked not one of them that was not gone over Jordan.

23 ¶ And when Ahithophel saw that his counsel was not followed, he saddled his ass, and arose, and gat him home to his house, to his city, and put his household in order, and hanged himself, and died, and was buried in the sepulchre of his father.

24 Then David came to Mahanaim. And Absalom passed over Jordan, he and all the men of Israel with him.

25 And Absalom made Amasa captain of the host instead of Joab: which Amasa was a man's son whose name was Ithra, an Israelite, that went in to Abigail the daughter of Nahash, sister to Zeruiah, Joab's mother.

26 So Israel and Absalom pitched in the land of Gilead.

27 ¶ And it came to pass, when David was come to Mahanaim, that Shobi the son of Nahash of Rabbah of the children of Ammon, and Machir the son of Ammiel of Lo-debar, and Barzillai the Gileadite of Rogelim,

28 Brought beds, and basins, and earthen vessels, and wheat, and barley, and flour, and parched corn, and beans, and lentiles, and parched pulse,

29 And honey, and butter, and sheep, and cheese of kine, for David, and for the people that were with him, to eat: for they said, The people is hungry, and weary, and thirsty, in the wilderness.

CHAPTER 18.

1 David, viewing the armies, 5 gives them charge of Absalom: 14 he is slain by Joab. 33 David mourns for him.

AND David numbered the people that were with him, and set captains of thousands and captains of hundreds over them.

2 And David sent forth a third part of the people under the hand of Joab, and a third part under the hand of Abishai the son of Zeruiah, Joab's brother, and a third part under the hand of Ittai the Gittite. And the king said unto the people, I will surely go forth with you myself also.

3 But the people answered, Thou shalt not go forth: for if we flee away, they will not care for us; neither if half of us die, will they care for us: but now thou art worth ten thousand of us: therefore now it is better that thou succour us out of the city.

4 And the king said unto them, What seemeth you best I will do. And the king stood by the gate side, and all the people came out by hundreds, and by thousands.

5 And the king commanded Joab and Abishai and Ittai, saying, Deal gently for my sake with the young man, even with Absalom. And all the people heard when the king gave all the captains charge concerning Absalom.

6 ¶ So the people went out into the field against Israel: and the battle was in the wood of Ephraim;

7 Where the people of Israel were slain before the servants of David: and there was there a great slaughter that day of twenty thousand men.

8 For the battle was there scattered over the face of all the country: and the wood devoured more people that day than the sword devoured.

9 ¶ And Absalom met the servants of David. And Absalom rode upon a mule, and the mule went under the thick boughs of a great oak, and his head caught hold of the oak, and he was taken up between the heaven and the earth; and the mule that was under him went away.

10 And a certain man saw it, and told Joab, and said, Behold, I saw Absalom hanged in an oak.

11 And Joab said unto the man that told him, And, behold, thou sawest him, and why didst thou not smite him there to the ground? and I would have given thee ten shekels of silver, and a girdle.

12 And the man said unto Joab, Though

25 And in the fifth year shall ye eat of the fruit thereof, that it may yield unto you the increase thereof: I am the LORD your God.
26 ¶ Ye shall not eat any thing with the blood; neither shall ye use enchantment, nor observe times.
27 Ye shall not round the corners of your heads, neither shalt thou mar the corners of thy beard.
28 Ye shall not make any cuttings in your flesh for the dead, nor print any marks upon you: I am the LORD.
29 ¶ Do not prostitute thy daughter, to cause her to be a whore; lest the land fall to whoredom, and the land become full of wickedness.
30 ¶ Ye shall keep my sabbaths, and reverence my sanctuary: I am the LORD.
31 ¶ Regard not them that have familiar spirits, neither seek after wizards, to be defiled by them: I am the LORD your God.
32 ¶ Thou shalt rise up before the hoary head, and honour the face of the old man, and fear thy God: I am the LORD.
33 ¶ And if a stranger sojourn with thee in your land, ye shall not vex him.
34 But the stranger that dwelleth with you shall be unto you as one born among you, and thou shalt love him as thyself; for ye were strangers in the land of Egypt: I am the LORD your God.
35 ¶ Ye shall do no unrighteousness in judgment, in mete-yard, in weight, or in measure.
36 Just balances, just weights, a just ephah, and a just hin, shall ye have: I am the LORD your God,

Molech, he shall surely be put to death: the people of the land shall stone him with stones.
3 And I will set my face against that man, and will cut him off from among his people; because he hath given of his seed unto Molech, to defile my sanctuary, and to profane my holy name.
4 And if the people of the land do any ways hide their eyes from the man, when he giveth of his seed unto Molech, and kill him not;
5 Then I will set my face against that man, and against his family, and will cut him off, and all that go a whoring after him, to commit whoredom with Molech, from among their people.
6 ¶ And the soul that turneth after such as have familiar spirits, and after wizards, to go a whoring after them, I will even set my face against that soul, and will cut him off from among his people.
7 Sanctify yourselves therefore, and be ye holy: for I am the LORD your God.
8 And ye shall keep my statutes, and do them: I am the LORD which sanctify you.
9 ¶ For every one that curseth his father or his mother shall be surely put to death: he hath cursed his father or his mother; his blood shall be upon him.
10 ¶ And the man that committeth adultery with another man's wife, even he that committeth adultery with his neighbour's wife, the adulterer and the adulteress shall surely be put to death.

Law of the trial NUMBERS. of jealousy.

9 And every offering of all the holy things of the children of Israel, which they bring unto the priest, shall be his.

10 And every man's hallowed things shall be his: whatsoever any man giveth the priest, it shall be his.

11 ¶ And the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,

12 Speak unto the children of Israel, and say unto them, If any man's wife go aside, and commit a trespass against him,

13 And a man lie with her carnally, and it be hid from the eyes of her husband, and be kept close, and she be defiled, and there be no witness against her, neither she be taken with the manner;

14 And the spirit of jealousy come upon him, and he be jealous of his wife, and she be defiled: or if the spirit of jealousy come upon him, and he be jealous of his wife, and she be not defiled:

15 Then shall the man bring his wife unto the priest, and he shall bring her offering for her, the tenth part of an ephah of barley meal; he shall pour no oil upon it, nor put frankincense thereon; for it is an offering of jealousy, an offering of memorial, bringing her by an oath, and say unto the woman, If no man have lain with thee, and if thou hast not gone aside to uncleanness with another instead of thy husband, be thou free from this bitter water that causeth the curse:

20 But if thou hast gone aside to another instead of thy husband, and if thou be defiled, and some man have lain with thee besides thine husband:

21 Then the priest shall charge the woman with an oath of cursing, and the priest shall say unto the woman, The LORD make thee a curse and an oath among thy people, when the LORD doth make thy thigh to rot, and thy belly to swell;

22 And this water that causeth the curse shall go into thy bowels, to make thy belly to swell, and thy thigh to rot. And the woman shall say, Amen, amen.

23 And the priest shall write these curses in a book, and he shall blot them out with the bitter water:

24 And he shall cause the woman to drink the bitter water that causeth the curse: and the water that causeth the curse shall enter into her, and become bitter.

32 Thus was all the work of the tabernacle of the tent of the congregation finished: and the children of Israel did according to all that the LORD commanded Moses, so did they.

33 ¶ And they brought the tabernacle unto Moses, the tent, and all his furniture, his taches, his boards, his bars, and his pillars, and his sockets,

34 And the covering of rams' skins dyed red, and the covering of badgers' skins, and the veil of the covering,

35 The ark of the testimony, and the staves thereof, and the mercyseat,

36 The table, and all the vessels thereof, and the shewbread,

37 The pure candlestick, with the lamps thereof, even with the lamps to be set in order, and all the vessels thereof, and the oil for light,

38 And the golden altar, and the anointing oil, and the sweet incense, and the hanging for the tabernacle door,

39 The brasen altar, and his grate of brass, his staves, and all his vessels, the laver and his foot,

40 The hangings of the court, his pillars, and his sockets, and the hanging for the court gate, his cords, and his pins, and all the vessels of the service of the tabernacle, for the tent of the congregation,

41 The cloths of service to do service in the holy place, and the holy garments for Aaron the priest, and his sons' garments, to minister in the priest's office.

42 According to all that the LORD commanded Moses, so the had done it as the LORD had commanded, even so had they done it: and Moses blessed them.

CHAPTER 40.

1 The tabernacle is commanded to be reared and anointed. 12 Aaron and his sons to be sanctified. 34 A cloud covereth it.

1 And the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,

2 On the first day of the first month shalt thou set up the tabernacle of the tent of the congregation.

3 And thou shalt put therein the ark of the testimony, and cover the ark with the veil.

4 And thou shalt bring in the table, and set in order the things that are to be set in order upon it; and thou shalt bring in the candlestick, and light the lamps thereof.

5 And thou shalt set the altar of gold for the incense before the ark of the testimony, and put the hanging of the door to the tabernacle.

6 And thou shalt set the altar of the burnt offering before the door of the tabernacle of the tent of the congregation.

7 And thou shalt set the laver between the tent of the congregation and the altar, and shalt put water therein.

8 And thou shalt set up the court round about, and hang up the hanging at the court gate.

9 And thou shalt take the anointing oil, and anoint the tabernacle, and all that is therein, and shalt hallow it, and all the vessels thereof: and it shall be holy.

10 And thou shalt anoint the altar of the burnt offering, and all with thee; thy ewes and thy shegoats have not cast their young, and the rams of thy flock have I not eaten.

The covenant of GENESIS, XXXII. Laban and Jacob.

39 That which was torn of beasts I brought not unto thee; I bare the loss of it; of my hand didst thou require it, whether stolen by day, or stolen by night.

40 Thus I was; in the day the drought consumed me, and the frost by night; and my sleep departed from mine eyes.

41 Thus have I been twenty years in thy house; I served thee fourteen years for thy two daughters, and six years for thy cattle: and thou hast changed my wages ten times.

42 Except the God of my father, the God of Abraham, and the Fear of Isaac, had been with me, surely thou hadst sent me away now empty. God hath seen mine affliction and the labour of my hands, and rebuked thee yesternight.

43 ¶ And Laban answered and said unto Jacob, These daughters are my daughters, and these children are my children, and these cattle are my cattle, and all that thou seest is mine: and what can I do this day unto these my daughters, or unto their children which they have born?

44 Now therefore come thou, let us make a covenant, I and thou; and let it be for a witness between me and thee.

45 And Jacob took a stone, and set it up for a pillar.

46 And Jacob said unto his brethren, Gather stones; and they took stones, and made an heap: and they did eat there upon the heap.

47 And Laban called it Jegar-

48 And Laban said, This heap is a witness between me and thee this day. Therefore was the name of it called Galeed;

49 And Mizpah; for he said, The LORD watch between me and thee, when we are absent one from another.

50 If thou shalt afflict my daughters, or if thou shalt take other wives besides my daughters, no man is with us; see, God is witness betwixt me and thee.

51 And Laban said to Jacob, Behold this heap, and behold this pillar, which I have cast betwixt me and thee;

52 This heap be witness, and this pillar be witness, that I will not pass over this heap to thee, and that thou shalt not pass over this heap and this pillar unto me, for harm.

53 The God of Abraham, and the God of Nahor, the God of their father, judge betwixt us. And Jacob sware by the Fear of his father Isaac.

54 Then Jacob offered sacrifice upon the mount, and called his brethren to eat bread: and they did eat bread, and tarried all night in the mount.

55 And early in the morning Laban rose up, and kissed his sons and his daughters, and blessed them: and Laban departed, and returned unto his place.

CHAPTER XXXII.

1 Jacob's vision at Mahanaim: 3 his message to Esau. 6 He is afraid of Esau's coming; and prayeth for deliverance: 13 he sendeth a present to Esau: 24 he wrestleth with an Angel at Peniel, and is called Israel. 31 He halteth.

AND Jacob went on his way, and the angels of God met him.

2 And when Jacob saw them, he said, This is God's host: and he and for four, I will not turn away the punishment thereof; because they have [8]ripped up the women with child of Gilead, that they might enlarge their border:

God's wrath against Moab. AMOS, 2-4. God's judgments against Israel.

14 But I will kindle a fire in the wall [k] of Rabbah, and it shall devour the palaces thereof, with shouting in the day of battle, with a tempest in the day of the whirlwind:

15 And [l] their king shall go into captivity, he and his princes together, saith the LORD.

CHAPTER 2.

The destruction JUDGES, 21. of the Benjamites.

30 And the children of Israel went up against the children of Benjamin on the third day, and put themselves in array against Gibeah, as at other times.

31 And the children of Benjamin went out against the people, and were drawn away from the city; and they began [5] to smite of the people, and kill, as at other times, in the highways, of which one goeth up to [6] the house of God, and the

The curses DEUTERONOMY, 28. for disobedience.

14 And [o] thou shalt not go aside from any of the words which I command thee this day, to the right hand or to the left, to go after other gods to serve them.

15 ¶ But it shall come to pass, [p] if thou wilt not hearken unto the voice of the LORD thy God, to observe to do all his commandments and his statutes, which I command thee this day, that all these curses shall come upon thee, and overtake thee:

16 Cursed shalt thou be in the city, and cursed shalt thou be in the field.

17 Cursed shall be thy basket and thy store.

18 Cursed shall be the fruit of thy body, and the [q] fruit of thy land, the increase of thy kine, and the flocks of thy sheep.

19 Cursed shalt thou be when thou comest in, and cursed shalt thou be when thou goest out.

20 The LORD shall send upon thee cursing, [r] vexation, and [s] rebuke, in all that thou settest thine hand unto [5] for to do, until thou be destroyed, and until thou perish quickly; because of the wickedness of thy doings, whereby thou hast forsaken me.

21 The LORD shall make [t] the pestilence cleave unto thee, until he have consumed thee from off the land whither thou goest to possess it.

22 The [u] LORD shall smite thee with a consumption, and with a fever, and with an inflammation, and with an extreme burning, and with the [6] sword, and with blasting, and with mildew; and they shall pursue thee until thou perish.

23 And thy heaven that is over thy head shall be brass, and the earth that is under thee shall be iron.

24 The LORD shall make the rain of thy land powder and dust: from

2 Bounds of the land not yet conquered. 15 The two tribes and half, and tribe of Levi, excepted. 22 Balaam slain.

NOW Joshua [a]was old and stricken in years; and the LORD said unto him, Thou art old and stricken in years, and there remaineth yet very much land [1]to be possessed.

2 This [b]is the land that yet remaineth: all [c]the borders of the Philistines, and all [d]Geshuri,

3 From [e]Sihor, which is before Egypt, even unto the borders of Ekron northward, which is counted to the Canaanite: [f]five lords of the Philistines; the Gazathites, and the Ashdothites, the Eshkalonites, the Gittites, and the Ekronites; also [g]the Avites:

4 From the south, all the land of the Canaanites, and [2]Mearah that is beside the Sidonians, [h]unto Aphek, to the borders of the [i]Amorites:

5 And the land of [j]the Giblites, and all Lebanon, toward the sun-rising, [k]from Baal-gad under mount Hermon unto the entering into Hamath:

6 All the inhabitants of the hill country from Lebanon unto [l]Misrephoth-maim, and all the Sidonians, them [m]will I drive out from before the children of Israel: only divide [n]thou it by lot unto the Israelites for an inheritance, as I have commanded thee.

7 Now therefore divide this land for an inheritance unto the nine tribes, and the half tribe of Manasseh;

8 With whom the Reubenites and the Gadites have received their inheritance, which [o]Moses gave them, beyond Jordan eastward, even as Moses the servant of the LORD gave them;

CHAPTER 11.

1 Solomon's wives and concubines in his old age draw him to idolatry: 9 God threatens him. 14 Solomon's adversaries. 41 Rehoboam succeeds him.

1 But king Solomon loved [a]many strange women, [1]together with the daughter of Pharaoh, women of the Moabites, Ammonites, Edomites, Zidonians, and Hittites;

2 Of the nations concerning which the LORD said unto the children of Israel, [b]Ye shall not go in to them, neither shall they come in unto you: for surely they will turn away your heart after their gods. Solomon clave unto these in love.

3 And he had seven hundred wives, princesses, and three hundred concubines: and his wives turned away his heart.

4 For it came to pass, when Solomon was old, [c]that his wives turned away his heart after other gods: and his heart was not perfect with the LORD his God, as was the heart of David his father.

5 For Solomon went after [d]Ashtoreth the goddess of the Zidonians, and after Milcom the abomination of the Ammonites.

6 And Solomon did evil in the sight of the LORD, and [2]went not fully after the LORD, as did David his father.

7 Then [e]did Solomon build an high place for [f]Chemosh, the abomination of Moab, in [g]the hill that is before Jerusalem, and for Molech, the abomination of the children of Ammon.

8 And likewise did he for all his strange wives, which burnt incense, and sacrificed unto their gods.

9 ¶ And the LORD was [h]angry with Solomon, because his heart was turned from the LORD God of Israel, [i]which had appeared unto him twice,

10 And [j]had commanded him concerning this thing, that he should not go after other gods: but he kept not that which the LORD commanded.

11 Wherefore the LORD said unto Solomon, Forasmuch as this [3]is done of thee, and thou hast not kept my covenant, and my statutes, which I have commanded thee, [k]I will surely rend the kingdom from thee, and will give it to thy servant.

12 Notwithstanding in thy days I will not do it for David thy father's sake: but I will rend it out of the hand of thy son.

13 Howbeit [l]I will not rend away all the kingdom; but will give one [m]tribe to thy son [n]for David my servant's sake, and for Jerusalem's sake, [o]which I have chosen.

14 ¶ And the LORD [p]stirred up an adversary unto Solomon, Hadad the Edomite: he was of the king's seed in Edom.

15 For [q]it came to pass, when David was in Edom, and Joab the captain of the host was gone up to bury the slain, [r]after he had smitten every male in Edom,

16 (For six months did Joab remain there with all Israel, until he had cut off every male in Edom,)

17 That Hadad fled, he and certain Edomites of his father's servants with him, to go into Egypt; Hadad being yet a little child.

18 And they arose out of Midian, and came to Paran: and they took men with them out of Paran, and they came to Egypt, unto Pharaoh king of Egypt; which gave him an house, and appointed him victuals, and gave him land.

19 And Hadad found great favour in the sight of Pharaoh, so that he gave him to wife the sister of his own wife, the sister of Tahpenes the queen.

20 And the sister of Tahpenes bare him Genubath his son, whom Tahpenes weaned in in shall he sleep? and it shall come to pass, when he crieth unto me, that I will hear; for I am gracious.

28 ¶ Thou [v] shalt not revile the [4] gods, nor curse the ruler of thy people.

29 ¶ Thou shalt not delay to offer [5] the first [w] of thy ripe fruits, and of thy [6] liquors: the first-born of thy sons shalt thou give unto me.

30 Likewise [x] shalt thou do with thine oxen, and with thy sheep: seven [y] days it shall be with his dam; on the eighth day thou shalt give it me.

31 ¶ And ye shall be [z] holy men unto me: neither [a] shall ye eat any flesh that is torn of beasts in the field; ye shall cast it to the dogs.

CHAPTER XXIII.

1 Laws concerning slander and false witness; 4 charitableness; 3, 6 justice; 10 the year of rest; 12 the sabbath; 13 idolatry; 14 the three feasts. 20 An Angel promised, with a blessing, if they obey him.

THOU [a] shalt not [1] raise a false report: put not thine hand with the wicked to be an [b] unrighteous witness.

2 Thou [c] shalt not follow a multitude to do evil; [d] neither shalt thou [2] speak in a cause to decline after many to wrest judgment:

3 Neither shalt thou [e] countenance a poor man in his cause.

4 ¶ If [f] thou meet thine enemy's ox or his ass going astray, thou shalt surely bring it back to him again.

5 If thou see the ass of him that hateth thee lying under his burden, [3] and wouldest forbear to help him; thou shalt surely help with him.

6 ¶ Thou [g] shalt not wrest the judgment of thy poor in his cause.

7 Keep [h] thee far from a false matter; and the innocent and righteous slay thou not: for [i] I will not justify the wicked.

8 ¶ And [j] thou shalt take no gift: for the gift blindeth [4] the wise, and perverteth the words of the righteous.

9 ¶ Also [k] thou shalt not oppress a stranger: for ye know the [5] heart of a stranger, seeing ye were strangers in the land of Egypt.

10 And [l] six years thou shalt sow thy land, and shalt gather in the fruits thereof:

Christ raiseth the widow's son LUKE, VII. Christ's testimony of John the Baptist

2 And [a] a certain centurion's servant, who was dear unto him, was sick, and ready to die.
3 And when he heard of Jesus, he sent unto him the elders of the Jews, beseeching him that he would come and heal his servant.
4 And when they came to Jesus, they besought him instantly, saying, That he was worthy for whom he should do this:
5 For he loveth our nation, and he hath built us a synagogue.
6 Then Jesus went with them. And when he was now not far from the house, the centurion sent friends to him, saying unto him, Lord, trouble not thyself; for I am

Entry into Jerusalem.

"When they heard that Jesus was coming to Jerusalem, [the people] took branches of palm trees, and went forth to meet him, and cried, Hosanna: Blessed is the King of Israel that cometh in the name of the Lord. And Jesus, when he had found a young ass, sat thereon; as it is written, Fear not, daughter of Sion: behold, thy King cometh, sitting on an ass's colt."—John 12. 12-15; Matt. 21. 8, 9; Mark 11. 1-11; Luke 19. 29-40.

2 And [a]it shall come to pass in the last days, [b]that the mountain of the LORD's house shall [1]be established in the top of the mountains, and shall be exalted above the hills; and all nations shall flow unto it.

3 And many people shall go and say, Come [c]ye, and let us go up to the mountain of the LORD, to the house of the God of Jacob; and he will teach us of his ways, and we will walk in his paths: [d]for out of Zion shall go forth the law, and the word of the LORD from Jerusalem.

4 And he [e]shall judge among the nations, and shall rebuke many people; and [f]they shall beat their swords into plowshares, and their spears into [2]pruning-hooks: nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more.

5 ¶ O house of Jacob, come ye, and let us [g]walk in the light of the LORD.

6 Therefore thou hast forsaken thy people the house of Jacob, because they be replenished [3]from the east, and [h]are soothsayers like the Philistines, and they [4]please themselves in the children of strangers.

7 Their land also is full of silver and gold, neither is there any end of their treasures; their land is also full of horses, neither is there any end of their chariots:

8 Their land also is full of [5]idols; they worship the work of their own hands, that which their own fingers have made:

9 And the mean man boweth down, and the great man humbleth himself: therefore forgive them not.

10 ¶ Enter into the rock, and hide thee in the dust, for fear of the LORD, and for the glory of his majesty.

11 The lofty looks of man shall be humbled, and the haughtiness of men shall be bowed down, and the LORD alone shall be exalted in that [6]day.

12 For the day of the LORD of hosts shall be upon every one that is proud and lofty, and upon every one that is lifted up, and he shall be brought low:

13 And upon all the cedars of Lebanon, that are high and lifted up, and upon all the oaks of Bashan,

14 And upon all the high mountains, and upon all the hills that are lifted up,

15 And upon every high tower, and upon every fenced wall,

16 And upon all the ships of Tarshish, and upon all [6]pleasant pictures.

17 And the loftiness of man shall be bowed down, and the haughtiness of men shall be made low; and the LORD alone shall be exalted in that day.

18 And the idols [7]he shall utterly abolish.

19 And they shall go into [i]the holes of the rocks, and into the caves of [8]the earth, for [k]fear of the LORD, and for the glory of his majesty, when he ariseth [l]to shake terribly the earth.

20 In that day a man shall cast [9]his idols of silver, and his idols of gold, [10]which they made each one for himself to worship, to the moles and to the bats;

21 To go into the clefts of the rocks, and into the tops of the ragged rocks, for fear of the LORD, and for the glory of his majesty, when he ariseth to shake terribly the earth.

22 Cease [m]ye from man, whose breath is in his nostrils; for wherein is he to be accounted of?

CHAPTER 3.

1 Calamities coming upon Judah. 10 Different states of the righteous and the wicked. 12 Oppression of the rulers. 16 Punishment of the women for pride.

FOR, behold, the Lord, the LORD of hosts, doth take away from Jerusalem and from Judah [a]the stay and the staff, the whole stay of bread, and the whole stay of water,

2 The mighty man, and the man of war, the judge, and the prophet, and the prudent, and the ancient,

3 The captain of fifty, and [1]the honourable man, and the counsellor, and the cunning artificer, and the [2]eloquent orator.

4 And I will give [b]children to be their princes, and babes shall rule over them.

5 And the [c]people shall be oppressed, every one by another, and every one by his neighbour: the child shall behave himself proudly against [d]the ancient, and the base against the honourable.

6 When a man shall take hold of his brother, of the house of his father, saying, Thou hast clothing, be thou our ruler, and let this ruin be under thy hand:

7 In that day shall he [3]swear, saying, I will not be an [4]healer; for in my house is neither bread nor clothing: make me not a ruler of the people.

8 For Jerusalem is ruined, and Judah is fallen; because their tongue and their doings are against the LORD, to provoke the eyes of his glory.

9 The show of their countenance doth witness against them; and they declare their sin as Sodom, they hide it not. Woe unto their soul! for they have rewarded evil unto themselves.

The Jews offended. S. MATTHEW, 14. John beheaded.

50 And shall cast them into the furnace of fire: there shall be wailing and gnashing of teeth.
51 Jesus saith unto them, Have ye understood all these things? They say unto him, Yea, Lord.
52 Then said he unto them, Therefore every scribe which is instructed unto the kingdom of heaven, is like unto a man that is an householder which bringeth forth out of his treasure things new and old.
53 ¶ And it came to pass, that, when Jesus had finished these parables, he departed thence.
54 And when he was come into his own country, he taught them in their synagogue, insomuch that they were astonished, and said, Whence hath this man this wisdom, and these mighty works?
55 Is not this the carpenter's son? is not his mother called Mary? and his brethren, James, and Joses, and Simon, and Judas?
56 And his sisters, are they not all with us? Whence then hath this man all these things?
57 And they were offended in him. But Jesus said unto them, A prophet is not without honour, save in his own country, and in his own house.
58 And he did not many mighty works there, because of their unbelief.

AT that time Herod the tetrarch heard of the fame of Jesus,
2 And said unto his servants, This is John the Baptist: he is risen from the dead; and therefore mighty works do show forth themselves in him.
3 ¶ For Herod had laid hold on John, and bound him, and put him in prison for Herodias' sake, his brother Philip's wife.
4 For John said unto him, It is not lawful for thee to have her.
5 And when he would have put him to death, he feared the multitude, because they counted him as a prophet.
6 But when Herod's birthday was kept, the daughter of Herodias danced before them, and pleased Herod.
7 Whereupon he promised with an oath to give her whatsoever she would ask.
8 And she, being before instructed of her mother, said, Give me here John Baptist's head in a charger.
9 And the king was sorry: nevertheless, for the oath's sake, and them which sat with him at meat, he commanded it to be given her.
10 And he sent, and beheaded John in the prison.
11 And his head was brought in a charger, and given to the damsel: and she brought it to marry, nor are given in marriage; but are as the angels which are in heaven.

26 And as touching the dead, that they rise; have ye not read in the book of Moses, how in the bush God spake unto him, saying, I am the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob?

27 He is not the God of the dead, but the God of the living: ye therefore do greatly err.

28 ¶ And one of the scribes came, and having heard them reasoning together, and perceiving that he had answered them well, asked him, Which is the first commandment of all?

29 And Jesus answered him, The first of all the commandments is, Hear, O Israel; The Lord our God is one Lord:

30 And thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind, and with all thy strength. This is the first commandment.

31 And the second is like, namely this, Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself. There is none other commandment greater than these.

32 And the scribe said unto him, Well, Master, thou hast said the truth: for there is one God; and there is none other but he:

33 And to love him with all the heart, and with all the understanding, and with all the soul, and with all the strength, and to love his neighbour as himself, is more than all whole burnt offerings and sacrifices.

34 And when Jesus saw that he answered discreetly, he said unto said, while he taught in the temple, How say the scribes that Christ is the son of David?

36 For David himself said by the Holy Ghost, The LORD said to my Lord, Sit thou on my right hand, till I make thine enemies thy footstool.

37 David therefore himself calleth him Lord; and whence is he then his son? And the common people heard him gladly.

38 ¶ And he said unto them in his doctrine, Beware of the scribes, which love to go in long clothing, and love salutations in the market-places,

39 And the chief seats in the synagogues, and the uppermost rooms at feasts;

40 Which devour widows' houses, and for a pretence make long prayers: these shall receive greater damnation.

41 ¶ And Jesus sat over against the treasury, and beheld how the people cast money into the treasury: and many that were rich cast in much.

42 And there came a certain poor widow, and she threw in two mites, which make a farthing.

43 And he called unto him his disciples, and saith unto them, Verily I say unto you, That this poor widow hath cast more in than all they which have cast into the treasury:

44 For all they did cast in of their abundance; but she of her want did cast in all that she had. even all her living.

The Times says:—"Messrs. Wm. Collins, Sons, & Co., Ltd., have issued a charming edition of Shakespeare —'The Bijou.' It is complete in six volumes, each so small as to be put away with ease in a corner of the pocket, and yet beautifully and clearly printed, and also prettily bound. A feature of this edition is that it is illustrated with many pictures of well-known actors and actresses in favourite Shakespearean roles, and with reproductions in black and white of famous paintings having a Shakespearean subject. The first volume is equipped with a short but serviceable biography of the dramatist, and Sir Henry Irving has written for it an article on the Shakespeare-Bacon controversy. The eminent player is whole-souled in his devotion to Shakespeare. The poems are included in the sixth volume of the series, which contains also an index to the characters in the plays, and a glossary."

Teachers' and Students' Manual of Arithmetic.

A Guide to the Systematic Study of Problems.

By J. A. Ferrell, B. S., C. E., Professor of Mathematics in the Southwestern Normal School for Oklahoma.

171 Pages; Full Cloth; Price, 50 cents.

This work is for teachers and advanced students of Arithmetic, as a manual or guide to the systematic development of the mind in studying mathematical relations, finding premises, and developing solutions.

Methods in Arithmetic.

A Monograph by J. A. Ferrell, B. S., C. E., Professor of Mathematics in the Southwestern Territorial Normal School, Oklahoma.

Pamphlet, price, 10c.

Payne's Natural Methods in Algebra.

A book of 187 pages, for use in Village Schools, High Schools, Normal Schools, and Normal Institutes.

By E. L. Payne,

Professor of Mathematics, Kansas State Normal School.

Price, Cloth, 60 cents.

The book is a combination of Teachers' Manual and Solution Book. All fundamental principles of Algebra are formulated under the head of propositions, and proved. Forms of solution of various classes of problems are emphasized. Clear-cut definitions and forms of explanation, to be used by the student, are given. A teacher can take this book in connection with his text, and soon make himself proficient in Algebra with but little outside help. This volume is just the thing for use in the Normal Institute classes in Algebra. A combined use of the Methods with the lists of problems found in the Normal Institute Course of Study will form the ideal work for the institute classes in Algebra, by making the work of both students and instructors lighter, and at the same time giving the desired results.

This work is valuable to all teachers and students in the Middle West, and should be used in all schools teaching botany.

First Steps in Public Speaking.

By George Washington Hoss, A. M., LL.D., Principal Western School of Elocution and Oratory. Formerly Professor of English Literature and Elocution in the State University of Indiana.

Paper, 25 cents; Full Cloth, 50 cents.

This work is intended to be elementary, as its name "First Steps," indicates. There is, so far as known to us, no other book on the market that begins at the beginning—the period when the student stands up for the first time to think on his feet. It carries the student, by easy and natural steps, from this beginning point up to higher work.

A Study in School Supervision and Maintenance.

By Henry C. Fellow, Ph. D.

173 Pages; Chart; Full Cloth; Price, 50c.

A comprehensive comparison of the modes of School Supervision, for class use or for reference.

Designed for use in the School or Home. Fifth edition. Revised, corrected, and enlarged.

The Illustrative Historical Chart.

By Eli G. Foster, Principal Harrison School, Topeka, Kansas.

Price, with Tripod and Manual, $18.00.

The Illustrative Historical Chart is essentially, as the name indicates, illustrative in character. It represents history to the eye by means of maps and diagrams, and correlates history and geography. It is a pictorial historical display. It makes history objective, interesting and attractive.

There are many novel and valuable features in the Chart. All who have examined it pronounce it greatly superior to any other historical chart published.

Lithographed in colors, and printed on beautiful white paper made specially for this work.

Kansas Day.

By F. H. Barrington.

255 pages; Full Cloth; Price, $1.00.

Contains a brief history of Kansas and a collection by Kansas authors, with other miscellaneous matter pertaining to Kansas.

The former price of the book was $1.50; we have reduced the price to $1.00.

Elementary Studies in Insect Life.

By S. J. Hunter, Professor Comparative Zoology and Entomology in the University of Kansas.

450 pages; Full Cloth; Price, $1.25.

This is a text-book for schools and colleges. It is the latest book on any part of this subject, and contains the results of all the research in this field up to date. It is written in a style that makes the subject very interesting. Purely technical and scientific discussions are avoided. It is a pleasing book for the student, and even the general reader.

The book is one of the best works on Nature Study yet published. It will be of great value to agricultural and horticultural interests everywhere. The line separating beneficial and injurious insects is sharply defined, and the means for preserving the former and destroying the latter fully treated.

The Coccidæ of Kansas.

By S. J. Hunter.

Cloth, $2.00.

A series of articles dealing with Coccidæ found in Kansas, their host plants, and bibliography.

One hundred and sixty pages, including twenty plates composed of seventy-two illustrations. The entire edition, available for sale, is ninety books.

Commercial Geography.

A work for High Schools, Commercial Courses, Business Colleges, and Grammar Grades of City and Rural Schools.
By Professor WALTER H. OLIN, Professor of Agronomy in the State Agricultural College, Fort Collins, Colo.

Illustrated. Maps. Full Cloth. $1.00.

There never was an age of greater commercial activity than the present time. All the nations of the earth are seeking to extend and protect their trade. It is the duty and sphere of schools to impart a knowledge of commercial principles and commodities. This duty was never so imperative as now. America is destined to control the world's commerce. Nothing could be more appropriate, for its discovery was a commercial venture.

To supply this information and bring the principles of commerce to that system necessary to its comprehension by the students of our schools, is the object of Mr. Olin's book.

Economics.

By Prof. F. W. BLACKMAR, Ph. D.

526 Pages; Full Cloth; $1.00.

An interesting book on timely subjects, forming a complete outline on economics, and an authority on these subjects. Giving a thorough discussion on Political Economy, Production, Distribution, Consumption, and Exchange, Trusts, Labor Organizations Socialism, etc.

Miscellaneous Publications.

The Civil War on the Border.

By WILEY BRITTON, late of the War Department, Washington.

In two volumes. Vol. 1, 493 pages. Vol. 2, 572 pages. Cloth, gilt tops. Price, $2 per volume.

This is a handsome two-volume publication, with steel portraits and maps of battlefields. It is the only publication attempting to cover the operations of the Civil War in the most romantic region of our country, being the western parts of Missouri and Arkansas and the eastern parts of Kansas and the Indian Territory—a section which is now the central part of the United States.

The Old Santa Fe Trail.

By COL. HENRY INMAN.

500 Royal Octavo Pages; Full English Cloth; Gilt; Price, $2.50.

The Story of the Great Highway of the Plains. The ten full-page Photogravures are by Remington. Map of the Old Santa Fe Trail. Initials and tail-pieces by Thomson Willing. The whole an elegant specimen of the highest art of book-making.

The Great Salt Lake Trail.

By COL. HENRY INMAN.

530 Royal Octavo Pages; Full English Cloth; Gilt; Price, $2.50.

Story of the Great Highway of the Mormons and the Argonauts. The thrilling account of the Overland Route to California and the Great Northwest. Among the illustrations are nine full-page photogravure plates by Clarke. Initials and tail-pieces by Thomson Willing. A companion work to "The Old Santa Fe Trail," and fully equal in interest and workmanship to that masterpiece.

Tales of the Trail.

By COL. HENRY INMAN.

280 Pages; Full Cloth; Price, $1.

Interesting historic incidents of Western frontier life. Delightful short stories of Western adventure. Indian and trail tales, by one of the actors of the historical yesterday. Finely illustrated by Cunningham. A beautiful and valuable volume.

The Delahoydes.

By COL. HENRY INMAN.

310 Pages; Full English Cloth; Price, $1.

A clean, strong, bright and wholesome story of Boy Life on the Great Plains. Written for the American youth, to present in an attractive and interesting manner Boy Life on the Plains; Animal Life of the West.

A Pioneer from Kentucky.

By COL. HENRY INMAN.

175 Pages; Full English Cloth; Gilt Top and Titles; Price, 75 cents.

An Idyl of the Raton Range. An entertaining, chaste and graphic contribution to the literature of the region of the Rocky Mountains. A beautiful frontispiece by Stone. An expensive and special paper; rough edges. As handsome a volume as you will find on the counters of any bookstore.

The Overland Stage to California.

By FRANK A. ROOT, messenger in charge of the express, and agent of the Postoffice Department; and WILLIAM ELSEY CONNELLEY.

650 pages, 9 x 6 inches in size. Fine paper. Illustrated with nearly 150 engravings. Splendid map, showing all the trails across the plains, engraved expressly for this book. Price: Cloth, $2.50.

The work contains authentic history gathered at great expense of time and money, and is the personal narrative of a competent and conscientious eye-witness.

The value of this book lies in its fidelity —in its strict adherence to truth and its faithfulness to fact. It is, first of all, a historical work; the story of men who saw for themselves. But in the relation of historic annals it often touches the story of the romance of the plains. Its principal mission in all time will be to preserve the real spirit of the first gigantic enterprises of the Great West. The conquest of the Great Western Wilderness, many of the events of which are portrayed in this volume, is the most fascinating romance in all history. No ornament of flowing sentences is necessary; the simple recital of vital facts reveals adventures and heroism far beyond the imagination of fiction.

Æsop's Fables.

Arranged for children by NELLIE PERKINS DOBBS, illustrated by LYDIA GRANT.

Bound in cloth, illuminated. 141 Pages. Printed in two colors throughout, on heavy coated paper. Beautiful clear type.

Price, mailed, 50 cents.

This book is described by others as follows:

A handsome little book.—Salt Lake Tribune.

One of the most up-to-date fable books printed.—Erie Record.

The real Æsop's Fables, with all features eliminated or modified that would be harmful to a child's sensibilities, and only the helpful parts of the stories, arranged in a way to convey their own morals. It is a very attractive book, and a wholesome one.—Oskaloosa Independent.

There has been no attempt made to dress the fables in new garments, and they retain the quaintness of the originals and at the same time present them in a form available to the child of the present day.—The Kansas Chief.

All little people will be charmed with the new edition of Æsop's Fables.—The Kansas Commoner.

Its influence cannot help but be good.—Independence Reporter.

If you have little ones to provide intellectual food for, be sure to think of this. —Peabody Gazette.

It is a very worthy attempt to make these fables still closer to the hearts of the children.—Moyer Literary Letter.

A Revolution in the Science of Cosmology.

By GEORGE CAMPBELL.

Full Cloth; Illustrated; 201 pages; $1.00.

This book is another step in the demonstration of the unity of science and revelation. So far as the Creation is concerned, revealed truth and scienitfic truth are here shown to be one and the same. This work contains in concise form.

1. A pen-picture of the infinitude of space, the chaos antedating the Creation.

2. The origin of solar light, heat and electricity, and the natural laws that obtained in the progress and development of the universe of organized matter.

3. It sets forth the natural causes that threw the earth out of center, changed the climate at the North Pole from that of perpetual spring to one of intense frigidity, in which all forms of plant and animal life perished.

4. It points out the laws which changed the sun from an opaque to a luminous body, and proves that the same natural laws will make the earth burn and become a luminous body.

History of the Birds of Kansas.

By Col. N. S. Goss.

692 Pages; Large Octavo; Full Cloth, $5; Full Morocco, $6.

Colonel Goss was a tireless ornithologist and oölogist, and spent the most of his life in the intelligent collection and classification of Western birds.

An expensive, handsome and scientific production. Thirty-eight full-page illustrations, describing 529 Western birds.

The Kansas Memorial.

Edited by CHARLES S. GLEED.

Illustrated; Map of Kansas; Cloth; 261 Pages; Price, $1.

A Report of the Old Settlers' Meeting held at Bismarck Grove, Kansas, September 15–16, 1879.

This was a State gathering; indeed it was more, for people who had lived in Kansas in the Territorial days came from all parts of the Union to attend it. The book is composed of the articles read and the addresses delivered by old settlers. Much of the written history of the State rests on these valuable annals. The work is recognized by writers everywhere as authority, and a valuable contribution to Kansas history.

The edition is almost exhausted; in a short time it will be impossible to obtain this work.

Walls of Corn, and Other Poems.

By ELLEN P. ALLERTON; with biographical sketch by EVA RYAN SWAYZE.

Bound in Cloth, and handsomely illustrated. Price, $1.00.

It had been supposed that this book was out of print, but a number of the original sheets have been found in Mrs. Allerton's old home. We have bound them up, and now have a limited number for sale at the reduced price of $1.00; the former price was $1.50.

Numerous calls have been made for this book in the past few years, and the present supply will soon be exhausted.

Topeka Pen and Camera Sketches.

By Miss MARY E. JACKSON, author of "Spy of Osawatomie," and other works.

200 Pages; Full Cloth; Price, $1.

A Colorado Colonel, and Other Stories.

By W. C. CAMPBELL.

400 Pages; Illustrated; Full Cloth; $1.

In the longer story, "A Colorado Colonel," Mr. Campbell has drawn a number of interesting characters with rare skill, and has developed them in a manner as pleasing and artistic as any novelist who has ever written of Mountain, Gulch and Plain. We see the sudden acquisition of the immense riches possible in the Great West, and we behold the burden of them cast on shoulders used before only to the beggar's pack. But the greatest riches revealed to us by Mr. Campbell we behold in the purity of character developed in the children of his imagination.

HANDY VOLUME SETS.

SHAKESPEARE'S WORKS.—"First Folio Edition."

Edited with Notes, Introductions, Glossaries, Lists of Variorum Readings, and Selected Criticisms, by CHARLOTTE PORTER and HELEN A. CLARKE, editors of the "Camberwell Browning." With photogravure frontispieces, rubricated title-pages, and covers designed by GOODHUE, typography and presswork by the DeVinne Press.

This edition goes back to, and reproduces, the famous First Folio text of 1623, the one which gives Shakespeare in the original spelling and punctuation. The text is thus freed from the editorial changes of three centuries, which, however, are indicated by abundant notes. The type is modern and is set and printed by DeVinne. This is the only reprinting of the First Folio obtainable in handy form.

The volumes will be sold separately, and will be issued rapidly. To be completed in 40 vols.; size, 4¼ × 6¼.

The first plays will appear in the following order:

THE STUDENT'S NEW CENTURY DICTIONARY

By EDWARD T. ROE, LL.B.

THE LATEST AND BEST

Up to Date New from A to Z

THIS Dictionary is fresh from the press and is revised and brought up to date, based upon the unabridged dictionary of Noah Webster, and embodies the latest decisions of the foremost American and English authorities on spelling, pronunciation and definition. It embraces all modern words and meanings up to the date of going to press and is intended particularly for the busy student and that large class of people who require in convenient form

An Up-to-Date and Authoritative Dictionary

sure to contain what is sought for and to be thoroughly reliable

This Dictionary is not a cheap makeshift compiled from various sources of doubtful authority, neither is it a reprint from old plates, but a new, fully revised work, having for its basis the acknowledged fountain head of pure, correct English —the Noah Webster dictionary.

In addition to all usual dictionary features it contains:

- The Constitution of the United States.
- The Declaration of Independence.
- Dates and Facts as to Decisive Battles of the World.
- A Dictionary of Commercial and Legal Terms.
- Familiar Allusions, References, etc.
- Famous Characters in Poetry and Prose.
- Foreign Words, Phrases, Proverbs and Quotations.
- The Metric System of Weights and Measures.
- Synonyms and Antonyms.
- The Value of Foreign Coins in United States Money.

This Dictionary is, in fact, a condensed

Encyclopedia, Containing All the Information

likely to be required by the reader, the business man or the student. Those who find it inconvenient to purchase or to have at hand a large encyclopedia of many volumes will find an adequate substitute in this new and notable Dictionary.

1,024 pages; 24 full-page illustrations, colored maps and flags. 8vo, size, 5½ x 8 inches.

AN UNIQUE BOOK

BEING DONE GOOD

BY EDWARD B. LENT

Cloth, 12mo. Illustrated, $1.50

An amusing account of a Rheumatic's experiences with Doctors and Specialists who promised to do him good.

PRESS COMMENTS

It is time for a new humorist * * * and he may be gladly welcomed in the person of one who, while his body may be rheumatic, has a wit that is almost ecstatic.—Everybody's Magazine.

I read "Being Done Good" with no little pleasure and satisfaction. Aside from its humorous character, the vein of truth which clearly stands out in every chapter ought to do much to warn a suffering people from patronizing the multitude of fakirs and charlatans who infest the country and whom no amount of legislative action seems to be able to reach.—A. L. GOODRICH, of the Hartford Courant.

Perhaps the most effective cure for the blues that has been published since Rabelais—because you simply roll over and howl with every turn of its novel humor. * * * There has been written nothing more entertaining in many and many a year.—Brooklyn Standard-Union.

It will be read with amusement by the medical faculty. * * * It is sunny, original and philosophic, and discusses all known cures in a comical manner worthy of Mark Twain.—Rochester Democrat and Chronicle.

After reading it you almost wish that more of our writers had rheumatism. * * * There are, perhaps, a million sufferers from rheumatism in these United States—and they all ought to read it. From beginning to end it is an unbroken series of cachinnations.—St. Louis Republic.

It is of striking originality. * * * The author lampoons the medical profession, regular and irregular, and scientists, Christian and un Christian * * * with cheerfulness and without malice. —Boston Herald.

The work will bring a genuine ray of sunshine not only to the sick-room but to every household wherein it is read. * * * The fun is not marred by any unkindness or bitterness—even toward the downright quacks.—Philadelphia Record.

Whether you have had the rheumatism or not, you will enjoy reading this story of a man who has. —Pittsburg Times.

"Being Done Good" is entertaining from cover to cover—this the doctors themselves must admit—and, moreover, it is an object lesson in the way of cheerful burden bearing that may well be remembered. There is enough philosophy in the book to furnish material for a dozen treatises and good nature enough to make them all readable.—Newark News.

Having experienced four years of torture, he points out the absurd side of all the remedies he has tried, ranging from the efforts of the regular physicians to osteopathy and Christian Science, and intersperses countless anecdotes in bright, newspaper style.—New York Sun.

If his cupped and blistered legs would bear him up, Mr. Lent would qualify as a rival of Simeon Ford as an after-dinner speaker.—New York World.

NEW PLAYS

MULDOON AND THE NIGGER; or, White and Black. 15 cents. A dialect vaudeville Sketch for two males, by H. E. SHELLAND. Muldoon, an Irish stage-manager, meets very suddenly Johnson, a darkey, whom he wished to engage as an actor in a Mephistopheles drama. After a lot of funny characteristic talk, they rehearse Johnson's part. After some ridiculous attempts at highfalutin tragedy, partly in very blank verse, Johnson collapses. They close with a song.

OAK FARM. 25 cents. A Comedy Drama in 3 acts and 1 interior scene, by ANTHONY E. WILLS. 7 male, 4 female characters. Time, 2½ hours. Silas Weatherby, owner of "Oak Farm," near a New Hampshire village, mortgages his farm to Jonathan Prune, to enable his son Donald to go to college. Three years later the mortgage falls due. Silas has had losses, and cannot pay. Donald goes West, and is now rich. Donald's letters have been withheld by Prune. At a critical moment Donald returns. Prune's villainy is exposed, and Oak Farm is saved. Spudge, the schoolmaster, and Meredith, the doctor, are after Cynthia and her money, with funny and effective scenes. The whole action of the play is bright and full of absorbing interest, with a thrilling climax.

WANTED, A MAHATMA. 15 cents. A comic sketch in 1 act, for 4 male characters, by GORDON V. MAY. 1 interior scene. Professor Astralile, a fortune-teller, is in bad luck. Squire Babcock offers him a hundred dollars for a Mahatma. His friend, Frisby, an adventurer, disguises himself as a Mahatma. Squire puts his wallet on table. The temptation is too much for Frisby, who grabs the wallet. A struggle—the disguise falls off. Exposure and escape.

A WHITE SHAWL. 15 cents. A Farce-Comedy in 2 acts and 1 interior scene, by C. LEONA DALRYMPLE. 3 male, 3 female characters. Costumes, modern. Time, 1½ hours. A cleverly arranged "Comedy of Errors," in which an elderly doctor's attempts at wooing a young girl already engaged—an old maid's efforts to secure a mate—and the strategy of two young men to defeat the doctor's aims, whereby they get themselves into an awkward scrape—all result in getting things tangled up in the most ludicrous manner. Woman's wit and a white shawl set matters right at last.

A COUNT OF NO ACCOUNT. 25 cents. A Farce Comedy in 3 acts, by ANTHONY E. WILLS. 9 male, 4 female characters. Time, 2½ hours. Johann Kramer, of the "Lion Inn," Catskill Mountains, advertises the Count Nogoodio of Paris as sojourner at hotel. Two New Yorkers, partners in business, on the verge of ruin, and each having an attractive daughter, try to catch the Count for a son-in-law. The Count has not arrived, Kramer hires Weary, a tramp, to personate him. Weary makes trouble all the time. The Count arrives. Weary has him arrested as his insane valet. Count escapes; is taken for a ghost. At last matters are set right in an astonishing climax. A bright French waitress, a middle-aged widow and her brother, a peevish hypochondriac, add greatly to the absurd situations and surprises.

WHEN A MAN'S SINGLE. 25 cents. A rural Society Comedy in 3 acts, by ELEANOR MAUD CRANE. 4 male and 4 female characters. Modern costumes. 2 interior scenes and 1 exterior scene. Time, 2 hours. Mrs. Briscoe, a rich New Yorker, with her two sons and daughter, visit Jim Horton's farm. His niece, Eleanor, is an heiress. Paul Briscoe, ruinously in debt, resolves to win Eleanor and her money; he mistakes the Irish maid, Norah, for her mistress, but soon learns his error. Eleanor visits the Briscoes at Newport. Paul by strategy wins her consent. Mrs. Briscoe hears of Jim's sudden wealth and forces herself on him. Later, Jim's wealth proves to be not his, but Peter Adams's, his country neighbor. Things get badly mixed up, but by the artless blunders of Norah are finally and satisfactorily settled. The action compels absorbing interest throughout the comedy, and the climax is strongly dramatic. "When a Man's Single, Oh, then!"

Augusta J. Evans' Novels

"Who has not read with rare delight the novels of Augusta Evans! Her strange, wonderful, and fascinating style; the profound depths to which she sinks the probe into human nature, touching its most sacred chords and springs; the intense interest thrown around her characters, and the very marked peculiarities of her principal figures, conspire to give an unusual interest to the works of this eminent Southern authoress."

A new uniform edition, cloth bound, stamped in gold and ink on back and side. Per volume, $1.50.

Mary J. Holmes' Novels

"Mrs. Holmes' stories are universally read. Her admirers are numberless. She is, in many respects, without a rival in the world of fiction. Her characters are always lifelike, and she makes them talk and act like human beings, subject to the same emotions, swayed by the same passions, and actuated by the same motives which are common among men and women of every-day existence."

A new 12mo cloth-bound edition, gold back and side, printed on good paper, each volume embellished with frontispiece half-tone illustration. Per volume, $1.00.

Allan Pinkerton's Works

"The mental characteristics of Allan Pinkerton were judgment as to facts, knowledge of men, the ability to concentrate his faculties on one subject, and the persistent power of will. A mysterious problem of crime, against which his life was devoted, presented to his thought, was solved almost in an instant, and seemingly by his intuitions. With half-closed eyes he saw the scene in which the wrong was done, read every movement of the criminals, and reached invariably the correct conclusion as to their conduct and guilt."

Albert Ross' Novels

"There is a great difference between the productions of Albert Ross and those of some of the sensational writers of recent date. When he depicts vice he does it with an artistic touch, but he never makes it attractive. Mr. Ross' dramatic instincts are strong. His characters become in his hands living, moving creatures."

†Middle Wall (The)

Author of "The Rough Riders," "Lizzette," etc.

From perils in a South African Mining Camp to a flight from the police in London to thrilling adventures on the sea; and from the sea to a startling, original and dramatic climax on Cape Cod; this story moves rapidly with close knit fabric of plot, clean cut and original delineations of distinctive and life-like characters, many thrilling passages, a little pathos, and enough love to flavor the whole pleasantly. The interest of the action, pitched high in the beginning, is held to a point of utmost tension throughout. (Published March, 1904.)

†The Corner in Coffee

By CYRUS TOWNSEND BRADY

Author of "Sir Henry Morgan, Buccaneer," "For the Freedom of the Sea," "The Southerners," etc.

A sparkling romance of New York Society and "The Street."

"Mr. Brady never wrote a story that could be called dull; but for a thoroughly amusing tale, one which the reader cannot think of laying aside until he is finished, 'The Corner in Coffee' leads them all."—Boston Transcript.

It's dramatized and will soon be on the stage.

†The Vice-Admiral of the Blue

By

ROLAND BURNHAM MOLINEUX

Author of "The Room With the Little Door."

A historical romance dealing in a new and absorbing manner with the famous love affairs of Lord Nelson and Lady Hamilton. The story opens in Naples, and gives a graphic picture of court life in the gayest of monarchies, in the days immediately following the Battle of the Nile. The story carries the reader to Sicily, to London, where glimpses are had of the beau monde and the old time tavern life, and later to the extended country homes of the England of that time (Published September, 1903.)

Because of Power

By ELLA STRYKER MAPES

It is a novel attractively presenting the counterpoise of character and fate. Broad in conception and true in tone, the story is handled with distinct style. The spark of life glows on every page, the atmosphere is vital—electrified by the quickening currents of humanity.

HAMILTON W. MABIE says of it: "There is a great deal of vitality in it, an amount of passion that gives it color, movement and go, quite unusual in stories from the pen of American women." — Illustrations by LATIMER J. WILSON.

A Story of the Present Day

By FRANCES GORDON FANE

Two characters stand out boldly in this charming story, a coquettish woman and the hero of the story who is earnest, chivalric, devoted, heroic, who in youth is the ideal lover; in manhood the martyr to his high sense of honor and unconquerable love. It is a wonderfully interesting story, one of the best novels of the year.

A Sleeping Memory

By E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM

Author of "Enoch Strone," Etc.

"Mr. Oppenheim is to be thanked for giving to the novel-reading public a new lead for their reflective faculties, while catering to the universal fondness for a love story in very much the same old way. 'A Sleeping Memory' is a story in occultism, but it is not so profound as to discourage even the trivial reader. On the contrary, with all its mysticism and its dealings with the unknowable, the book is never dull, the thread of the human story in it is never for a moment lost sight of." — Boston Transcript.

ADAMS, JOHN S. — Five Thousand Musical Terms.

Size, 4½ x 7; pages, 94; binding, boards, .75

A complete dictionary of Latin, Greek, Hebrew, Italian, French, German, Spanish, English, and such other words, phrases, abbreviations, and signs as are to be found in the works of eminent composers. To which is added a treatise on playing the organ or piano by figures.

ALCHIN, C. A. — Ear Training for Teacher and Pupil.

Size, 5½ x 8¼; pages, 156; binding, cloth, $1.00

This work does not aim to take the place of a text-book on harmony, but is designed rather, through training the sense of hearing, to teach the pupil to think in tones, so that he may sing, name, write, and play what he hears; to harmonize melodies at sight, to improvise accompaniments, and to recognize and appreciate not only the melodic effects in music, but the harmonic and rhythmic as well. The book is the direct outcome of the author's practical experience in teaching.

ALDRICH, RICHARD. — A Guide to Parsifal.

Size, 4¾ x 7¼; pages, 96; 8 illustrations; binding, cloth, $1.00

The origin of the drama, its story, and an analysis of the music with the leading motives in notation. With eight illustrations of scenes from the drama.

ALLEN, ALICE MAUDE. — Germany's Famous Composers.

Size, 5¼ x 4¾; pages, 155; binding, cloth, $1.00

In an easy, unpretentious manner the author writes of Bach, Händel, Haydn, Mozart, Beethoven, Schubert, Mendelssohn, Schumann, and Wagner; their personal characteristics, their principal works, and their influence upon art.

APTHORP, WILLIAM FOSTER (Editor). — Robert Franz — Fifty Songs. For High Voice.

Size, 9⅜ x 12½; pages, 162; 1 portrait; binding, cloth, gilt, $2.50

Also in paper, cloth back, 1.50

This volume of The Musicians Library contains the fifty best songs of Franz, with his portrait, a manuscript in facsimile, elaborate introduction, and 138 pages of music, full folio size.

APTHORP, WILLIAM FOSTER (Editor). Robert Franz — Fifty Songs.
For Low Voice.

Size, $9\frac{3}{8}$ x $12\frac{1}{2}$; pages, 162; 1 portrait; binding, cloth, gilt, $2.50
Also in paper, cloth back, 1.50

This volume of The Musicians Library contains the fifty best songs of Franz, with his portrait, a manuscript in facsimile, elaborate introduction, and 138 pages of music, full folio size.

ARMBRUSTER, CARL (Editor). Wagner — Lyrics for Soprano.

Size, $9\frac{3}{8}$ x $12\frac{1}{2}$; pages, 194; 1 portrait; binding, cloth, gilt, $2.50
Also in paper, cloth back, 1.50

This volume of The Musicians Library contains besides the eight songs by Wagner for a high voice, all the well-known arias allotted to the soprano in his earlier works, as well as a discriminating selection of the more lyric episodes from his later music-dramas. A total of 29 numbers has been made, many of which have never appeared in any previous collection, rendering this volume the most complete and comprehensive soprano album of Wagner's lyrics ever published. A fine portrait of the composer, and an interesting biographical and critical essay preface the work; while a complete chronological table, and a very full bibliography further enrich this remarkable volume.

ARMBRUSTER, CARL (Editor). Wagner — Lyrics for Tenor.

Size, $9\frac{3}{8}$ x $12\frac{1}{2}$; pages, 190; 1 portrait; binding, cloth, gilt, $2.50
Also in paper, cloth back, 1.50

In this volume of The Musicians Library are represented all of Wagner's dramas, from "Rienzi" to "Parsifal." The volume contains twenty-eight selections, many of which, as in the companion volume for soprano, have never before been included in any collection. The editorial matter includes a biographical and critical essay, a complete chronological table, and a very full bibliography. A fine portrait of Wagner further enriches the volume. One hundred and sixty-four pages of music.

BEAUFORT, RAPHAEL LEDOS DE. Franz Liszt.

Size, $4\frac{7}{8}$ x $7\frac{1}{2}$; pages, 233; 1 portrait; binding, cloth, $1.25

In addition to the main work there is an essay by T. Carlaw Martin, entitled "Liszt as a Litterateur," and a list of his chief compositions, together with the names of his principal pupils.

BEHNKE, EMIL, and BROWNE, LENNOX. Child's Voice.

Size, $4\frac{7}{8}$ x $7\frac{1}{2}$; pages, 116; binding, cloth, .60

The object of this book is to advise concerning the treatment of the child's voice in relation to its after development. It is the result of inquiries made of and answers received from all sources, and from many of the most distinguished teachers in Europe.

BOTUME, JOHN FRANKLIN. Modern Singing Methods: their use and abuse.

Size, 5 x $7\frac{3}{8}$; pages, 52; binding, cloth, .50

A brief review of different methods, endeavoring to point out the true in each method.

BOTUME, JOHN FRANKLIN. Respiration for Advanced Singers.
Size, 5 x 7⅜; pages, 32; binding, cloth, .50
Written to show the advanced singer how he may become the master of many methods, instead of being the slave of one.

BREWER, E. COBHAM, D.D. Sound and its Phenomena.
Size, 4⅞ x 7½; pages, 191; binding, cloth, $1.25
Treats of the cause of sound, qualities of sound, transmission of sound, velocity, sonorous vibrations and their numerical valuation, vibrating musical instruments, wind instruments, acoustics, echo, voice, organs of hearing.

BRIDGE, J. FREDERICK. Counterpoint.
Size, 5¾ x 8¾; pages, 88; binding, paper, .75
Contains original examples, the old, hackneyed exercises having been, to a great extent, discarded. The author aims to reconcile the spirit of ancient counterpoint with the feeling for modern tonality.

BROWN, F. H. Pupil's First Primer.
Size, 4¾ x 6⅞; pages, 92; binding, boards, .50
Designed expressly for the young student in music and arranged in the form of questions and answers, thus forming an elementary catechism. There is, in addition, a pronouncing vocabulary of musical terms.

BROWN, JEAN PARKMAN. Intervals, Chords, and Ear Training.
Size, 5¼ x 8; pages, 110; binding, cloth, $1.00
"A simple yet thorough set of exercises and examples in rudimentary harmony and ear training, to go hand in hand with the training of the fingers in piano playing. A faithful use of this book with even very young children who have a natural love for music will greatly broaden their knowledge, and so will raise the standard of musical intelligence among the public at large." — W. R. Spaulding, Instructor of Harmony in Harvard University.

BUCK, DUDLEY. Dictionary of Musical Terms.
Size, 4¾ x 6¾; pages, 64; binding, boards, .40
To furnish a musical dictionary which should be complete, and at the same time of moderate dimensions, has been the aim of the compiler.

CUTTER, BENJAMIN. Harmonic Analysis.

Size, $5\frac{1}{4}$ x 8; pages, 130; binding, cloth, $1.25

A course in the analysis of the chords and of the non-harmonic tones to be found in music — classic and modern. Designed for those who have studied Harmony and would apply it in their everyday musical life. It is believed that by a careful study of this book, one may learn not only to analyze and to understand anything in the way of harmony that he may chance to meet in musical literature, classical or modern, but — what is far more important — through his heightened powers of comprehension he may be enabled to hear with greater understanding, to read at sight with more facility, to play and sing with more intelligence, and consequently may have his musical perceptions — those gifts of delight to man — quickened and made more responsive, whether he act as player, as singer, or as listener.

CUTTER, BENJAMIN. How to Study Kreutzer.

Size, $5\frac{1}{4}$ x 8; pages, 60; binding, cloth, .75

This handbook, for the daily use of violin teachers and students, contains explanations of the left-hand difficulties and of their solution, with directions for the systematic acquirement of the various bowings, both firm and bounding. By putting in black and white what every teacher discusses and shows in the lesson-room, the writer makes clear the mechanical procedures the student of Kreutzer is obliged to consider.

Bells Across the Snow

By Frances Ridley Havergal

This favorite poem is issued in new style with border designs and illustrations by Lolita Perine. Beautifully printed in gold and color.

7½ x 5 LEATHERETTE, $1.00
OOZE LEATHER, 2.00

Book of Friendship

This is one of our especially attractive gift books. Choice quotations on friendship have been carefully selected from prominent authors and arranged artistically with initial letters and border design colored by hand. The printing is on Japan, giving a pleasant mellow effect. The binding in ooze leather is especially recommended.

6½ x 5½ DECORATED LEATHERETTE, $1.00 NET.
OOZE LEATHER, 2.00 "

Book of Cheer

Selections of cheer, selected from prominent writers. Printed in gold and colors and elaborately decorated. An exceedingly popular gift book.

6½ x 5½ DECORATED LEATHERETTE, $1.00 NET
OOZE LEATHER, 2.00 "

Book of Joy

Uniform with the "Book of Friendship." Printed in blue, gold and black. It is strongly optimistic in spirit, and contains selections of unusual helpfulness.

"If any little word of ours can make one life the brighter;
If any little song of ours can make one heart the lighter;
God help us speak that little word, and take our bit of singing,
And drop it in some lonely vale, and set the echoes ringing."

Do not omit this book from your holiday list of presents.

Breaking Home Ties

By Max Ehrmann

MAX EHRMANN

This beautiful poem, by the author of "A Prayer," was written after seeing Hovenden's celebrated painting.

It is probably the best piece of writing Mr. Ehrmann has done. A strong helpful poem one can read over and over again with pleasure and benefit. No more fitting gift could be put into the hands of a young man starting out on his life work than this book.

Decorated by Laura A. Humphries and hand colored.

Child's Garden of Verses, A

By Robert Louis Stevenson. Illustrated Edition.

The chief feature of this new edition of Stevenson's child verse is the numerous charming colored illustrations by Bessie Collins Pease. The delicate and captivating work from the pencil and brush of this artist is in strong sympathy with these old favorite verses which continue to delight both young and old.

From "A Child's Garden of Verses."

What are you able to build with your blocks ?
Castles and palaces, temples and docks.
Rain may keep raining, and others go roam,
But I can be happy and building at home.

Chronicles of the Little Tot

By Edmund Vance Cooke

Mr. Cooke needs no introduction to the American Public—much of his child-verse, under the title "Chronicles of the Little Tot," appeared in the Saturday Evening Post and created probably more interest than any other poems that paper has printed. His verses have humor, deep philosphy, and pathos. His child-poems show a deep insight and thorough understanding of child-life and character.

A well-known editor, writing in reference to one of the poems in this book, said:

"I have never reprinted anything during all my public experience that gave me greater satisfaction. I was touched beyond expression by the beauty of the poem. It says with perfect expression, and a proper repression, so that all mere sentimentality is perfectly eliminated—something that, as far as we know, never has been said, but that has certainly been waiting to be said since the first little child to go into the other world went alone on its first journey. I know of nothing better in American literature, and I have never said this before to any writer."

THE MOO-COW-MOO

By Edmund Vance Cooke

My pa held me up to the moo-cow-moo
So clost I could almost touch,
En I fed him a couple of times, or two,
En I wasn't a fraid-cat—much.

But ef my papa goes into the house,
En mamma she goes in, too,
I just keep still, like a little mouse,
Fer the moo-cow-moo might moo!

The moo-cow-moo's got a tail like a rope
En it's raveled down where it grows,
En it's just like feeling a piece of soap
All over the moo-cow's nose.

En the moo-cow-moo has lots of fun
Just swinging his tail about;
En he opens his mouth and then I run—
'Cause that's where the moo comes out!

En the moo-cow-moo's got deers on his head
En his eyes stick out of their place,
En the nose of the moo-cow-moo is spread
All over the end of his face.

En his feet is nothing but finger nails
En his mamma don't keep 'em cut,
En he gives folks milk in water-pails
Ef he don't keep his handles shut

'Cause ef you or me pulls the handles, why
The moo-cow-moo says it hurts,
But the hired man he sits down clost by
En squirts en squirts en squirts!

Cupid's Game With Hearts

A collection of letters and documents telling a most interesting story. Fifteen thousand copies have been sold.

It is planned on original lines. In place of telling a story like the average novel, the story is told by the means of letters and documents. First a letter, written on a sheet of note paper, then a telegram or newspaper clipping is pasted in the center of a page, each telling part of the story till the final conclusion is reached by the clipping from a society newspaper announcing the marriage. The book is daintily bound and fully illustrated with many full-page drawings. This is a holiday book which you should certainly not miss seeing.

Cupid's Proverbs—A Wedding Book

By Albertine Randall Wheelan

THE NEW YORK AMERICAN says:

"In no one work issued by this enterprising publishing house has there been a more happy combination of artistic perfection, illustrating and strengthening interesting text, than is to be found within the beautiful gold stamped white covers of "Cupid's Proverbs; a Wedding Book."

It is impossible to be too enthusiastic in praising the work of the artist, Albertine Randall Wheelan, whose sympathetic drawings illustrate so perfectly the point of each selected proverb, depicting each one in such a new and original manner that it arouses our admiration and awakens a desire to give voice to our sincere appreciation. This is, by long odds, the handsomest wedding book and the most complete one in existence."

It contains forty full page drawings, with many features not contained in other books. Some of the pages are:

- Samples of the gowns
- List of guests
- First "at home"
- Congratulations
- List of presents
- Photographs
- Description of decorations.

In addition to the many pages for writing descriptions and recollections of the Wedding is a series of proverbs beautifully illustrated. It is the most complete wedding book made. Every bride should have one.

Disraeli: Lord Beaconsfield

Centenary Edition. Edited by Lucien Wolf

This edition is essentially biographical, and consists of twelve volumes. In all cases the first editions have been reprinted. Each work is provided with an introduction in which an effort is made to unravel out the circumstances of its composition, and to measure at once the part it played in its author's life, and the part its author himself plays in its story. A few explanatory notes are added at the end, and each novel is equipped with an index, and will contain at least one portrait.

Much of the biographical material is new in the sense that it has never been used or even known before.

Beautiful books for book lovers and their friends

The making of good books is truly a fine art. We have spent much time and money in the production of these little gems of artistic skill. Probably no series of books has been so widely copied as this one; but every imitator cheapened not only the price, but the quality. On the other hand, each year we have improved without raising the price. The bindings are the finest ooze goat skin obtainable, especially imported for our large trade. The title is stamped in gold. Linings are imported from France. Each volume boxed.

For Every Music Lover

By Aubertine Woodward Moore

"The Music Leader and Concert Goer" says: "The volume bearing the above title is one of the best of its kind ever offered to the public. It is exceedingly comprehensive and covers a wide area of subject; and the subject is so deftly handled that there is positive pleasure in every line. Albertine Woodward Moore, the author, is thoroughly master of the situation musically, and knows whereof she writes, so that what she has to tell bears an authoritative stamp. The book is brimful of good things, technically and theoretically it supplies a practical view of the value of music learning and yet with it all the practicality is closely allied with the poetic and temperamental side of musical art. It has a style all its own; well written, the language chosen gracefully, yet absolutely unstilted, there is a charm about the volume which will recommend itself to every music lover."

OF ABSORBING INTEREST

"One is absorbed with interest from the moment the eyes fall upon the opening sentence of the first chapter until the close. No library can well be without this addition to the literature of music."—Wisconsin State Journal.

For My Musical Friend

By Aubertine Woodward Moore

AUBERTINE WOODWARD MOORE

WHAT ONE OF THE LEADING AUTHORITIES STATES

"The author with rare clarity and admirable power of statement, covers a wide field. The piano and piano music is her objective, but she manages to touch on spiritual issues, the purest philosophy of life, and bring to her subject a large and varied experience, true sense of the noblest in art and life, with a sound practical series of observations which prove Mrs. Moore to be a practitioner as well as a theorist. She is a brilliant and scholarly pianist. I have heard her play many times, and always with profit and pleasure."—James Huneker, in the Musical Courier, New York.

WHAT THE "DIAL" SAYS

"The knowledge of technique and mature judgement displayed in the volume promises to bring to it the success enjoyed by the author's work published two years ago. Needless to say, Mrs. Moore is eminently fitted to treat her subject with authority."

"Aside from their literary value, wherein they excel in purity of English and roundness of expression, the books are pre-eminently worth while from the distinctly musical standpoint. Not only to the beginner are they of interest, but also to one who has already discovered the joy of musical culture. To the former they are an inspiration. To the latter, they appeal as a new and delightful friend, full of the suggestions arising from a deeper, truer culture."—Woman's Civic Work,

Mother Stork's Baby Book

By Eugene Field and Others designed and illustrated

By Albertine Randall Wheelan

ALBERTINE RANDALL WHEELAN

Where is the one who does not love a baby? These dear little dimpled cheeks, these wee wee feet and tiny hands, how they appeal to us all and touch a tender chord in our hearts! But Oh! how fast the little tots grow up, and how oft we long for something to call back to us, more sharply than can memory, the look of those bright eyes when first they knew us; the smile that framed those pretty lips; the first words uttered; and all the dear recollections of babyhood.

Mrs. Wheelan and Eugene Field have helped us much in this. With pen and ink Mrs. Wheelan has planned a volume of sketches of rare beauty and left many pages to be filled in by the happy mother and father. Then Eugene Field, that big-hearted lover of children, has given us many poem to touch and charm our sympathies. It is a book every mother will treasure.

Rubáiyát of Omar Khayyám

Oriental Edition

Translated by Edward Fitzgerald, with photographic illustrations by Adelaide Hanscom, together with border designs and decorations.

This edition has been pronounced by critics to be one of the most remarkable examples of photographic art ever presented to the public and is certain to attract wide attention.

"WAKE"
From the Oriental Edition of the Rubáiyát
Copyright, 1905, by Dodge Publishing Co.

Miss Hanscom has had the assistance and advice of Dr. Orlow in arranging costumes. The following well-known poets and writers of the West are among those who have posed as models, lending much to the value of the work by their thoughtful interpretation of the verses: Joaquin Miller, George Wharton James, George Sterling, Professor Charles Keeler.

Tiny Tunes for Tiny People

By Addison Fletcher Andrews
Words by Albert Bigelow Paine and Others

An interesting as well as instructive book for children is the collection of songs which Addison Fletcher Andrews has composed. The music and words are full of charm, and they are all within the limitations of the child voice. They are well calculated to develop a taste for the best in music, and will interest the mother while they instruct the child.

What God Hath (Not) Joined

By Orr Kenyon

This book is one of the strongest stories in recent years, touching as it does on a subject of vital interest to every family in the land, namely, the subject of divorce and re-marriage. At the present time the press, both religious and secular, is teeming with articles on the subject of divorce. Thousands of cases for divorce are pending in our courts. Public interest is keenly awake and all of the people feel the necessity for some reform. The actions of the Episcopal General Convention, Presbyterian General Assembly, M. E. General Conference, and other church bodies show the deep feeling on the divorce question. The subject of divorce is an ever-increasing source of debate in ministers' meetings, among the legal fraternity and women's clubs. Many ministers have refused to re-marry divorced couples. On what grounds do they base their refusal? Are they, or the church bodies and the public, right in the position they take from a moral, legal, and, most important of all, a Biblical standpoint? Judge Coons, one of the leading characters in "What God Hath Not Joined," answers the above questions in a remarkably clear style, combined with much quaint humor which will amuse and interest hundreds of people.

Allen, Grant — Flashlights on Nature

NEW EDITION—UNIFORM WITH "THE LITTLE NATURE LIBRARY"

Size, 6½ x 8¾; pages, 312; illustrations, nearly 150, drawn by Frederick Enock from life under the microscope, besides a photographic frontispiece by J. H. McFarland; binding, green cloth with a photographic inlay . . . . . net, $1.35

A book by the author of "The Story of the Plants," "Evolution of the Idea of God," etc., describing the life histories of our most familiar insects and plants. Mr. Allen was an adept in the art of presenting the facts of science in a real, vivid way that brings out their marvelous nature and intense interest; and this volume will be a revelation to those who have made acquaintance only with the "dry bones" of natural study. The illustrations include more than one hundred drawings by Frederick Enock, who has made his sketches directly from life under the microscope; he has often watched, as Mr. Allen tells us, for twelve hours at a time to intercept a rare chrysalis at its moment of bursting, or for the favorable moment for drawing some unusual characteristic.

Blackwood, Celebrated Tales of

Size, 5¼ x 8; binding, cloth backs, marbled sides; pages, about 250 per volume; 12 volumes; each, $1.00; per set $12.00

These short stories are among the most famous in the world. We have purchased the exclusive American rights from Messrs. Blackwood, and the twelve volumes are the cream of the various sets of volumes issued in the "Tales from Blackwood" series published by that famous Edinburgh house.

Bolles, Albert S. — Home Library of Law

Size, 3¾ x 6½; pages, about 250 per volume; binding, cloth; six volumes . . subscription, $9.00

A book of legal information for the use of every intelligent citizen; full, yet compact, not too technical, but accurate—such is the "Home Library of Law." There are few important steps in life which do not involve the citizen in his relation to the State. These relations are regulated by law, and the citizen who possesses this book will know how to act in any and all cases. Its possession will save him from the frequent mistakes in business, as well as in private life, that arise from ignorance of the law of the land. The contents of the volumes are:

I. The Ownership and Use of Land.
II. The Ownership and Use of Land.
III. The Ownership and Use of Personal Property.
IV. The Ownership and Use of Persona Property.
V. The Pledging of Personal Property and Corporations:
VI. Domestic Relations and Wrongs.

Brainerd, Eleanor Hoyt Concerning Belinda

Size, 5¼ x 8¼; illustrated by Harrison Fisher and Katharine N. Richardson; binding, cloth, decorated . . . . . $1.50†

The many readers who succumbed to the author's adorable "Nancy" will find even greater delight in this sprightly chronicle. From the moment when Belinda, as the youngest teacher in a New York girl's school, loses her twelve charges in the excitement of meeting an old friend at the theatre—to find them after an agonized half-hour lined up on the pavement under twelve dripping umbrellas—one's interest in her career never flags. Mrs. Brainerd has an exceedingly light touch and pleasant humor.

Nancy's Country Christmas

And other stories. Size, 5¼ x 8¼; pages, about 300; binding, cloth, decorated; frontispiece in color by Anna Whelan Betts . . . . . $1.50†

Calendars, The Nature

SERIES I. BIRD NEIGHBORS
SERIES II. WILD FLOWERS

Size, over all, 10 x 14; heavy green mounts, gold stamping, 12 color plates on each; price, each, $1.50

These are ideal calendars for the many thousands of nature lovers whose ranks are growing so rapidly. There is a colored plate of a bird or flower, suitable to the particular season, for each month in the year, together with a description of the species represented. Considered merely from the standpoint of beauty, it would be difficult to find any calendars so attractive, and the special appeal to outdoor people is very strong. Typically American, they are ideal remembrances to send to friends who are abroad.

Capen, Oliver Bronson Country Homes of Famous Americans

INTRODUCTION BY THOMAS WENTWORTH HIGGINSON

Size, 10 x 14; pages, about 200; profusely illustrated from photographs; binding, cloth, with elaborate gold stamping . . . . . net, $5.00

This sumptuous volume takes the reader into the country homes of nearly a score of our most famous men of yesterday. Its historical and personal interest is very great; and it is in addition exceedingly suggestive to everyone who has a country place, since many of these homes are ideal examples of the most beautiful and homelike country places that have been worked out in this country.

Chesnutt, Charles W. — The Colonel's Dream

Size, 5¼ x 8; binding, cloth; pages, 294 . . . . . $1.50†

Mr. Chesnutt tells here the story of a man, born in the South, who has made a fortune in New York, and returns to his old home to live. He speedily finds himself involved in an ever-complicating set of circumstances, owing to the conflict of his feeling toward the Negroes with that of the community; and this culminates in one final dastardly outrage that convinces him he cannot live in the South. The book is singularly temperate in its dealing with these complex questions, but it presents the Negro's side with all the force of quiet reality.

Dickerson, Mary C. — The Frog Book

NORTH AMERICAN FROGS AND TOADS

Size, 7¾ x 10¾; pages, about 400; illustrations, 16 color plates and nearly 300 black and white photographs from life by the author; binding, green cloth. Uniform with "Nature's Garden," etc. . . . . net, $4.00

Miss Dickerson has here written one of the most fascinating nature books it has ever been our good fortune to publish. The frogs and toads have been comparatively neglected in nature study, and the book contains a wealth of original observation and pioneer work, so that it is a real contribution to science. But its chief claim to popular attention is that the author has made the life histories of the common toad and of all the other important species so absorbingly interesting that any reader who dips into the book will wish to keep on. It is an ideal volume in the nature series we have long been issuing—a work of reference which is authoritative and complete, yet full of vital interest and as readable as "nature fiction."

Dixon, Jr., Thomas — The Live Worth Living

Size, 5 x 8; pages, 140; binding, cloth, decorated; illustrations, 32, from photographs by the author . . . . . net, $1.20

This is a personal experience of the author of "The Clansman" and "The Leopard's Spots." He tells how his dream from childhood was of a real home; of his earnest but futile effort to find it in or near New York; how he finally exchanged his "19 feet of baked mud" in the city for a colonial mansion in Tidewater, Virginia. The life here amid his own broad acres, with the primeval forest on one side and the inexhaustible wild and water life of Chesapeake Bay on the other, is described in a way which makes the reader feel all its delights. And the final chapter, in which the author makes a "confession," gives the volume a unique place among "back to the soil" literature.

CONTENTS

I. Dreams and Disillusion.
II. In Old Tidewater Virginia.
III. Beside Beautiful Waters.
IV. The Music of the Seasons.
V. The Fellowship of Dogs.
VI. Some Sins of Nature.
VII. The Shouts of Children.

Farm Library, The

We have planned for years a library which should do for the farmer what the NATURE LIBRARY does for the student and lover of nature. The first volume will be ready, probably, in the spring of 1906, and others are expected to follow at the rate of two or three a year. We have tried in this library to take advantage of the wealth of special knowledge, which has revolutionized agriculture in the last few decades. It is beginning for the first time to be an exact, not a haphazard, science. Here every farmer, every man who has a country place, every person who has anything to do with the soil, will find an interesting, readable, practical, specific guide to the whole subject. The volumes will be approximately as follows:

I. THE SOIL: How to handle and improve it, by S. W. Fletcher. Over 100 photographs. Ready shortly. Net, $2.00.
II. FARM ANIMALS: Cow, Horse, Sheep, Swine.
III. FARM EQUIPMENT: Houses, Barns, Tools and Planning Home Grounds.
IV. to VI. FIELD CROPS: Cereals, Forage Crops, Fibre Crops—Tobacco, and so on.
VII. SPECIAL INDUSTRIES.
VIII. FARMING AS A BUSINESS. Accounts, Law.
IX. FRUITS AND VEGETABLES. The Farm Home.

Garden Library, The

Size, 5¼ x 8; pages, about 200; binding, cloth; illustrated . . . . per volume, net, $1.00

This new series of "little monographs" marks a new era in garden literature. It is the first series of low-priced, practical handbooks on home gardening with beautiful illustrations that has ever appeared in America. The volumes will cover every important department of fruit, vegetable, and flower growing from the home point of view, and will be written in fresh, crisp, lively style.

READY ABOUT NOVEMBER

Volume II. Ferns and How to Grow Them, by G. A. Woolson

This is one of the practical cultural handbooks of the GARDEN LIBRARY, uniform with "Roses and How to Grow Them." It deals especially with the growing of hardy ferns both in the garden and indoors. The details of management are told plainly and concisely, and the many varied uses to which growing ferns can be put, as permanent garden plants are specifically treated. It is written by one who really knows the ferns as garden subjects, and conveys the results of years of practical cultivation. Suggestive planting lists of ferns for special purposes (alone, and in combination with other plants) are given. The abundant illustrations are from original photographs by the author, and others.

George, Henry, Jr. — The Life of Henry George

NEW EDITION

Size, 5 x 8; pages, 634; illustrations, 8; binding, cloth . . . . . net, $1.00

Seldom has a biographer enjoyed such unusual advantages as has Mr. George in writing the life of the author of "Progress and Poverty." His father's journals and unpublished autobiographic writings were extremely full; and he himself was intimately associated with his work. He tells the remarkable story of Henry George's life; his boyhood and life at sea, during which his character began to take shape; his fierce struggle with poverty in the California days when he realized to the utmost the condition of those unfortunate multitudes whose spokesman he was to be; the writing and publication of the book with which he first electrified the country; and then the full life of authorship, lecturing, and politics which taxed his great energies to the utmost till his sudden death during the mayoralty campaign of 1897. It is a strong, dignified, and impressive record of one of the most extraordinary men our country has produced.

Goodwin, Maud Wilder — Claims and Counterclaims

Size, 5½ x 8; binding, cloth, decorated; pages, about 400 . . . . $1.50†

Mrs. Goodwin has here written the story of a strong man's problem in a case of divided duty. A young doctor in the West has had his life saved by a casual acquaintance at great risk, and in his gratitude he has vowed to return the obligation at whatever cost, should the chance ever arise. The friend thus thrust into his life turns out to be an unprincipled scapegrace and falls desperately in love with the woman whom the hero himself cares for. The latter finds himself presently confronted by the girl's father, who wishes to know if this friend is really the sort of man to marry his daughter; and his meeting of this trying situation forms the climax of an exceedingly strong novel. Mrs. Goodwin writes with real distinction; her characters are real people; she portrays life with true feeling yet restraint; and this novel will strengthen the literary position she has won in the last ten years.

Haggard, H. Rider — Ayesha

THE RETURN OF "SHE"

Size, 5½ x 8¼; pages, 359; binding, cloth; illustrated by Greiffenhagen . . . $1.50†

The author remarks that this is not a sequel to "She," but a conclusion to that imaginative tragedy. It carries the narrator, Ludwig Horace Holly, and his ward, Leo Vincey, through a series of hair-raising adventures in the mountains of Central Asia in quest of the ever-elusive re-incarnated queen. How their route to her was blocked by the jealousy of a rival princess, how they conquered difficulties, natural and supernatural alike, and reached the goal they sought is described by Mr. Haggard with all of his old-time vigor. Readers who crave fiction that will remove them many leagues away from this workaday world and thrill them from cover to cover, will make no mistake in trying "Ayesha."

Holtzoper, E. C. — The Country House

A COMPLETE MANUAL OF HOUSE BUILDING IN THE COUNTRY

Size, 8 x 10½; pages, about 400; illustrations, over 300 photographs and plans; binding, cloth, decorated . . . . . net, $3.00

How and where to build his home is a problem that confronts nearly every American at some time during his life. To the satisfactory answering of this important question this volume seeks to contribute. The problems involved in the building of a house are many. There are not only the questions of site, or of cost, but the further problems of uniting comfort with beauty, and both with reasonable expenditure. All these subjects are discussed in detail and competently, yet without technicalities. The volume gives special advice on the site, planning and building of the house; on its outside finish, the style of doors, windows and fireplaces; on plumbing, heating, lighting and ventilation, water supply and drainage, and the style, size, and equipment of every room. A chapter of specimen contracts and specifications is added.

Irving, Washington — Rip Van Winkle

ELABORATE HOLIDAY EDITION, WITH COLORED ILLUSTRATIONS BY ARTHUR RACKHAM, A.R.W.S.

Size, 10 x 12; pages, about 100; binding, cloth, decorated; illustrations, 50 in full color, net, $5.00

These drawings of Mr. Arthur Rackham have created a furore during their recent exhibition at the Leicester Galleries in London, and for their publication in book form "an unprecedented success" has been predicted. To the pictorial interpretation of the most inimitable of American classics, Mr. Rackham has not only brought faultless technique, but a richly humorous imagination and "a unique power of quaint invention which is equally strong in its appeal to child and adult. He has created a whole world of quaint, grotesque, and even gruesome witches, gnomes, and goblins, the horror of whose appearance is, however, counteracted by an irresistible vein of humor." Mr. Rackham has caught the very spirit of "Rip Van Winkle," and has interpreted anew all its "old-fashioned grace and elfin playfulness."

Jacob, Violet — The Golden Heart

Size, 6 x 8; pages, about 300; binding, cloth, elaborately decorated; illustrated by May Sandheim . . . . . net, $1.25

The author of "The Interloper" has written here a volume of fairy tales which shares the same story-telling faculty and admirable literary workmanship that characterized her successful novels and which have had immediate recognition in England. The tables give a hint of the book's quality:

CONTENTS

HUNGARIAN EDITION

Six volumes, each 5 x 7½; pages, about 375; binding, cloth, decorated. Price per volume, $1.25
The set of six volumes, boxed $7.50

These six volumes represent perhaps the best work of Hungary's famous novelist, who must eventually take rank as one of the world's great romancers. For boundless fertility of imagination, for rapid movement and dramatic situation, for fiery patriotism and intimate knowledge of every class of his countrymen, from prince to peasant, and in that elusive quality which can only be called the story-telling faculty—it would be hard to find any modern author who is Jókai's superior.

AN ACCOUNT OF COLONEL YOUNGHUSBAND'S EXPEDITION TO LHASA

Size, 6 x 9¼; binding, cloth, decorated; pages, about 500; illustrated profusely from a remarkable series of photographs, maps and sketches . . . . net, $3.80

For a brief time only the curtain of secrecy and mystery was lifted from the sacred city of Lhasa, when Colonel Younghusband entered it. Mr. Landon, the correspondent of the London Times, who accompanied Colonel Younghusband, has written the whole story of the expedition through Tibet—a wonderful journey in itself through a hitherto unknown land—and of the experience of the English soldiers in the Forbidden City. It is the first authentic account of Lhasa, and the dramatic story and excellent description are made more vivid by a series of wonderful photographs. The book is the standard work on Tibet—its history, folk-lore, manners, and the present anomalous political relations.

Lancaster, G. B. Sons o' Men

Size, 5¼ x 8; pages, 299; binding, cloth . . . . . $1.50†

Not since Mr. Kipling's first tales electrified the world, do we remember so startling a volume of stories by an unknown writer as this. They are tales of the New Zealand sheep shearers and cattlemen, full of the zest of life's hardships, strong with the strength of rough men who obey because the command is given by a better man, full of the terror of the wilderness solitude. The critics who are wont to complain that our modern literature is becoming effeminate and sentimentalized should find an answer in this breezy, vigorous, absorbing volume.

Size, 4 x 6; pages, about 200 per volume; binding, cloth; price per volume . . . net, $ .75
The set of six books . . . . . net, 4.50

Dr. van Dyke has for years had in mind the preparation of a poetical anthology and he has brought to the selection of these best shorter poems a special study in addition to his fine critical judgment. We think it is not too much to say that these six volumes represent more perfectly than anything in print the best shorter poems in the English language—and it is of course the shorter poems which live in the mind and heart. The volumes are:

I. BALLADS OLD AND NEW. Love, Fairyland, Sea, War, Death and Sorrow.
II. IDYLLS AND STORIES IN VERSE. Idylls, Legends and Allegories, Short Epics and Tales, Short Stories in Verse.
III. LYRICS. Songs of Nature, Love Songs, Songs of Patriotism, Life's Pilgrimage.
IV. ODES, SONNETS AND EPIGRAMS.
V. DESCRIPTIVE AND REFLECTIVE VERSE. Nature People, Character, Philosophy.
VI. ELEGIES AND HYMNS. Death, Faith

Lyle, Eugene P., Jr. — The Missourian

Size, 5¼ x 8; illustrated; binding, cloth, decorated; pages about 500 . . . $1.50†

A fine, moving, dramatic love story which centres about a charming French girl, intriguing on behalf of Louis Napoleon at the Court of Maximilian in Mexico, and a Confederate officer, on his way to the same court to offer the harassed Hapsburg the swords of his comrades under Joe Shelby, who could not accept Lee's surrender as final. This young Southerner, Din Driscoll, is a fine creation, one of the most typical and pleasing portraits in print of the American from south of Mason's and Dixon's line. Mr. Lyle is well known as a forceful magazine writer, and this first book should give him a reputation.

Mahler, Dr. Arthur Paintings of the Louvre

In collaboration with Carlos Blacker and William A. Slater

A COMPLETE HANDBOOK TO THE SPANISH AND ITALIAN SECTIONS

Size, 5 x 7½; pages, 303; binding, cloth; illustrations, 166 . . . . net, $2.00

So rich is the Louvre in masterpieces of the painters of southern Europe that this volume is little less than a history of Italian pictorial art. Dr. Mahler, a well-known authority, follows the works of the Italian painters in the Louvre in historical order—from the early workers in the Byzantine manner to the full glory of Renaissance art. Thorough discussion and ample illustration are given to such varied masters as Fra Angelico and Botticelli, Leonardo and Raphael, Titian and Tintoretto, Veronese and Correggio. The chapter on the Spanish school is, of course, largely devoted to Velasquez and Murillo. As guides to the knowledge and appreciation of Spanish and Italian art, in its most accessible treasury, the text and illustrations of this volume will be found invaluable. It contains as an appendix the only complete and up-to-date list of all the Spanish and Italian paintings in the Louvre.

Müller, Max Life and Religion

Size, 5½ x 8; pages, about 350; binding, cloth . . . . net, $1.50

This is a book which every reader will want to own for himself. It contains the essence of Max Müller's published and unpublished writings on these two great ideas, and it is most stimulating. The author knew the religions of the world perhaps better than any other one man of our time, and he has in the new portions of this work flashes of insight into the great problems of human existence which will surprise his many admirers.

Nugent, Meredith New Games and Amusements

Size, 5¾ x 8¼; pages, about 300; very fully illustrated; binding, cloth, decorated . . . net, $1.50

A book of the new games and amusements invented especially for children by the author and Victor J. Smedley. It contains all their wonderful soap-bubble tricks which attracted such general attention throughout the country, as well as the recipe used by them for producing giant bubbles lasting from five to ten minutes! It tells how to sail yacht races in the clouds, how to make sunshine engines, how to have a circus on a kite string, how to make toys for the seashore, how to make locomotives, automobiles, tops, merry-go-rounds, egg-shell clowns, and ever so many other things fully as novel. Never before has a book of this kind been gotten up for the children. It is not a compilation of old ideas such as they have been fed on from time immemorial, but a twentieth-century book, with twentieth-century ideas, for twentieth-century wide-awake American boys and girls. The book is profusely illustrated with effective and practical drawings made by the inventors themselves.

Publisher's Confession, A

Size, 5 x 7½; pages, 183; binding, Japanese crash, with gray basket-cloth back net, $ .60

Under this head an anonymous writer has put into a little book more information about the profession of authorship, of publishing and of kindred subjects than has ever, in our opinion, been printed before. The chapters are:

I. The ruinous policy of large royalties.
II. Why "bad" novels succeed and "good" ones fail.
III. Are authors an irritable tribe?
IV. Has publishing become commercialized?
V. Has the unknown author a chance?
VI. The printers who issue books at the authors' expense.
VII. The advertising of books still experimental VIII. The story of a book from author to reader.
IX. The present limits of the book market.
X. Plain words to authors and publishers.

READY EARLY IN 1906

Size, 5¼ x 8; pages, about 350; binding, cloth, decorated; illustrated . . . . . $1.50†

The philosophy of this village oracle is somewhere between that of "David Harum" and "Old Gorgon Graham," but it has humor and literary quality all its own. The anecdotes are original, the observations shrewd and homely—the whole book is a mental bracer to the pessimistic spectator on human affairs. A collection of epigrams culled from Old Lim's deliverances on politics, gambling, women reformers, horse traders, first love, lawyers, cock fights, rebels, Yankees and so on, would keep an after-dinner speaker well supplied for many a day. "Old Lim Jucklin" is a character worthy of a foremost place in the world's gallery of humorists, and the sale of more than 500,000 copies of the author's "The Jucklins" shows the public he has.

Rogers, Julia E. The Tree Book

A MANUAL OF HOW TO KNOW, USE AND GROW NORTH AMERICAN TREES

Size, 7¾ x 10¾; pages, about 500; binding, green cloth; illustrations, 16 color plates and nearly 350 photographs, by A. R. Dugmore . . . . . net, $4.00

This book is the only work in existence which enables a novice to identify the trees and also covers the vast subjects of the uses of trees and how to grow and care for them. It combines in a most unusual way the practical with the imaginative point of view. It is a thoroughly useful, accurate, exhaustive manual, but it is written by one whose interest in trees is guided and increased by love. The preservation of our forests, the planting of new forests to replace those so ruthlessly destroyed, the part that every landowner can take in this process, and the best methods of taking his part competently—such are among the chief questions discussed fully. The illustrations have been photographed by Mr. Dugmore during a period of two years, and they form the most complete, beautiful and helpful series ever made of important details as well as complete trees. The bark, the leaf, the flower, the fruit, the winter bud—all the distinguishing features, have been thus portrayed with photographic exactness.

Sheldon, Anna R., and Newell, M. Moyca The Medici Balls

Size, 7 x 9; pages, 237; binding, cloth, decorated; illustrations, over 100, from photographs; in handsome box . . . . . net, $3.50

A record of seven little journeys in Tuscany. The authors depart somewhat from the beaten track of the tourist, leaving the larger cities, and traveling by tram-car or steam and "diligence" to the outlying hills and valleys, picturesque in themselves, and filled with objects of historic and artistic interest. The book is very attractive in appearance, and the photographs, many of which were taken by Miss Newell, add greatly to its value.

Silberrad, U. L. Curayl

READY ABOUT MARCH, 1906

Size, 5½ x 8; pages, about 350; binding, cloth . . . . . $1.50†

The story of a proud woman, the last of an ancient line, who has been virtually sold through a marriage of convenience by her spendthrift father to a wealthy husband. The storm and stress through which she finds her true self and her winning of happiness from this gloomy state are told with Miss Silberrad's usual directness, power, and feeling; and this latest heroine is as individual as "Judith" or "Petronilla" or the half-dozen other notable women's figures she has added to fiction.

Mrs. Taylor's whole life has been passed among people of distinction. The daughter of Hansen, the noted mathematician and astronomer, and the wife of the translator of "Faust" and one of the foremost literary figures in his day, she could hardly have failed to accumulate reminiscences of striking value and interest. She describes vividly the life of a German girl during the first half of the last century, her meeting with Bayard Taylor and their wedding, the arrival in America, the delightful home at "Cedarcroft," the St. Petersburg Embassy, and so on. Many famous figures appear in these recollections of over half a century: the Brownings, Thackeray, the Stoddards, George William Curtis, Boker, Aldrich, the Warner and Carey sisters, Horace Greeley, Bryant, Stedman, Swinburne, Freytag, Bismarck, General Grant, and so on; and the book naturally contains the most intimate picture yet published of Bayard Taylor and his work.

Warner, George H. — The Jewish Spectre

Size, 5¼ x 8; binding, cloth; pages, about 350 . . . . . net, $1.50

This is an extraordinary book, which will undoubtedly have a real and permanent influence on public opinion. It is a brilliant study of the Jew of history and of to-day. The author shows convincingly that the rest of the world has built up a wholly imaginary "spectre" which it has labeled the Jew, and which one generation has passed on with additions to the next. What the Jew really was and is, his contribution to civilization, and the larger idea of universal brotherhood ("the human being's the thing") which Mr. Warner holds is the basis of true religion—these ideas are advanced with a surprising clearness, humor and effectiveness. Three distinguished critics known throughout the United States (one throughout the world), read the manuscript and expressed their astonishment at the book's power and meaning.

Watson, James — The Dog Book

Size, 7½ x 10; elaborately illustrated; to be in 10 parts, each of about 80 pages; price, per part, bound in heavy paper . . . . . subscription, $1.10
Complete, cloth, ... subscription, $12.00
Complete, one-half leather . . . . . subscription, $16.00

Mr. Watson has been a dog-breeder and student for thirty or forty years, both here and in England. This long experience, both as a judge at shows and as a practical fancier, has been supplemented by exhaustive research; in consequence, his book is really the first adequate treatment of the dog in America. It is full of practical information as to buying and breeding dogs, their care, diseases, and the like. Then each separate breed is taken up and described at length; how it originated, what its special qualities are, the points of a perfect specimen, and its value. The tremendous increase of interest in dogs and canine matters during recent years is well shown by the number and prosperity of the Kennel

Watson, James (Continued) The Dog Book

Associations, and this work will, beyond question, be the standard on the subject. It is the only volume here or in England in which the possibilities of photographic illustrations for dog portraits and animals in motion have been made use of.

Wright, Mrs. D. Giraud A Southern Girl in '61

Size, 6 x 9¼; pages, 250; illustrations, 32, from old photographs; binding, cloth, decorated; uniform with "A Belle of the Fifties" . . . . . net, $2.75

This charming and spirited narrative, alive with the intense individuality of its authoress, throws new light upon the social history of the Confederacy. Mrs. Wright, the daughter of Senator Wigfall of Texas, was in close contact with many of the Southern statesmen and generals, with Davis and Benjamin, Johnston and Wood. But it is rather by a revelation of the more intimately human aspect of the great and tragic events amid which her girlhood was passed that Mrs. Wright's memoirs will arouse enduring interest. Such books, it may be added, have a more than literary value, for they enshrine the spirit of an age and country.

DOUBLEDAY PAGE & CO NEW YORK

Three Beautiful and Indispensable Magazines

The World's Work

The inspiration of the active world

Edited by WALTER H. PAGE

In THE WORLD'S WORK the important things the world is doing are told while they are new.—The magazine has freshness.

The important men who are doing things are described in action.—The magazine has human interest.

A striking feature is the number and excellence of the illustrations
Price, 25 cents a copy; $3.00 a year

The Garden Magazine

The Comprehensive Gardening Periodical and Monthly Reminder

Twenty-five departments cover all branches of flower, tree, shrub, and vegetable gardening and point out the things to be done during the month; it is delivered to subscribers two weeks before the first of the month—in ample time to have work well in hand. Altogether it is a magazine of general interest for people who love to grow things

The illustrations are practical and are superbly printed throughout
Price, 10 cents a copy; $1.00 a year

"Ought to make every city reader emigrate to the country."—New York Sun.

Country Life in America

This is the most beautiful magazine published. Its illustrations have set a new art standard for American publications. The articles not only cover, in a thoroughly practical way, every subject that pertains to life in the country and the outdoors, but they are also delightful and inspiring. Some of the subjects are:

The Country Home	Outdoor Sports	Woodcraft
Agriculture	Horticulture	Greenhouses
Nature Study	Floriculture	How to Make a Garden
Poultry	Farming	Travis on Golf
Horse-Breeding	House-Building	The Family Cow

Price, $3.00 a year. Single numbers, 25 cents a copy. Three double numbers during year (included in yearly subscriptions), 50 cents each.

February 1, 1906, the price will be raised to $4.00; 35 cents a copy

GROVE (Dr. George). Beethoven's Nine Symphonies. With illustrations from the Scores.

These analytical essays, by one of the most eminent musical authorities, are sufficiently technical to be of great value to the student of music; while at the same time they are popular enough to be intelligible and useful to the general reader. Carefully read over once or twice, with the illustrated passages played on the piano or violin, they form the best possible introduction to the music itself. The Analyses are published separately, in neat pamphlet form, as follows: —

——— Beethoven's First Symphony. Paper, 15 cents.

Books Marked * Are Special

Abel, Sir Frederick A.—MINING ACCIDENTS AND THEIR PREVENTION.
8vo. Cloth, Price, $4.00.

Beck, R.—NATURE OF ORE DEPOSITS (Translated by W. H. Weed).
Two Vols., 8vo. Cloth, Price, $8.00.

*Behr, H. C.—WINDING PLANTS FOR GREAT DEPTHS.
8vo. Half Morocco, Price, $12.50.

Bosqui, Francis L.—PRACTICAL NOTES ON THE CYANIDE PROCESS.
8vo. Cloth, Profusely Illustrated, Price, $2.50.

Bullman, C.—MINING LAWS OF THE REPUBLIC OF COLOMBIA.
8vo. Cloth, Price, $1.50.

Campbell, H. H.—MANUFACTURE AND PROPERTIES OF IRON AND STEEL.
8vo. Cloth, Profusely Illustrated, Price, $5.00.

*Charleton, A. G.—REPORT BOOK FOR MINING ENGINEERS.
Leather Binding, Oblong, Price, $2.00.

*CHEMICAL AND METALLURGICAL SOCIETY OF SOUTH AFRICA, PROCEEDINGS OF (1897-1899).
8vo. Cloth, Price, $6.00.

Clennell, J. C.—CHEMISTRY OF CYANIDE SOLUTIONS RESULTING FROM THE TREATMENT OF ORES.
Small Quarto, Cloth, Price, $2.50.

*Curle, J. H.—GOLD MINES OF THE WORLD.
A book beautifully illustrated and delightfully written.
Royal Quarto, Cloth, Price, $3.50.

*Foster, C. LeNeve—ELEMENTS OF MINING AND QUARRYING.
Crown 8vo. Cloth, Price, $2.50.

Hixon, H. W.—NOTES ON LEAD AND COPPER SMELTING AND COPPER CONVERTING.
8vo. Cloth, Profusely Illustrated, Price, $3.00.

Hofman, H. O.—THE METALLURGY OF LEAD and the Desilverization of Base Bullion.
8vo. Cloth, Price, $6.00.

Holibaugh, John R.—THE LEAD AND ZINC MINING INDUSTRY of Missouri and Kansas.
8vo. Flexible Cloth, Price, 50 cents.

Howe, Henry M.—THE METALLURGY OF STEEL.
Elaborately illustrated with working drawings.
Royal Quarto, Cloth, Illustrated, Price, $10.00.

Hunt, Thomas Sterry—SYSTEMATIC MINERALOGY.
Based on a Natural Classification.
8vo. Cloth, Price, $5.00.

Hunt, Thomas Sterry—CHEMICAL AND GEOLOGICAL ESSAYS.
8vo. Cloth, Price, $2.50.

Hunt, Thomas Sterry—A NEW BASIS FOR CHEMISTRY.
A Chemical Philosophy.
12mo. Cloth, Price, $2.00.

Ingalls, W. R.—PRODUCTION AND PROPERTIES OF ZINC.
8vo. Cloth, Price, $3.00.

Ingalls, W. R.—THE METALLURGY OF ZINC AND CADMIUM.
8vo. Cloth, Price, $6.00.

*James, Alfred—CYANIDE PRACTICE.
Royal Quarto, Cloth, Price, $5.00.

Kemp, James F.—ORE DEPOSITS OF THE UNITED STATES AND CANADA
Revised and Enlarged.
8vo. Cloth, Illustrated, Price, $5.00.

Lang, Herbert—MATTE SMELTING.
Its Principles and Later Developments, with an account of the Pyritic Processes
8vo. Cloth, Price, $2.00.

*Louis, H. and Caunt, G. W.—TRAVERSE TABLES.
With an Introductory Chapter on Co-ordinate Surveying.
Thin 8vo. Cloth, Price, $2.00.

*McNeill, Bedford—MINING AND GENERAL TELEGRAPHIC CODE.
8vo. Cloth, Price, $6.00.

*McNeill, Bedford—TERMINAL INDEX.
For use with the above code.
8vo Cloth, Price, $2.50.

Miller, John A.—AN OUTLINE OF QUALITATIVE ANALYSIS.
8vo. Cloth, Price, $1.50.

Peters, Edward Dyer, Jr.—MODERN COPPER SMELTING.
Profusely Illustrated with Working Drawings.
8vo. Cloth, Price, $5.00.

Richards, R. H.—ORE DRESSING.
With Numerous Illustrations and Working Drawings. Two Volumes.
8vo. Cloth, Price, $10.00.

Rickard, T. A.—STAMP MILLING OF GOLD ORES
Giving a careful description of the Milling Practice of Gold Mining Districts, with special chapters on the erection and management of mills, etc.
8vo. Cloth, Price, $2.50.

Rickard, T. A. (Editor)—ORE DEPOSITS.
A discussion republished from The Engineering and Mining Journal, on the Origin of Ores, by the ablest experts on the subject.
8vo. Cloth, Price, $1.00.

Rickard, T. A.—SAMPLING AND ESTIMATION OF ORE IN A MINE.
8vo. Cloth, Price, $2.00.

Rickard, T. A.—ACROSS THE SAN JUAN MOUNTAINS.
Small Quarto, Cloth, Price, $1.00.

Rickard, T. A.—COPPER MINES OF LAKE SUPERIOR
8vo. Cloth, Price, $1.00.

Rickard, T. A. (Editor)—PYRITE SMELTING.
A discussion by eminent international experts.
8vo. Cloth, Price, $2.00.

Rickard, T. A. (Editor)—THE ECONOMICS OF MINING.
8vo. Cloth, Price, $2.00.

Spurr, J. E.—GEOLOGY AS APPLIED TO MINING.
12mo. Library Cloth, $1.50; 16mo. Flexible Morocco (pocket size), $2.00.

Stretch, R. H.—PROSPECTING, LOCATING AND VALUING MINES.
12mo. Library Cloth, $2.00; 16mo. Flexible Morocco (pocket size), $2.50.

An Authoritative Encyclopedia of Mining and Metallurgy.

BAKER, M. N., "British Sewage Works" —Distance by timing—Method of preliminaries—and Notes on the Sewage Farms of Paris and on Two German Works; and Definitions or Brief Descriptions of Typical Processes of Sewage Treatment. Contents: Chapter I.—Introduction. PART I.—Works Employing Contact Beds for Final Treatment. Chapter II.—The Sewage Works at Sutton, Surrey, and the First Double Contact Beds. Chapter III.—Closed Septic Tanks, Single Contact Beds and Land Treatment at Exeter. Chapter IV.—Grit Chambers, Septic Tanks, Contact Beds, Aerating Pool and Land Treatment at Yeovil. Chapter V.—Closed Septic Tanks, Glass-Covered Aerating Channel and Single Contact Beds at Barrhead, Scotland. Chapter VI.—The New Sewage Works at Manchester. Chapter VII.—Sedimentation and Single Contact at Oldham. Chapter VIII.—Sedimentation, Septic Tanks and Double Contact Beds at Burnley. Chapter IX.—The Rochdale Pail System and Sanitary Manure Works, Refuse Destructors and Sewage Works. Chapter X.—A Hydrolytic Tank under Construction as a Preliminary to Old Triple Contact Beds at Hampton, Middlesex. Chapter XI.—Chemical Precipitation, Sludge Removal by Siphonage, Contact Beds and Land Treatment at Chadderton. Chapter XII.—Grit Chambers, Contact Beds Followed by Intermittent Filters, with Land for Storm Flow at Aldershot. PART II.—Works Employing Percolating Filters for Final Treatment. Chapter XIII.—The Change at Birmingham from Chemical Precipitation and Sewage Farming to an Elaborate System of So-called Bacterial Treatment. Chapter XIV.—Chemical Precipitation with Sludge Disposal at Sea, Roughing Filters and Percolating Filters with Spray Nozzle Distributors at Salford. Chapter XV.—Septic Tanks and Percolating Filters with Revolving Sprinklers for Accrington and Church. Chapter XVI.—Chemical Precipitation and Various Experiments, Many on a Large Scale, with Septic Tanks, Continuous Percolating Filters and Other Systems at York. Chapter XVII.—Septic Tanks, Percolating Filters and Rapid Secondary Filters at Salisbury. PART III.—Sewage Farms. Chapter XVIII.—The Reading, Sandhurst Military Schools and Aldershot Camp Sewage Farms. Chapter XIX.—The Great Sewage Farm of Nottingham. Chapter XX.—The Leicester Sewage Farm and the Proposed Supplementary Works. PART IV.—Chemical Precipitation Works. Chapter XXI.—Chemical Precipitation and the Proposed Septic Tanks and Contact Beds for London. Chapter XXII.—Chemical Precipitation at Glasgow. Chapter XXIII.—Chemical Precipitation and Divers Experimental Installations at Leeds. APPENDIX I.—Notes on a Sewage Settling and Screening Plant at Wiesbaden, Settling Tanks at Frankfort-on-Main and the Sewage Farms of Paris. APPENDIX II.—Definitions or Brief Descriptions of Typical Processes of Sewage Treatment. Cloth; 6 × 9 ins.; 150 pp.....$2.00

BAKER, M. N., "Municipal Year Book." First issue 1902; giving the population, assessed valuation, principal officials and ownership of public utilities; also information regarding the water supply, sewerage, street cleaning, street sprinkling garbage, fire and underground electric service in all incorporated places in the United States, and in all New England towns of 3,000 population and upwards by the census of 1900. With summaries and editorial discussion. The information contained in this work is based on special reports filled in and signed in all cases by leading municipal officials such as the mayors, city clerks, city engineers, and superintendents of city departments. After being edited and typewritten the matter was again sent out for revision and correction, and is complete to March, 1902. Preceding the main body of the work is an introduction by the Editor containing lists and summaries showing the present standing of all cities in respect to such public services as water supply, sewerage, garbage disposal, gas and electric lighting, fire protection, telephones, street railways, ferries, central heating stations. A unique feature of this introduction is a tabular exhibit indicating the ownership (whether municipal or private) of all such public utilities. Cloth, 6 × 9 ins., 350 pp.....$3.00

"Manual of American Water-Works" (1897 edition). Giving the history, source and mode of supply, purification plants, pumps, reservoirs, stand-pipes, distribution systems, pressures, consumption, revenue and expenses, cost, debt, sinking fund, and officials of the water-works of the United States and Canada, up to 1897. Cloth. 6 × 9 ins.; 700 pp. 3.00

BASSELL, BURR, "Earth Dams." A Study. CONTENTS. Chapter I.—Introduction. Chapter II.—Preliminary Studies and Investigations. Chapter III.—Outline Study of Soils, Puddle. Chapter IV.—The Tabeaud Dam, California. Chapter V.—Different Types of Earth Dams. Chapter VI.—Conclusions. Appendix I.—Statistical Descriptions of High Earth Dams. Appendix II.—Works of Reference. Cloth; 6 × 9 ins.; pp. 68; 31 illustrations..... 1.00

BAUMEISTER, Prof. R., "Cleaning and Sewerage of Cities." Contents: Introductory. Part I.—Sewerage—General Principles Carrying or Waste Water, Rain Water, Character of Waste and Rain Water and Sewage, Shape and Material of Sewers, Calculation of Sewers Special Details of Construction, Catch-Basins, Flushing Ventilation, Effects of Subsoil Water, The Separate System, Cost of Work. Part II.—The Purification of Sewage—Pollution of Rivers, Chemical Precipitation, Precipitating Tanks Results and Cost of Purification, Aëration, Filtration, Irrigation, Results and Cost of Irrigation. Part III.—General Municipal and Domestic Sanitation—The Sanitary Problem. General Principles, The Use of Gutters, Quantity and Character of Refuse, Implements for Street Cleaning, Removal of the Rubbish, Miscellaneous Regulations Concerning Streets, Quantity and Characteristics of Excrement, Removal of Excrement, Removal Through Pneumatic Tubes. Financial Consideration, Special Treatment of Excremental Matter, Separation of Excremental Matter, Disinfection, American Practice in Street Cleaning and Sewerage, Diagrams of Hydraulic Formulas. Appendix to Revised Edition Index. Cloth, 6 × 9½ ins.; 290 pp.; fully illustrated.... 2.00

BEAHAN, WILLARD, "Field Practice of Railway Location." Contents: Chapter I.—Character of the Road (Types of systems—Effect of monopoly—The charter—New main lines—Traffic—Cost of construction—Extension of main lines—Cutoffs—Branch lines—Summary). Chapter II.—Reconnaissance for Route (Instruments—Distances by timing—Method of preliminaries—Errors of observation—Laws of Topography—Valley versus ridge location—Traffic—Depot sites—Crossing drainage—Passes—Canyons—Developing—Loops — Tunnels — Switchbacks — Inclines — Field notes—Reports). Chapter III.—Organization, Subsistence and Equipment of Parties (Chief of party—Topographer—Transitman—Draftsman — Levelman—Head chainman—Rodman—Cook—Teamster — Rear chainman — Front axman — Stakemen — Axmen — Teamsters — Rear flagman—Extra men and horses—Equipment — Instruments — Outfit — Food supplies). Chapter IV.—Preliminary Survey (In easy country—In rough country—Reconnaissance for line—Transit work—Chaining—Station Stakes—Hubs—Transit notes—Topography—Leveling—Drafting—The profile—Openings). Chapter V.—Geology in its Relation to Topography (Origin of different kinds of rocks—Internal changes in rocks—Structural changes in rocks—Topographical relief—Constructive agencies—Destructive agencies—Atmospheric agencies—Forms produced by destructive agencies). Chapter VI.—The Locomotive (Types—The boiler—Engine rating—The tripod support—Equalizing bars).

Chapter VII.—Part I. Train Resistances (Friction—Resistances—Curvature—Costs—The virtual profile—Right of way—Bridging—Grading—Falsework—Minor openings, &c.). Part II.—The Located Line (Locating from one preliminary—Topography—Platting — Transportation — Maximum grades—Adapting grades—Final considerations). Chapter VIII.—Notes, Records and Cost of Surveys (Character of records and notes—Use of maps and records—Reconnaissance records—Preliminary survey records—Location records—Form of notes—Note books—Scale of profile and maps—Cost of surveys). 6 × 9 ins.; 260 + X. pp.; 43 Illustrations and 7 Plates.... 3.00

BUEL, A. W., and HILL, CHAS. S., "Reinforced Concrete." Contains chapters on Properties and Economic Use of Concrete; Methods of Calculating Reinforced Concrete Beams; Methods of Calculating Columns; Methods of Calculating Tanks, Dams, Retaining Walls and Conduits; Tests and Calculations for Arches; Representative Examples of Foundations; Buildings; Bridges and Culverts; Tanks and Reservoirs; Aqueducts and Sewers; Retaining Walls, Chimneys, Dams, Tunnels; Materials and Workmanship; for Foundations; for Buildings; for Bridges and Culverts; for Conduits; Facing and finishing Exposed Concrete Surfaces. Cloth; 6 × 9 ins.; about 434 pp.; 311 Illustrations and 5 Folding Plates 5.00

COOPER, THEODORE, "American Railroad Bridges." Although the contents of this book were originally presented in a paper read before the Am. Soc C. E. in 1889, the matter is still of interest to those having to do with bridge design. Cloth, 7 × 9½ ins.; 60 pp.; 7 tables and 26 full-page and folding plates..... 2.00

"General Specifications for Foundations and Substructures of Highway and Electric Railway Bridges." Part I.—Preliminary Facts, Character of the Bottom, Preparation of Foundations, General Requirements, Timber and Piles, Spikes, Notching and Dovetailing, Cement, Sand, Cement Mortar, Gravel and Broken Stone, Concrete, Natural Cement Concrete, Portland Cement Concrete, Rock-faced Broken-Range Masonry, Rock-faced Coursed Masonry, Monolithic Concrete Masonry, Steel Shells for Cylindrical or Oblong Piers. Part II.—General Description of Substructures and Methods of Founding, Timber Platforms, Grillages, Caissons and Cribs; Abutments, Masonry Piers, Diagonal Piers, Concrete Piers with Metal Shells, Wooden Box Piers, Trestle or Viaduct Piers, Size of Piers and Abutments, Location and Levels, Proposals. Appendix A.—Economical Number of Spans. Appendix B.—Tables giving Approximate Contents of one Masonry Pier and one Masonry Abutment, without Wing Walls, together with 12 full-page plates illustrating the various Types of Foundations and Diagram for Calculating Economical Spans. Paper, 7 × 9½ ins.; 50 pp., including 13 full-page plates. 1.00

"Specifications for Steel Highway Bridges." (1901.) With additional matter pertaining to floor systems, tables of loads, etc., and an Appendix containing tables for maximum moments, end shears, etc., for various loadings. Paper, 7 × 9½ ins.; 38 pp..... .50

"Specifications for Steel Railroad Bridges." (1901.) With standard train loadings extended to cover Class E 50, 5,000 lbs. per lineal foot, and with an Appendix containing tables for maximum moments, end shears, etc., for various loadings; also table showing weights of and distribution of loads for recent heavy passenger and freight engines. Paper, 7 × 9½ ins. 34 pp. ..... .50

"Specifications for Steel Highway Bridges." (1896.) Paper, 7 × 9½ ins.; 25 pp.. .25

"Specifications for Steel Railroad Bridges." (1896.) Paper, 7 × 9½ ins.; 24 pp.. .25

"Specifications for Iron and Steel Highway Bridges." (1890.) Paper, 7 × 9½ ins.; 23 pp.. ..... .25

"Specifications for Iron and Steel Railroad Bridges." (1890.) Paper, 7 × 9½ ins.; 25 pp ..... .25

DILLENBECK, CLARK, "Specifications for Stone and Brick Passenger Stations." Paper, 8 × 14 ins.; 32 pp..... .40

"Specifications for Frame Passenger Stations." ..... .40

"Specifications for Stone and Brick Freight Houses." ..... .40

"Specifications for Frame Freight Houses." ..... .40

Full set, 4 specifications..... 1.50

DUNHAM, H. F., "Plat and Profile Book for Civil Engineers and Contractors." Containing 28 pages of Profile Paper and also handy tables for Excavation and Embankment, Strength of Material, Size of Sewers for Various Slopes and Drainage Areas, and information for making Estimates in Electric Construction. Flexible leather, oblong, 9 × 4 ins..... 1.00

Same, containing 90 pages of profile paper..... 2.00

FOWLER, CHAS. E., "General Specifications for Steel Roofs and Buildings." Paper, 6 × 9 ins.; 12 pp..... .25

"Engineering Studies." Part I.: American Stone Arches. 8 half-tone engravings on plate paper of the Cabin John Bridge and Aqueduct, near Washington, D.C.; the Wheeling, W.Va., Stone Arch; Memorial Bridge and Arch, Hartford, Conn.· the East Bridge, Elyria, O.; the West Bridge, Elyria, O.; Schenley Park Arch, Pittsburg; High Bridge, Croton Aqueduct, New York; Wissahickon Arch, Fairmount Park, Philadelphia, with a short description of each. Paper, 6 × 11 ins..... .25

"Engineering Studies." Part II.: Roman Stone Arches. 8 half-tone engravings on plate paper of the Old Roman Aqueduct; Bridge of Sant' Angelo, Rome; the Bridge of Augustus at Rimini; Bridge of Alcantara, Spain; the Bridge of the Rialto, Venice, Italy; the Pont Du Gard, Nimes, France; the Bridge of the Trinity, Florence; Canal Regio Bridge, Venice; with a short description of each. Paper, 6 × 11 ins. ..... .25

"Engineering Studies." Part III.: English Stone Arches. 8 half-tone engravings on plate paper of the London Bridge, London, Eng.; the Kelso Bridge over the Tweed; Waterloo Bridge over the Thames; the Chatsworth Bridge and House England; The Maidenhead Bridge, Maidenhead, Eng.; the Broomielaw Bridge, Glasgow; the New Bridge of Ayr; the Grosvenor or Chester Dee Bridge; with a short description of each. Paper, 6 × 11 ins. ..... .25

"Engineering Studies." Part IV.: French Stone Arches. 8 half-tone engravings on plate paper of the Bridge of Orleans, Pont Neuf, Bordeaux Bridge, Roquefavour Aqueduct, Pont Au Change, Auteil Viaduct, Pont de Austerlitz; with a short description of each. Paper; 6 × 11 ins. ..... .25

"Engineering Studies." Part V.: German and Austrian Stone Arches." 8 half-tone engravings on plate paper of the Dresden Bridge, The Oberbaumbrucke, Munich Bridge, Moselle Bridge, The Janemoze Bridge, The Schloss Bridge, Heidelburg Bridge, The Friedrichsbrucke, Berlin; with a short description of each. Paper; 6 × 11 ins. ..... .25

"Engineering Studies." Parts VI. to XII. (In preparation.) ..... —

FRYE, ALBERT I., "Railway Right of Way Surveying." Contents: Collecting the Data.—Tentative Alinement Sheet.—Indexing the Data (Old Note Books, Old Maps, Old Papers).—Searching Deeds and Other Records (Sample Abstract Sheets, Field Maps).—Standard Tape.—Field Instruments.—Field Work (The Practical Center Line, Field Adjustment of Center Line, Field Work for Office Adjustment, Running the Base Line, Referencing Instrument Points, Measuring the Base Line, Lateral Field Work, Base Line Angles, Checking the Field Notes).—Bookkeeping of the Survey (The Journal).—Monumenting the Adjusted Center Line (Setting the Monuments, the Monument Book).—The Ledger.—Side-Monumenting.—City and Town Surveys.—Connecting with the Government Stations.—Leveling (Establishing Bench Marks, Elevation of Monuments, Elevation of Track and Bridges, Physical Features).—The Mapping (The Scale, Land and Structural Maps Compared, the Land Maps, the Structural Maps, the Index Maps).—Appendix (Hints for Field Work); Table of Allowable Errors in Leveling; Table of Temperature Corrections for Steel Tape; Table of Natural Tangents and Cotangents. Cloth; 6 × 9 ins.; pp. 50 ..... 1.00

FRASER, D. M., "Railway Location in Victoria, Australia." An application of the principles of economic railway location as developed by the late A. M. Wellington, to the conditions existing in Australia.

Part I. Economic Premises.

Part II. The Minor Details of Alinement.

Part III. Limiting Gradients and Curvature.
Part IV. Larger Economic Problems.
Part V. The Conduct of Location.
Pamphlet; 4½ × 7½ ins.; pp. 42; 6 diagrams in text and one folding plate ..... .25

GENERAL INDEX TO ENGINEERING News, covering the volumes for the ten years 1890 to 1899, inclusive. The work has been compiled by an expert indexer and librarian under the supervision of our editorial staff. By its aid the contents of the 20 volumes of Engineering News, above alluded to, which constitute a cyclopedia of engineering for the period, are made easily accessible. It contains about 25,000 references. Paper; 6 × 9 ins.; 328 pp.. .50

GILLETTE, H. P., "Economics of Road Construction." Contents: Historical Review—Earth Roads and Earthwork: Profile of Cross-Section of Road; Longitudinal Profile, Gutters and Drains, Embankments, Cost of Earthwork, Surfacing, Traction and Tractive Power, Location. Gravel Roads—Macadam Roads: What Holds Macadam Together, Quality of Stone; Quarrying, Dynamite, Crushing, Hauling, Spreading, Rolling, Sprinkling, Quality and Cost, Telford Roads. Summary and Conclusion. Cloth, 6 × 9 ins.; 40 pp.; illustrated..... 1.00

"Earthwork and Its Cost." Contents: Introduction—The Art of Cost Estimating; Causes of Underestimates; Ambiguity of Specifications; Unfairness of Specifications. Chapter I.—Earth Shrinkage: Swelling of Earth, Shrinking of Earth; Chapter II.—Earth Classification: Kinds of Earth, Testpits; Chapter III.—Cost of Loosening and Shoveling: Cost of Plowing, Cost of Picking, Cost of Shoveling; Chapter IV.—Cost of Dumping, Spreading, Rolling, etc.: Cost of Dumping, Cost of Spreading, Cost of Ramming and Rolling, Cost of Sprinkling, Cost of Trimming; Chapter V.—Cost by Wheelbarrows and Carts: Cost by Wheelbarrows, Cost by Dump Carts, Rules for Estimating Cost; Chapter VI.—Cost by Wagons: Sizes of Wagons, Speed and Power of Horses, Dishonest Teamsters, Cost of a Railroad Embankment, Cost of Cellar Excavation, Cost of Dikes, Rules for Estimating Cost; Chapter VII.—Cost by Buck and Drag Scrapers: Two Examples of Cost by Buck Scrapers, Three Examples of Cost by Drag Scrapers, Errors of Trautwine's Tables, Rule for Estimating Cost; Chapter VIII.—Cost by Wheel Scrapers: Sizes of Wheelers, Errors of Trautwine's Tables, Four Examples of Cost, Wheelers for Loading Wagons, Three Rules for Estimating Cost; Chapter IX.—Cost by the Elevating Grader: Uses and Limitations of the Grader, Cost of Wagon Loading on the Chicago Canal, Rule for Estimating Cost; Chapter X.—Cost by Steam Shovels: Output of Each of 60 Shovels on the Chicago Canal, Force Required and Cost, Output and Costs on Railroad Work, Cost of Moving Shovels, Rule for Estimating Cost; Chapter XI.—Cost by Cars: Tractional Resistance of Dump Cars, Portable Trestles for Cars, Running Cars over Ice, Trautwine's Errors in Estimating Cost, Cost of Laying Light Track, Cost of "Spotting" Cars and Hauling with "Dummy," Unloading Flat Cars by Plow, Hauling Dump Cars with Horses, Rule for Cost of Hauling; Chapter XII.—How to Handle a Steam Shovel Plant: Types of Shovel, Operation of Steam Shovels, Methods of Widening Railway Cuts, Cutting Down Grades, Handling Shovel Plants on Railway Construction, Same on Canal Work, Incline Conveyors Loaded with Shovel, Incline and Tipple Output; Chapter XIII.—Summary and Table of Costs: Summary, Table of Costs, Contract Prices; Chapter XIV.—Cost of Trenching and Pipe Laying: Cost of Trenching for Water Pipes and Pipe Laying—Six Examples, Cost of Trenching and Sheeting for Sewer Work—Six Examples, Cost with Trench Machines, Cost with Cableway; Chapter XV.—The Cost of Hydraulic Excavation: Amount of Water Required, Cost of Filling R.R. Trestles by Sluicing, Cost of Dam Filling, Cost of Placer Gravel Mining; Chapter XVI.—Cost of Dredging, Types of Dredges, Cost by Dipper Dredge, Cost by Grapple Dredge, Cost by Bucket Elevator Dredge, Cost by Hydraulic Dredge, Contract Prices of Dredging; Chapter XVII.—Miscellaneous Cost Data: Post Holes, Dredging with Drag Scraper, Cost by Power Scraper, Coasting Conveyor, Cost by Derricks, Wheelbarrows Loading Flat Cars, Cost of Plank Roads, Cost of Grading Wagon Roads, Frozen Earth, Belt Conveyors, Cost of Puddle, Cost of Grubbing and Clearing, Cost of Excavation N. Y. Rapid Transit Subway, Cost of Loading Wagons with Steam Shovel, Cost of Loading Cars with a Cableway; Chapter XVIII.—Earth and Earth Structures: Voids and Weights of Earth, Natural Slopes, Friction of Earth, Author's Formulas for Earth Pressure, Slips and Subsidences, Embankment Construction, Effect of Freezing. Appendix A—Rapid Field and Office Survey Work: The Author's Automatic Level-Rod, Rapid Earthwork Calculation, The Author's Rule for Cross-Sectioning; Appendix B—Overhaul Calculation. Appendix C—A Small "Home-Made" Dipper Dredge or Steam Shovel, Detailed Description and Drawings, Cost of Making the Dredge, Cost of Operating. Cloth; 5 × 7½ ins.; 256 pp.; illustrated 2.00

GOULD, E. SHERMAN, "Specifications for Dams and Reservoirs." Paper, 7 × 12 ins.; 11 pp. .25

"The Elements of Water Supply Engineering." Contents: First Part—Flow through a short horizontal pipe, Effect on velocity of increased length, Frictional head, Hydraulic grade line, Hydrostatic and hydraulic pressures, Piezometric tubes, Results of raising a pipe line above the hydraulic grade line, Why the water ceases to rise in the upper stories of the houses of a town when the consumption is increased, Influence of inside surface of pipes upon velocity of flow, Darcy's coefficients, Fundamental equations, Length of a pipe line usually determined by its horizontal projection, Numerical examples of simple and compound systems, Calculations are the same for pipes laid horizontally or on a slope, Qualification of this statement, Pipe of uniform diameter equivalent to compound system, General formula, Numerical example, Use of logarithms (foot note), Numerical example of branch pipe, Simplified method, Numerical examples, Relative discharges through branches variously placed, Discharges determined by plotting, Caution regarding results obtained by calculation, Numerical examples, Numerical example of a system of pipes for the supply of a town, Establishment of additional formulæ for facilitating such calculations, Determination of diameters, Pumping and reservoirs, Caution regarding calculated results, Useful approximate formulæ, Table of 5th powers, Preponderating influence of diameter over grade illustrated by example, Use of formula 14 illustrated by numerical example of compound system combined with branches, Comparison of results, Rough and smooth pipes, Pipes communicating with three reservoirs, Numerical examples under varying conditions, Loss of head from other causes than friction, Velocity, entrance and exit head, Numerical examples and general formula, Downward discharge through a vertical pipe, Other minor losses of head, Abrupt changes of diameter, Partially opened valve, Branches and bends, Centrifugal force, Small importance of all losses of head except frictional in the case of long pipes, All such covered by "even inches" in the diameter, Notes on pipe-laying, Weight of cast-iron pipes, Various useful formulæ. Second Part.—Notes on Water Supply Engineering—Quality of water, Quantity of water, Dams, calculation of; construction of, Reference to other publications, Notes to Parts I. and II. Third Part.—Flow of water through masonry conduits, Some details of tunnel and aqueduct construction, Filtration of public water supplies, Pumping engines and duty trials, Arches and abutments, Hydraulic tables, Index. Cloth, 6 × 9 ins.; 168 pp..... 2.00

GREENE, Prof. CHAS. E., "Structural Mechanics." Contents: Introduction, Action of a piece under direct force, Materials, Beams, Torsion, Moments of inertia, Flexure and deflection of simple beams; Restrained beams: continuous beams; Pieces under Tension; Compression pieces: columns, posts and struts; Safe working stresses; Internal stress: change of form; Rivets, Pins; Envelopes: boilers, pipes, dome; Plate Girder; Earth pressure: retaining wall, springs, plates; Details in wood and iron. Cloth, 6 × 9 ins.; 271 pp..... 3.00

HALL, JOHN L., "Tables of Squares." Containing the True Square of every foot, inch and one-sixteenth of an inch between one-sixteenth of an inch and 100 ft. Flexible morocco, oblong, 3¾ × 3½ ins.; gilt edges..... 2.00

HANDY BINDER for Engineering News. Black cloth, gold stamp on cover..... .75

JACOBY, Prof. H. S., "Text Book on Plain Lettering." Containing chapters on construction and spacing of letters, titles, selection of styles, mechanical aids and 48 plates illustrating construction of letters, spacing, titles, proportioning, scales, meridians, borders, U. S. Coast Survey rules, maps and titles, U. S. Geological Survey standards and maps, Mississippi River Commission title and maps, Corps of Engineers, specimens of type and explanatory notes. Cloth, oblong, 10 × 7 ins.; 82 pp..... 3.00

JOHNSON, Prof. J. B., "Engineering Contracts and Specifications," Including a Synopsis of the Law of Contracts; engineering specifications and accompanying documents; specific, descriptive, or technical clauses in specifications, including illustrative specifications for excavations and embankments; cement, mortar, concrete and masonry; street pavements and materials; sewers; water pipe, lumber grading and classification; iron and steel; pile and trestle work; electric light station, etc.; illustrative examples of complete contracts and specifications for pumping engines and boilers; bridges; masonry lock; dam, electric railways; generators; motors, etc.; also new specifications on riveted steel water pipe; wooden stave water pipe; wrought-iron chains; railroad concrete work; railway roadbed; levees; steel highway bridges and viaducts; steel railroad bridges and viaducts; preservation of railroad cross-ties; filter gravel and sand; specifications and contract for architect's services; and the general specifications for testing hydraulic cements, adopted by the U. S. Engineer Corps. Besides these, two new appendices are given on The Engineer as an Expert Witness, and the Standard Specifications for Iron and Steel Proposed by the American Committee of the International Associations for Testing Materials. Complete table of contents on application. Cloth; 6 x 9 ins.; 566 pp. 3.00

JUDSON, W. P., "City Roads and Pavements Suited to Cities of Moderate Size." Second edition, revised and enlarged. Contents: Preparation of Streets for Pavements—Reduction of width; drainage; subdrainage; rollers; rolling dirt roads; wide tires; pressure of traffic and of structures. Ancient Pavements—Comparisons, stone wheel-tracks, competition with first railway. Modern Pavements—Comparative loads; cost; pavements for steep grades; asphalt; vitrified brick; creosoted wood block; block stone; broken stone; bituminous macadam; crown of pavements (Rosewater formulas of 1898 and 1902); form of crown (for macadam); falls of horses on different pavements; culverts (kinds, sizes, cost); curbs (kinds, sizes, cost); car-track construction. Concrete Base for Pavement—Need, subgrade; cement (simple outfit for easy tests, fineness, quickness, soundness, purity, weight, result); manner of use; aggregates; sand; proportions and mixing; water; machine-mixing; spreading and ramming; monolith; surface; setting; wetting; freezing (use of brine, limit of cold); cost; Portland; Natural; extra work; table (36 cities). Block-Stone Pavements—Defects; merits; cost; extent. Wood Pavements—Old; cedar blocks; modern; Australian; American (kreodone-creosote, creo-resinate, cost); Vitrified Brick Pavements—Modes; extent; objections; production; characteristics; qualities; tests, examination in use; construction (base, sand-cushion, joint-fillers, expansion); on steep grades; cost, guarantee. American Sheet-Asphalt, Artificial and Natural—Comparison; history; artificial; natural; companies; sources; American artificial (materials and methods, foundation, binder, wearing surface, rolling); steep grades; crown; railway tracks; cost; guarantee; causes of failures; block-asphalt (extent, cost); comparative preferences, asphalt and brick. Bituminous Macadam, or Bitulithic Pavement—Characteristics; details; methods; cost; opinions. Broken Stone Roads—Extent; rock for roads; tests of rock; telford and macadam (relative costs); binder (mode of use, quality, quantity); maximum grades; construction; subgrades of various kinds; rock (crushing, screening); base; top; thickness; crowns; cost; cautions; maintenance; methods of repairs (raveling rolling, ruts, cleaning, cost); resurfacing (methods, cost). Index. Cloth; 6 x 9 ins.; 196 pp.; illustrated. 2.00

KETCHUM, MILO S., "The Design of Steel Mill Buildings and the Calculation of Stresses in Framed Structures." Chapter headings: Introduction. Part I. Loads.—Chapter I.—Dead loads. Chapter II.—Snow loads. Chapter III.—Wind Loads. Chapter IV.—Miscellaneous loads. Part II. Stresses.—Chapter V.—Graphic Statics. Chapter VI.—Stresses in framed structures. Chapter VII.—Stresses in Simple Roof Trusses. Chapter VIII.—Simple beams. Chapter IX.—Moving loads on beam. Chapter X.—Stresses in bridge trusses. Chapter XI.—Stresses in a transverse bent. Chapter XII.—Stresses in Portals. Chapter XIII.—Stresses in three-hinged arch. Chapter XIV.—Stresses in two-hinged arch. Chapter XV.—Combined and eccentric stresses. Part III. Design of Mill Buildings.—Chapter XVI.—General design. Chapter XVII.—Framework. Chapter XVIII.—Corrugated steel. Chapter XIX.—Roof coverings. Chapter XX.—Side walls and masonry walls. Chapter XXI.—Foundations. Chapter XXII.—Floors. Chapter XXIII.—Windows and skylights. Chapter XXIV.—Ventilators Chapter XXV.—Doors. Chapter XXVI.—Shop Drawings and Rules. Chapter XXVII.—Paints and painting. Chapter XXVIII.—Estimate of weight and cost. Part IV. Miscellaneous Structures. Appendix I. Specifications for steel frame mill buildings. Complete table of contents on application. Cloth; 6 x 9 ins.; 380 pp.; 29 tables and 185 illustrations in the text. 4.00

KIDWELL & MOORE, "Tables of Safe Loads for Wooden Beams and Columns." Showing Safe Loads, Deflections, etc., based on allowable working unit stresses recommended by "Committee on Strength of Bridge and Trestle Timbers" of the Association of Railway Superintendent of Bridges and Buildings They cover 17 different kinds of timber, and include beams up to 36-ft. span, and posts 40 ft. long and 20 x 20 ins. section. Paper, 6 x 9 ins.; 57 pp. ..... .50

McHENRY, E. H., "Rules for Railway Location and Construction of the Northern Pacific Ry. Co." Containing chapters on organization of Construction and Engineering Departments, Location of Line, Surveys and Construction, Track and Ballast, Bridges and Culverts, Accounting and Miscellaneous, Supplies and Equipment for Field Parties, etc., with an additional chapter on "Estimating Overhaul in Earthwork," by H. P. Gillette. Cloth; 4½ x 7½ ins.; 88 pp, two folding plates. 1.00

NOBLE & CASGRAIN, "Tables for Obtaining Horizontal Distances and Differences of Level from Stadia Readings." Giving distances and heights for all stadia readings from 1 to 9 and for every minute of altitude. Cloth, 5 x 7 ins.; 48 pp. 1.00

OSBORN CO., "General Specifications for Railway Bridges. New and revised edition (1903). Paper; 6 x 9 ins; 42 pp. ..... .25

"Specifications for Metal Highway Bridge Superstructure." New and revised edition (1901.) Extract from Table of Contents: Floors and Pavements, Wheel Guards and Curbs, Car Track and Trolley Poles, Railings, Lighting, Loads, Unit Stresses, Details of Construction, Quality of Material, Workmanship, Inspection and Tests, Erection, etc., etc. 6 x 9 ins.; 60 pp. .25

OSBORN, FRANK C., "Tables of Moments of Inertia and Squares of Radii of Gyrations." Supplemented by tables on the ultimate and safe strength of wrought-iron columns, safe strength of timber beams and constants for readily obtaining the shearing stresses, reactions and bending moments in swing bridges. New and revised edition in preparation ..... —

PENCE & KETCHUM, "Surveying Manual; a Manual of Field and Office Methods." Contents: General Instructions, The Chain and Tape, The Compass, The Level, The Transit, Topographic Surveying, Land Surveying, Railroad Surveying, Errors of Surveying, Methods of Computing, Freehand Lettering. Cloth, 4½ x 6½ ins.; 250 pp.; illustrated. 2.00

Office-Copy Booklet. Published primarily for use in connection with "The Surveying Manual" but is very useful in drainage topographical surveys, etc. Heavy tagboard cover; 4½ x 7¼ ins.; 32 pp. ledger paper; columns on left-hand page, and squares for sketching on right. Per dozen 1.00

"PROCEEDINGS OF THE SOCIETY FOR the Promotion of Engineering Education." Published yearly. Containing the complete business record of the Society and a great number of valuable papers and discussions covering the important questions belonging to the Society's field of work. Vols. I. to XII. Cloth; 6 × 9 ins.; about 350 pp., price per vol..... 2.50

REINHARDT, C. W., "Technic of Mechanical Drafting." Giving general instructions on the care and handling of draftsmen's instruments and materials, and containing chapters on Outlining, Outline Shading, Section Lining, Curved Surface Shading, Shading of Inclined Surfaces, Map Drawing, Character and Finish, etc. Cloth, oblong, 11 × 8 ins.; 36 pp.; 62 text illustrations; 10 full-page plates; plates I. to IV. contain 69 distinct conventions for Section Lining..... 1.00

SANBORN, Prof. FRANK B., "Mechanics— Problems for Engineering Students." Contents: I Work (Problems 1 to 172).—Foot-Pounds: Raising weights, overcoming resistances of railroad trains, machine punch, construction of wells and chimneys, operation of pumping engines. Force and distance or foot-pounds required in cases of pile-driver, horse, differential pulley, tackle, tram car. Horse-Power: Required to windmills, planing machines, gas engine, locomotive, steam engines—simple, compound, triple, slow-speed, high-speed engines. Horse-power from indicator cards, required by electric lamps, driving belts, steam crane, coal towers, pumping engine, canals, streams, turbines, water-wheels. Efficiency, force or distance required in cases of fire pumps, mines, bicycles, shafts, railroad trains, air brakes, the tide, electric motors, freight cars, ships. Energy: Foot-pounds, horse-power, velocity:—Ram, hoisting engine, blacksmith, electric car, bullet, cannon, nail, pendulum. Energy resulting from motion of flywheel and energy required by jack-screw. II. Force (Problems 172 to 405).—Forces Acting at a Point: Canal boat being towed, rods, struts, beams, derrick, cranes set as in action; balloon held by rope, hammock supported; wagon, trucks, picture supported; forces in frames of car dumper, tripod, shear legs, dipper dredge, also in triangle, square, sailing vessel, rudder, foot-bridge, roof-truss. Moments for Parallel Forces: Beam balanced, pressure on supports, propelling force of oars, raising anchor force at capstan, bridge loaded pressure on abutments, lifting one end of shaft, boat hoisted on davit, forces acting on triangle, square, supports of loaded table and floor. Couples: Brake wheel, forces acting on square. Stresses: Beam leaning against wall, post in truss, rope pull on chimney, connecting rod of engines, trap-door held up by chain. Center of Gravity: Rods with loads, metal square and triangle, circular disk with circular hole punched out, box with cover open, rectangular plane with weight on one end, irregular shapes, solid cylinder in hollow cylinder, cone on top of hemisphere. Friction: Weight moved on level table, stone on ground, block on inclined plane, gun dragged up hill, cone sliding on inclined plane; friction of planing machine, locomotives, trains, ladder against wall, bolt thread, rope around a post; belts, pulleys and water-wheels in action; heat generated in axles and bearings. III. Motion (Problems 405 to 500).—Uniform Acceleration: Railroad train, ice boat, stone falling and depth of well, balloon ascending, cable car running wild. Relative Velocity: Aim in front of deer, rowing across river, bullet hitting balloon ascending, rain on passenger train, wind on steamer, two passing railroad trains. Distance, Velocity, Friction, Angle of Inclination: Train stopped, steamer approaching dock, cannon recoil, locomotive increasing speed, body moved on table, box-machine, motion of table, barrel of flour on elevator, man's weight on elevator, cage drawn up coal shaft. Projectiles: Inclination for bullet to strike given point, motion down plane, stone dropped from train, thrown from tower, projectile from hill, from bay over fortification wall. Pendulums: Simple, conical, ball in passenger car. Impact: Water suddenly shut off, cricket ball struck, hammer falling on pile, shot from gun, bullet from rifle, freight and passenger trains collide. Answers. Index. Cloth; 5½ × 8 ins.; 160 pp.; illustrated..... 1.50

SCOTT, WM. FRY, "Structural Designers' Handbook."

Part I. Synopsis of Mechanics of the Beam and Column.

Chapter I.—Beams (Span, Cross-Section, Section Moment, Unit Stress, Manner of Support, Deflection, End Reaction, Buckling of Compression Flange, Loads on Beams, Conventional Methods of Loads on Floor Girders and on Grillage Beams). Chapter II.—Columns (Concentric Load, Eccentric Loads).

Part II. Beamwork.

Chapter III.—Floor Framing (Utility of Diagram, Diagrams 1 to 22, giving Allowable Load, Spacing, Span for I-Beams, Angles and Tees, and for Reducing the Value of Concentrated Load to Equivalent Uniform Load; Tables 1 to 15, giving Percentage of Allowable Load, Spacing and End Reaction for I-Beams). Chapter IV.—Spandrel Beams (Diagram 23, for Giving Equivalent Value for Load Concentrated at Middle of Span for Value of Load Concentrated at Any Other Point; Diagrams 24, 25 and 26, for Allowable Loads on Standard and Special I-Beams and Channels). Chapter V.—Grillage Beams (Footings, Design, Bending, Buckling; Diagram 27, for giving Size, Weight and Spacing of I-Beams in Grillage Footings). Chapter VI.—End Reactions (Design and Sizes of Standard Connection Angles and Bearing Plates; Table 16, for Maximum Allowable End Reaction or Connection Angles and Relative Values of Several Sizes of Rivets; Diagram 28, for Values of Rivets in Connection Angles and Areas for Bearing Plates; Diagram 29, for Thickness of Beam Plates of Cast-Iron, Wrought-Iron or Steel).

Part III. Columns and Truss Members.

Chapter VII.—Steel Columns (Ratio of Slenderness; Diagrams 30 and 31, for Radius of Gyration of Column Sections of Wood, Cast-Iron, Steel and of Built-up Sections; Diagram 32, for Ratio of Slenderness; Diagram 33, for Safe Loads on Steel Columns as called for by New York Building Code; Diagram 34, for Eccentric Loading on Columns). Chapter VIII.—Tables (Tables 17 to 24, giving Properties of Single and Built-up Steel Shapes for I-Beams, Channels, Angles, Tees, Zees and Flats for Use in Columns, Beams and Trusses; Table 25, Weights of Flat Rolled Steel). Chapter IX.—Cast-Iron Columns (Diagrams 35 and 36, Safe Loads on Cast-Iron Columns recommended by New York Building Code and by the author; Tables 26 to 30, Weight and Thickness of Metal of Cast-iron Column Sections; Table 31, Weight and Thickness of Metal of Cast-Iron Gas Pipe).

Part IV.—Miscellaneous.

Chapter X.—Loads (Diagram 37, for Weight of Steel Required in Floors where Loads are Minimum; Diagram 38, for Weight of Steel where Loads are Maximum; Diagram 39, for Weight of Joists per Square Foot of Floor; Floor Arches, Flooring Material, Partitions, Brick Walls, Live Loads on Floors and on Footings, Wind Pressure on Buildings). Chapter IX.—Unit Stresses (Safe Loads on Masonry Work, Strength of Columns, Working Stresses, Compression, Tension, Shear, Safe Extreme Fiber Stress, Bearing Capacity of Soil). Chapter XII.—Brick Walls (Diagram 40, giving Thickness and Weight of Walls for Skeleton Structures, Warehouses or Dwelling Houses, according to New York Building Code). Chapter XIII.—German, Belgian and English I-Beams (Tables 32 to 34, Properties of German, Belgian and English I-Beams). Chapter XIV.—Flexural Efficiency of I-Beams and Channels (Diagram 41, giving Relative Flexural Efficiency of I-Beams and Channels per Pound of Steel). Chapter XV.—Bases and Lintels of Cast-Iron (Methods of Design; Diagram 42, giving Minimum Thickness for Bottom Plate of Cast-Iron Shoes). Chapter XVI.—Wooden Beams and Posts (Diagrams 43 to 51, giving Safe Loads on Joists and Girders of White Pine, Spruce, Chestnut, Yellow Pine and Locust, and on Posts of White Pine, White Oak and Yellow Pine).

Cloth; 6 × 9 ins.; pp. 166; 51 diagrams and 35 tables 2.00

SMOLEY, CONSTANTINE, "Tables of Logarithms and Squares." Containing parallel tables of logarithms and squares of feet, inches and fractions o inches, expressed in decimals of a foot and advancing by one thirty-second of an inch from 0 to 50 feet. Flexible leather, 4½ × 7 ins.; 212 pp..... 3.00

STARLING, WM., "Floods of the Mississippi River." Giving a thorough description of the methods in use for draining the levee basin and constructing the levees, with a consideration of the dangers to the levees and the manner of their protection against floods, storms and leakage; a discussion of the topography and geology of the Mississippi Basin and the tributaries of the Mississippi River, the influence of storms in the flood season, and the manner of forecasting floods and flood heights, with the duration and damage of floods; also a description of the Mississippi flood of 1897, containing a graphic account of the various devices used to strengthen the levees and for the closing of crevasses, popular "solutions of the Mississippi Problem," storage reservoirs, artificial outlets, an efficiency of the levee system; illustrated with 40 diagrams, maps and half-tone illustrations, forming an invaluable book of reference for all interested in the "Mississippi Problem" and in the reclamation of land under water. Paper; 7 × 10 ins.; 67 pp; 40 illustrations .... .25

STOWELL, CHAS. F., and CUNNINGHAM, A. C., "General Specifications for Structural Steel." Paper, 8½ × 13½ ins.; 11 pp..... .25

SWAAB, S. M., "Tables and Diagrams for Making Estimates for Sewerage Work." Contents: General explanation, method of using tables and diagrams, examples worked out, circular sewers, egg-shaped sewers, excavation for one and two-ring brick circular sewers, excavation for circular sewers in full and partial cradles, excavation for one and two-ring brick egg-shape sewers, and for egg-shape sewers in full cradle, for sewers varying in diameter from 1 ft. 6 ins. to 15 ft. Paper, oblong, 4½ × 7½ ins.; 30 pp.; 16 plates. ..... .50

SWAN & HORTON, "Hydraulic Diagrams for the Discharge of Conduits and Canals." Including conduits of eight different types of cross-section and canals of rectangular and trapezoidal cross-section. Cloth, 6 × 9 ins..... 1.00

TALBOT, Prof. A. N., "The Railway Transition Spiral." Contents: Nomenclature, Theory, Summary of Principles, Description and Use of the Tables, Choice of a and Length of Spiral Location of P. S., P. C. C. and P. C., Laying Out the Spiral by Co-Ordinates, Location by Transit and Deflection Angles, Application to Existing Curves, Compound Curves, Miscellaneous Problems, Uniform Chord Length Method, Street Railway Spirals. Conclusion—Explanation of tables, which include transition spirals factors for ordinates, unit spiral deflection angles, co-efficients for deflection angles, street railway spirals, offsets for spirals. Third edition, revised. Flexible leather, 4 × 6¾ ins.; 110 + VI. pp., including 17 pages of tables 1.50

"General Specifications for Railway Bridges." Paper, 8 × 13½ ins.; 8 pp. ..... .25

THOMSON, G. H., "Standard Specifications for Structural Steel for Modern Railroad Bridges." ..... .10

THOMSON, W. CHASE, "Bridge and Structural Design." Contents: Definitions; The Composition and Resolution of Forces; Examples in Graphical Statics; The Lever and Moments; Shearing and Bending Stresses in Beams; Moment of Resistance; Moment of Inertia; Radius of Gyration; Formulæ Relating to Beams; Examples in the Computation of Properties of Simple and Compound Sections; Examples Illustrating the Method of Determining the Sizes of Beams; Columns and Struts; Examples Illustrating Method of Designing Columns and Struts; Rivets and Rivetting; The Complete Design of a Roof Truss for Building with Masonry or Brick Walls Capable of Withstanding Wind Pressure; Roof Trusses Supported by Steel Columns; The Design of a Knee Braced Mill Building; The Design of a Plate Girder; Plate Girder with one-eighth of Web Plate Computed as Flange Area; Design for a Warren Girder Highway Bridge; Design for Skew Warren Girder Highway Bridge; Design for Pin Connected Pratt Truss Highway Span..... 2.00

TYRRELL, H. G., "Mill Building Construction." Contents: LOADS—Roof Loads, Floor Loads, Crane Loads, Snow and Wind Loads, Miscellaneous Loads, Summary of Loads, Methods of Calculation. GENERAL DESIGN—General Considerations, Walls, Roof Trusses, Spacing of Trusses, Jack Rafters, Roof Coverings, Truss Connections, Rafters, Bottom Chords, Purlins, Unit Stresses, Lighting and Ventilation, Estimating the Cost. DESIGN OF STRUCTURAL DETAILS—Foundations and Anchorages. Ground Floor Construction: Concrete Floors, Asphalt Floors, Wood Floors, Floors for Car Sheds. Upper Floor Construction: Steel Trough Floors, Corrugated Iron and Brick Arch Floors, Steel Girder and Timber Floors, Slow Burning Wood Floors. Roof Coverings: General Considerations—Slate Roofing, Asphalt Roofing, Slag and Gravel Roofing, Corrugated Iron Roofing, Sheet Steel Roofing, Crimped Roofing, Steel Roll Roofing, Tin and Terne Plate Roofing, Metal Shingle Roofing, Rubber Roofing, Asbestos Roofing, Wood Shingle Roofing, Comparative Cost of Roofing. Miscellaneous Structural Details: Wall Anchorages of Roof Trusses, Doors and Windows, Ventilation, Gutters and Down Spouts. Cloth, 6 × 9 ins.; 40 pp.; illustrated.. 1.00

TRATMAN, E. E. R., "Railway Track and Track Work." Revised and enlarged edition, containing additional chapters on "Signals and Interlocking" and "Street Railway Track." Contents: Part I.—TRACK—Introduction; Railroad Construction; Ballast, Ties and Tie-Plates; Rails, Rail Fastenings and Rail Joints; Switches, Frogs and Switchboards; Fences and Cattle Guards; Bridge Floors and Grade Crossings; Track Signs; Tanks and Other Track Accessories; Sidings, Yards and Terminals; Track Tools and Supplies; Signals and Interlocking; Street Railway Track. Part II.—TRACK WORK—Organization of Maintenance-of-Way Department; Track-laying and Ballasting; Drainage and Ditching; Track Work for Maintenance; Gage, Grades and Curves; Track Inspection and the Premium System; Switch Work and Turnouts; Bridge Work and Telegraph Work; Permanent Improvements and Work Trains; Handling and Clearing Snow; Wrecking Trains and Operations; Records, Reports and Accounts; Table of Standard Track Construction on 50 Railways; Table of Train Speeds and Distances Run. Complete Table of Contents on application. Cloth, 6 × 9 ins.; 472 pp.; 226 illustrations 3.00

TURNER, D. L., "Topographical Record and Sketch Book for Use with Transit and Stadia." Containing explanatory introduction, giving the Author's suggestion as to the best method of using the book. Following this are 80 pages ruled in blue, the left-hand pages containing columns for field notes and the right-hand pages being ruled with radial lines and concentric circles, on which to sketch topography; also tables giving Horizontal Distances and Differences of Elevation for Stadia Readings of 100 units, varying by two minutes of altitude. Cloth 5 × 7 ins.; 96 pp..... .75

WELLINGTON, A. M., "Economic Theory of Railway Location." Contents: Introduction. Part I.—The Inception of Railway Projects and Conditions Governing It, The Modern Railway Corporation, The Nature and Causes Connected with Location which Modify the Volume of Railway Revenue, The Probable Volume of Traffic and Law of Growth Therein, Operating Expenses. Part II.—The Nature and Relative Importance of the Minor Details of Alinement, Distance, Curvature, Rise and Fall. Part III.—The Relative Importance of Gradients, The Locomotive Engine, Rolling Stock, Train Resistance, The Effect of Grades on Train-Load, The Effect of Train-Load on Operating Expenses, Assistant Engines. The Balance of Grades for Unequal Traffic, Limiting Curvature and Compensation Therefor, The Limit of Maximum Curvature, The Choice of Gradients and Devices for Reducing Them. Part IV.—Trunk Lines and Branch Lines, Light Rails and Light Railways, The Economy of Construction, The Improvement of Old Lines, Grade Crossings and Interlocking, Terminals. Part V.—The Art of Reconnoissance. Ocular Illusions, When to Make Surveys, The Field-Work of Surveys, Topography: Its Uses and Abuse, Mapping and Projecting Location, The Estimation of Quantities. Appendices.—Experiments on the Resistances of Rolling-Stock, Experiments with New Apparatus on Journal Friction at Low Velocities, The American Line from Vera Cruz to the City of Mexico via Jalapa, with notes on the best methods of surmounting high elevations by rail. Cloth, 6 × 8½ ins.; 980 pp.; 312 illustrations and full index..... 5.00

WINSLOW, BENJ. E., "Tables and Diagrams for Calculating the Strength of Beams and Columns." Explanatory Introduction; Mathematical Proof of the Tables; Strength of Materials; Bending Moments for Steel Beams of Various Extreme Fiber Stresses; Bending Moments for Steel Channels of Various Extreme Fiber Stresses; Ultimate and Safe Strength of Twelve Kinds of American Woods; Safe Uniform Loads for Wooden Beams, Supported at Both Ends, for Any Extreme Fiber Stress; Safe Uniform Loads for Wooden Beams, Supported at Both Ends, for Various Deflections; Bending

Moments in Foot-Pounds for Rectangular Wooden Beams; Shearing Strength Along the Neutral Plane for Rectangular Wooden Beams; lar Wooden Floor Joists, Calculated for Extreme Fiber Strength; Most Economical Size and Spacing of Rectangular Wooden Floor Joists, Calculated for a Deflection of 1-360 of the Span; Most Economical Size and Spacing of Rectangu- Strength of Square Wooden Columns; Safe Loads for Standard Steel Beams; Safe Loads for Standard Steel Channels; Deflection of Steel Beams, Channels, Z-Bars, etc.; Strength in Pounds per Square Inch Section of Concentrically or Eccentrically Loaded Mild Steel Columns; Comparison of a Few Formulæ Giving the Strength of Mild Steel Columns with Flat Ends; Strength in Pounds per Square Inch Section of Concentrically or Eccentrically Loaded Cast-Iron Columns; Comparison of a Few Formulæ Giving the Strength of Cast-Iron Columns with Flat Ends; Safe Uniform Load for Cast-Iron Lintels Supported at Both Ends; Strength and Deflection of Rectangular Wooden Beams Loaded and Supported in Various Ways. Cloth, oblong, 12 x 9 ins.: 53 pp., including 19 full-page plates.... 2.00

IN PREPARATION:

HENDERSON, R. S., "Earthwork Tables."

RUDIGER, J. M., "Right Line Diagrams for Computing Earthwork."

Among books not published by us, but which are always in stock, are:

BLACKALL, "Air-Brake Catechism." A complete study of air-brake equipment, including latest devices and inventions used. All parts of the air-brake are explained. This book contains over 1,000 questions with their answers. Twelfth edition. Cloth; 264 pp.; illustrated 2.00

DERR, WM. L., "Block Signal Operation." A Practical Manual. Contents: Introduction General Principles. Block Signals. Signal Lamps. Block Tower: Office, Wiring, Heating. Signal Bells: Circuits, Bell Apparatus, Use, Failures. Block Record. Train Orders at Block Stations: Train Orders and the Block Signal. Blocking at Junctions and Railroad Crossings. Manual Blocking. Controlled Manual Blocking. Automatic Blocking. Machine Blocking. Appendix: Use of Fixed Signals for Protecting Maintenance-of-Way Operations, Pilot Working When One Track of a Double Track is Obstructed. Index. Cloth, oblong, 4½ x 6½ ins.; 270 pp.; fully illustrated and indexed..... 1.50

FANNING, J. T., "Treatise on Hydraulic and Water Supply Engineering." Fifteenth edition, revised, with additional illustrations and tables. Cloth, 6 x 9½ ins.; 650 pp..... 5.00

FOSTER, HORATIO A., "Electrical Engineers' Pocket Book." Contents: Electrical Engineering Symbols; Electrical Engineering Units; Description of Instruments: Resistance Measurement; Measurement of E. M. F.; Measurement of Capacity; Measurement of Inductance; Measurement of Power on Alternating Current Circuits; Tests with Voltmeter; Determination of Magnetic Properties of Iron and Steel; Determination of Wave Form of E. M. F. and Current; Conductors, Properties of; Conductors, Relation and Dimensions of, for Transmission of Electric Current; Transmission of Power; Switchboards and Switching Devices; Cable Testing; Electromagnets; Dynamos; Motors; Testing Dynamos and Motors; Static Transformers; Electric Lighting; Electric Railways; Storage Batteries; Telegraph; Telephone; Electro-Chemistry; Electro-Metallurgy; Electric Heating, Welding and Cooking; Electricity Meters; Lightning Arresters; Lightning Conductors; National Code Rules and Requirements; Miscellaneous Electrical Data; Certain Uses of Electricity in U. S. Army and Navy; Mechanical Section; Index. Morocco flap, 4 x 6½ ins.; 1,000 pp.; illustrated..... 5.00

GERHARD, WM. PAUL, "Sanitary Engineering." Contents: Architecture and Engineering; Definition of Civil Engineering; Engineering Specialties; Definition of Sanitary Engineering; Course of Study in Sanitary Engineering; Actual Practice of the Sanitary Engineer; Water Supply of Cities and Dwellings; Sewerage; Prevention of Pollution of Water Courses; Sewage Disposal; Street Pavements; Street Cleaning; Removal of Ice and Snow; Street Sprinkling; Cleansing Footways and Sidewalks; Removal of Refuse, Garbage Disposal, Scavenging; The Laying-Out of Cities and Towns; Sanitation of Towns; Sanitary Engineering in Relation to Habitations; Railway and Ship Sanitation; Sanitary Inspection of Buildings and Building Sites; The Sanitary Engineer's Services as Expert in the Courts; Sanitary Engineering in Case of Epidemics, in Time of War, and in Sudden Calamities in Civic Life; The Title "Sanitary Engineer"; General Qualifications of the Sanitary Engineer; The Sanitary Engineer in Public Life and Municipal Government. Appendix: Work of the Sanitary Engineer in Case of Sudden Outbreaks of Epidemics; Work of the Sanitary Engineer in Time of War; Work of the Sanitary Engineer After Sudden Calamities, Catastrophes, and Great Disasters in Civic Life. Cloth, 5 x 7½ ins.; 132 pp..... 1.25

HILL, JOHN W., "Purification of Public Water Supplies." Cloth, 6 x 9 ins.; 304 pp.; fully illustrated 3.00

HISCOX, "Compressed Air in All Its Ap-plications." Contents: Historical Progress of Air Work; Physical Properties, with six tables; Air in Motion and Its Force; Air Pressure Below Atmospheric Pressure; Flow of Air Under Pressure: Power of the Wind; Isothermal Compression and Expansion of Air; Thermodynamics; Adiabatic Compression and Expansion; Compressed Air Indicator Card; Actual Work of Compressor; Multi-Stage Air Compression; Expansion of Compressed Air; Transmission of Power by Compressed Air; Reheating and Its Work; The Compressed Air Motor; Efficiency of Compressed Air at High Altitudes; Air Compressors; Compressed Air in Mining, Rock Drills; Pneumatic Tools; Air Pyrometer; Compressed Air in Railway Service; Pneumatic Sheep Shearing: The Compressed Air Blast; Compressed Air in the Bessemer Converter and Blast Furnace; Pneumatic System of Tube Transmission; Compressed Air in Warfare; Compressed Air for Raising Water; Refrigeration by Vacuum; Hygiene of Compressed Air; Liquid Air and Its Generation; A List of Patents on Compressed Air from 1875 to July, 1901. Large octavo; 800 pp.; 600 illustrations..... 5.00

KENT, WM., "Mechanical Engineers' Pocket Book." A reference book of rules, tables, data and formulæ, for the use of Engineers, Mechanics and Students. Morocco flap, 4 x 6½ ins.; 1,100 pp.; illustrated..... 5.00

LONGANECKER, E. W., "The Practical Gas Engineer;" A Manual of Practical Gas and Gasoline Engine Knowledge covering errors to be avoided in the construction of, and information on how to erect, operate and care for gas and gasoline engines. For the gas and gasoline engine owner, engineer or anyone wishing plain and practical information on this style of motor. A new series of juvenile books, with illuminated board covers, especially adapted to the tastes of small children from seven to ten years of age. They are substantially bound and all profusely illustrated. Each volume containing a colored frontispiece in addition to numerous half-tone and wood engravings. The volumes in this series, while modern copyrighted books, are all established favorites. Among some of the better known authors to contribute are Mary W. Morrison, Sarah J. Bridgman, Frank M. Bicknell, and others. The illustrations are by such famous children's artists as Paul Hardy, Reginald Birch, Mary A. Lathbury, L. J. Bridgman and others. The following titles will be issued this year:

Stories True and Fancies New.

By Mary W. Morrison (Jenny Wallis). A very entertaining collection of rhymes and chimes for young people. Illustrated by L. J. Bridgman.

The City of Stories.

By Frank M. Bicknell, author of "Learning the Business." Illustrated with over thirty drawings by Birch and other eminent artists.

Sayings and Doings in Fairyland.

By D. S. Sinclair, author of "The Enchanted Princess." Fully illustrated by Paul Hardy.

The Pleasant Land of Play.

By Sarah J. Brigham. A collection of stories and poems for the little ones. Illustrated by Mary A. Lathbury.

That Bother of a Boy.

By Grace Stebbins, author of "Wild Kathleen." With over thirty beautiful illustrations by Paul Hardy.

Each volume, large quarto, illuminated board covers. $1.00

The Boys of 1812

And Other Naval Heroes. By James Russell Soley, author of "The Blockade and the Cruisers," etc. With upwards of forty full-page and smaller illustrations, all from original drawings. Quarto. Handsomely printed from large type, and bound in cloth, with emblematic cover design, $2.00

This attractive volume — a reigning favorite with the boys — is a worthy companion to the famous "Boys of '61." It is an exciting narrative of our great naval war with Great Britain, including authentic accounts of the different battles and some romantic adventures of the participators therein. It gives the glorious traditions of the United States navy, from its smallest beginning during the Revolutionary War, and extending down to that with Mexico.

The Sailor Boys of '61.

By Prof. J. Russell Soley, author of the "Boys of 1812," etc. Elaborately and beautifully illustrated from original drawings. Handsomely printed from large type and neatly bound in cloth, with emblematic cover design, $2.00

A companion volume to "The Boys of '61" and "The Boys of 1812," the leading favorites with the boys. This volume, like its predecessors, is handsomely gotten up and illustrated, and successfully vies with them in interest, giving an accurate and vivid account of the naval engagements of the great Civil War, and the deeds of its gallant naval heroes.

Dickens's "A Child's History of England." Holiday edition.

With one hundred full-page illustrations by A. DeNeuville, Emile, Bayard, F. Lex, and others. 8vo, chromo-lithographed board covers. Reduced to $1.50

Same. Handsomely bound in cloth, extra, $2.00

A handsome holiday editio. of Dickens's famous history, printed from good type, and the only edition now in print that is illustrated by well-known artists of merit.

Charles Carleton Coffin's Famous War Stories.

The Boys of '61;

Or, Four Years of Fighting. An entirely new edition, uniform with the "Boys of '76," printed from a new set of plates and containing about 180 illustrations. A record of personal observation with the Army and Navy, from the Battle of Bull Run to the Fall of Richmond. By Charles Carleton Coffin, author of "The Boys of '76," "Our New Way Round the World," "Following the Flag," etc. With numerous full-page and smaller illustrations. The most successful boys' book published for years. Handsomely bound $2.00 in extra cloth, gilt, handsome new design.

The Carleton Series of Juveniles.

Winning His Way.

My Days and Nights on the Battlefield.

Following the Flag.

By Charles Carleton Coffin, author of "Boys of '61," etc. New Uniform Editions. Three vols., 12mo, neatly bound in cloth, with new dies in gold and ink, $3.75 boxed.

Sold Separately, each, 1.25

Hans Andersen's Fairy Tales.

A new edition embodying many original features, illustrated by J. J. Mora, author and illustrator of the "Animals of Æsop," illustrator of "Reynard the Fox," etc. The book will contain about 75 text cuts, and 24 full-page half-tones. A number of the tales will be omitted, but it has been the aim of the editor to retain all of the most notable and popular. Quarto, cloth, handsome cover design. $1.50

Reynard the Fox.

Burlesque poem from the German of the fifteenth century, containing the quaint original "Folk Tales" of the animal kingdom in amusing verse. Illustrated by 24 full-page and over 100 vignette drawings by J. J. Mora, author and illustrator of "The Animals of Æsop." Quarto, cloth, handsome cover design. $1.50

This book belongs to the rare class which is equally delightful to children and to their elders. In this regard it may be compared to "Gulliver's Travels," "Don Quixote," and "Pilgrim's Progress." For wit and shrewd satire, and for pure drollery both in situations and description, it is unsurpassed.

The Animals of Æsop.

As pictured by J. J. Mora. With 100 full-page illustrations, many of them in color. Small quarto, handsome cover design. A unique, humorous version of Æsop's Fables, written in an up-to-date manner, for boys and girls, and illustrated with fanciful and irresistibly funny pictures. Entirely original in conception and treatment, and, while primarily intended for young folks, certain to prove equally fascinating to older readers. Quarto, cloth. $1.50

The Boy Duck Hunters.

By Frank E. Kellogg. Sixteen full-page illustrations by J. W. Kennedy, and from Audubon's bird plates. Small quarto, cloth. $1.50

An extremely entertaining boys' story, which conveys a great deal of helpful instruction and information about duck hunting.

"The Boy Duck Hunters" is a handsomer book than the common run, with many large, fine pictures of wild fowl, humane distinctions to be observed in shooting them, and much instruction as to their haunts and habits, and the ways of getting them in the waters of the southwest, where the scene is laid. — Literary World.

The Substitute Quarter-back;

Or, The Quality of Mercy. By Eustace L. Williams.

Illustrated by L. J. Bridgman. An earnest, hearty, and wholesome story of school life, with vivid descriptions of exciting football games and other athletic contests. 12mo, cloth, handsome cover. $1.25

"A football story pure and simple, in which the roughnesses and the dangers, the hard feelings engendered, and the narrow escapes enjoyed, moral as well as spiritual, are stirringly depicted, with good lessons for all concerned." — Literary World.

Six Boys.

By Elizabeth W. Champney, author of the famous "Vassar Girls" series. Illustrated with full-page plates from original designs by Frank T. Merrill. Large 12mo, cloth. $1.50

Dan of Millbrook.

By Charles Carleton Coffin, author of "Boys of '61," "Winning His Way," etc. With eight full-page spirited illustrations from original designs by Merrill. Large 12mo, cloth. $1.50

The Tin Owl Stories.

By William Rose. Illustrated by L. J. Bridgman. It is safe to say that no more original book for children has been published for many years. "The Tin Owl Stories" recall the best work of Lewis Carroll, and are certain, if they receive their deserts, to rank as a juvenile classic. For conciseness, humor, and real glamour, these little tales are unsurpassed. Small quarto. $1.00

A Tar of the Old School.

By F. H. Costello, author of "On Fighting Decks in 1812," etc. A capital historical story of the War of 1812 for boys. Illustrated, 12mo, cloth. Reduced to $1.25

A story that will interest readers who love adventure, whether young or old. It describes the fortunes of a Yankee barque and the exploits of its crew among the corsairs of the coast of Barbary and later at other ports. The story glows with deeds of daring and hand-to-hand encounters.

On Fighting Decks in 1812.

By F. H. Costello, author of "Under the Rattlesnake Flag." Illustrated with eight fine full-page half-tones by J. Steeple Davis. 12mo, unique cover design. Reduced to $1.25

An exciting story of two boys who were wrecked in a sailboat off the coast of Maine and picked up by the frigate Constitution, on which they remain and serve their country in the famous historical fights with the Guerriere, Java, etc. All of the historical data is absolutely accurate, making the volume an excellent one for young people.

Under the Rattlesnake Flag.

By F. H. Costello, author of "Master Ardick, Buccaneer." Illustrated with full-page half-tone pictures from drawings by J. Steeple Davis. 12mo, unique cover design. Reduced to $1.25

A splendid sea story of the fateful early days of the American Revolution, told with absolute fidelity to its historic setting. In many ways the author is considered the equal of Clark Russell, especially so in his thrilling descriptions of sea fights.

Under the Cuban Flag;

Or, The Cacique's Treasure. By Fred A. Ober, author of "Travels in Mexico." Illustrated with full-page drawings. A thrilling story of adventures with the Cuban Insurgents. Small 8vo. Reduced to $1.25

The author has travelled over nearly every foot of ground in Cuba, and is thoroughly posted on Cuba and the Cubans, and what took place during their fight for independence.

Tommy Joyce and Tommy Joy.

By Harriet A. Cheever, author of "Lou," "Gipsy Jane," etc. Tommy Joyce was a spoiled child of wealth, and Tommy Joy was a poor plucky little orphan, who picked up pennies in the streets in return for odd jobs and errands. He secured a bunk on the Peggy Lane, which lay at anchor near Merchant's Wharf; and it was here that Tommy Joyce, who had been petted and indulged in everything, and showed his gratitude by running away from home, met him and struck up a friendship. The sequel is very interesting. The story is one of the best which this popular author has written. Illustrated by Bertha G. Davidson. Cloth, 12mo. $1.25

Voyage of the Charlemagne.

By William O. Stoddard, author of "Ned, Son of Webb," etc. Cloth, 12mo, handsome cover design. Illustrated with eight full-page half-tones by J. W. Kennedy. $1.25

Ned, Son of Webb: What He Did.

By William O. Stoddard, author of "Crowded Out o' Crofield," "Despatch Boat of the Whistle," etc. Illustrated with eight full-page half-tone plates from drawings by Victor A. Searles. Small 12mo, cloth, handsome cover design. $1.00

Play Away! A story of the Boston Fire Department, by Willis Boyd Allen. Cloth, 12mo, handsome cover design. Illustrated with six half-tones. $1.00

A book which commends itself at once to boys by its exciting movement and crowded incident, and to parents and teachers by its healthful and manly spirit. It has no padding, no preaching, no dull paragraphs.

Rebus Books for Little Folks.

This series of rebus books for children, the first volume of which, "What Did the Black Cat Do?" made such an unusual success, continues to hold its popularity. The idea of the series is unique. Each of the little books possesses the attractions of a story, game, picture-book, and puzzle, all in one. The short narratives are related by means of words and rebus illustrations, which alternate cleverly on the page and attract and please the eye of the child, as well as impart valuable information. The charming little pictures are numerous and extremely well drawn. They form a delightful commentary on the text, and aid mother or governess in teaching the little ones to read. The stories themselves deal with pet animals in their relation to children, and inculcate lessons of kindness and gentleness to the brute creation. This series constitutes a very original idea worked out with most painstaking care. Its mechanical make-up has a special view to the needs and preferences of a young child, the book being an oblong quarto, securely bound, and printed on heavy paper.

Puss in the Corner. By Edith Francis Foster. 75c

The Little Owls at Red Gates. By Ella Farman Pratt. Pictures by Edith Francis Foster. 75c

Jimmy Crow. By Edith Francis Foster. 75c

Where Was the Little White Dog? By Margaret Johnson. 75c

What Did the Black Cat Do? By Margaret Johnson 75c

The Booboo Book.

By Gertrude Smith, author of "The Arabella and Araminta Stories." An excellent book for young children who are doing their first reading or having stories read to them. Illustrated with over 20 reproductions from drawings by C. F. Relyea and Frank T. Merrill. Thin octavo, cloth, 75c

The Littlest One of the Browns.

By Sophie Swett, with many full-page illustrations by Frank T. Merrill and others. A very bright and entertaining story for young children. 16mo, cloth, 50c

The Story-Book House. By Honor Walsh. "The Story-Book House" is a rambling Colonial mansion in Virginia, where successive generations of children grow up in an atmosphere of old-fashioned courtesy, good cheer, and merriment. A great many interesting stories are told by different members of the household, and a running thread of plot lends a personal interest to the leading story-tellers themselves. The style has very unusual beauty, and it is no exaggeration to say that this unpretentious little book, designed especially for young readers, must prove fascinating to all lovers of good literature. In this day of slap-dash journalistic writing, it is a pleasure to come upon a book containing so much of real charm — a book in which every paragraph bears witness to the loving care which has gone into its making. Few who have begun "The Story-Book House" will lay it aside until finished. Illustrated, cloth, 12mo. $1.25

The Lollipop's Vacation,
AND OTHER STORIES. By Sophie Swett, author of "Pennyroyal and Mint," etc. For years the readers of St. Nicholas have been delighted with the charming short stories by this author, the best of which are now attractively presented in book form. The best of the original illustrations are used, and a large number of others by Etheldred B. Barry, the well-known illustrator of children's stories, have been added. Square 12mo, cloth, handsome cover design. $1.25

Sayings and Doings in Fairy Land.
By D. S. Sinclair, author of "The Enchanted Princess," "Sugar Plums for Children," etc. Beautifully illustrated by Paul Hardy. Square 12mo, cloth. $1.25

In this little volume the personages of our old nursery rhymes are made to go through many and varied adventures such as children love to read of.

Stories True and Fancies New.
By Mary W. Morrison (Jenny Wallis). A very entertaining collection of rhymes and chimes for young people, many of which have appeared in the Youth's Companion, Wide Awake, St. Nicholas. The cover design is by Amy Sacker, and the volume is profusely illustrated with quaint conceits by L. J. Bridgman. Small quarto, handsome cover design. $1.25

That Bother of a Boy.

By Grace Stebbins, author of "Wild Kathleen," etc. With 35 beautiful illustrations by Paul Hardy. Third edition, square 12mo, cloth. $1.25

"That Bother of a Boy" will remind some small urchins of the various bits of mischief they have perpetrated or would love to perform. If, however, they are also as good-hearted and honest as this especial little bother, most folks will readily forgive them their scrapes. The story is admirably told; it moves to laughter in almost every page and to "lumps in the throat" not seldom. It will be a favorite not only of this season but of many seasons to come.

The Pixie and Elaine Stories.

By Carrie E. Morrison. Small quarto, cloth. $1.25

Very novel and entertaining series of fairy stories for children, which originally appeared in the Children's Column of the Ladies' Home Journal with thirty illustrations by Reginald Birch and others.

"There are the usual adventures in fairyland and the Pixies and Elaines have their combats. The good always conquers the bad, and the moral of each tale is brought out in a delicate yet obvious manner." — Springfield Republican.

Little Mr. Van Vere of China.

By Harriet A. Cheever, author of "Little Jolliby's Christmas," etc. Illustrated by Etheldred B. Barry. Small quarto, handsome cover design. $1.25

An extremely interesting and pathetic story of a lovable little boy who, becoming weary of the drudgery of his life in a New York City attic, leaves it, when his guardian dies, and goes as a stowaway to China, where, after seeing many wonderful sights, he finds his father, whom he long since supposed dead.

The Pleasant Land of Play.

By Sarah J. Brigham. Illustrated by Mary A. Lathbury, the well-known illustrator of children's books. A collection of stories and poems for the little ones. Small quarto, handsome cover design. $1.25

Plucky Jo. By Edward S. Ellis, author of "Our Jim," "Lucky Ned," etc. Jo Hepburn is the sort of hero whom boys love — a tall, athletic, manly, and natural young fellow, who puts up a game fight under all conditions, and masters circumstances with modesty, but with easy assurance. From the time that he is introduced to us as a freckled, good-natured lad of twelve, until he parts with the reader as a graduate of Princeton and a man of business, he is everywhere the same sport-loving, honest, and captivating fellow, fond equally of play and hard work, and always ready to fight a bully and to shelter the weak. The description of his fight with the young negro tough, and of his plucky battle with the two burglars, makes spirited reading. In his college days he wins the championship in baseball for his Alma Mater, in a game which could only be described by an athletic enthusiast. From first to last the story makes ideal reading for boys who admire grit, daring, and success. Illustrated by J. W. Kennedy. Cloth, 12mo. $1.25

Patriot and Tory.

By Edward S. Ellis. A story of the Revolutionary War, in which accurate information is mingled with exciting episodes. The boy hero is captured by the British, and barely escapes being shot as a spy. The story introduces a memorable picture of George Washington, and shows with fairness the position and views of the Loyalists, as well as of the side which finally won success in the Revolution. Illustrated by J. W. Kennedy. Cloth, 12mo. $1.25

True Blue; A Story of Luck and Pluck.

By Edward S. Ellis. Illustrated by J. W. Kennedy. Cloth, 12mo. $1.25

A highly interesting story, with a rapid, easy style, and very strong and unusual plot. Like all of Mr. Ellis's books, it conveys a sound moral lesson. The hero of the story achieves success through hard work and faithfulness to duty, while another boy, of the same age, places his confidence in luck. The contrast between the two theories of life is strikingly drawn. Boys will be certain to like this story.

Lucky Ned.

By Edward S. Ellis. Cloth, 12mo. $1.25
Illustrated by J. W. Kennedy.

The point of view in this story is similar to that of Mr. Ellis's "Our Jim." Ned Greenwood is a thoroughly boy-like boy, and his exploits are related with great animation and sympathy. There are touches of very convincing humor, the tone is wholesome and manly, and the plot is of unusual interest.

Our Jim;

Or, The Power of Example. By Edward S. Ellis. Author of "History of Our Country," etc., Boy Pioneer Series, Deerfoot Series, etc. A wholesome and interesting book for boys. Eight illustrations by J. W. Kennedy. 12mo. $1.25

Mexican War Series, 3 Volumes.

For the Liberty of Texas.

By Captain Ralph Bonehill, author of "Flag of Freedom Series." 12mo, eight illustrations, attractive cover design. $1.25

The first volume in a series of Mexican War stories, being an interesting and instructive account of the adventures of Sam Houston and other famous Texans.

With Taylor on the Rio Grande.

By Captain Ralph Bonehill. Illustrated by eight full-page half-tone illustrations, 12mo, cloth, handsome cover design. $1.25

This is a complete story in itself, but forms the second volume in the Mexican War Series. Relates the adventures of the two brothers, Dan and Ralph Radbury, with their old friend, Poke Stover, the scout, under old "Rough and Ready" at the battles of Palo Alto, Monterey, Buena Vista.

Under Scott in Mexico.

By Captain Ralph Bonehill. Being the third and concluding volume in the popular Mexican War Series. Uniform with "For the Liberty of Texas," and "With Taylor on the Rio Grande." Illustrated with eight full-page half-tones. Cloth, 12mo, handsome cover design by Miss Amy Sacker. $1.25

The Minute Boys of the Mohawk Valley

By James Otis, author of "Minute Boys of the Green Mountains," etc.

A splendid historical story for boys, full of interest and excitement. It is founded closely on fact. The scene is laid in the Mohawk Valley, Province of New York, and the narrative opens in 1777, when Joseph Brant, chief of the Mohawk tribe, entered New York from Canada with a large force of Indians. The principal characters are two sturdy boys, Noel Campbell and his friend and comrade, Jacob Sitz. Illustrated by A. B. Shute. Cloth, 12mo. $1.25

The Minute Boys of the Green Mountains.

By James Otis. It is unquestionably one of the best historical stories yet written by the author. Illustrated by A. Burnham Shute. Cloth, 12mo, unique cover design. $1.25

The Minute Boys of Bunker Hill.

By Edward Stratemeyer. The second volume in the MINUTE BOYS SERIES. Illustrated with eight full-page half-tones from drawings by J. W. Kennedy. 12mo, unique cover design. $1.25

A splendid historical story for boys, giving with great accuracy the actual happenings at the Battle of Bunker Hill and during the siege and evacuation of Boston.

The Minute Boys of Lexington.

By Edward Stratemeyer. Illustrated by A. B. Shute. 12mo, unique cover design. An excellent story for boys, founded on historical data, and full of healthful excitement throughout. It makes one, through the principal characters, feel as though he were himself taking a prominent part in the stirring events. $1.25

James Otis's Books for Boys and Girls.

The "Stories of American History" Series.

By James Otis, author of "Boys of '98," "The Cruise of the Comet," etc. Each story complete in one volume; with 17 original illustrations by L. J. Bridgman. Small quarto, neatly bound in extra cloth. 75c

These spirited stories make ideal boys' books. They are fascinating and instructive, and are written in the clear, vigorous style and with the accurate sense of historical values which have won such wide-spread praise from the press of the country. Mr. Otis shows rare judgment in his selection of incidents. He takes for his subjects the most exciting and momentous events in our national history, and each successive volume is eagerly awaited by thousands of young people all over America.

1. Defending the Island: A Story of Bar Harbor in 1758.
2. When We Destroyed the Gaspee.
3. Boston Boys of 1775.
4. When Dewey Came to Manila.

10. An Island Refuge: Casco Bay in 1676.
11. Neal the Miller: A Son of Liberty.
12. Ezra Jordan's Escape from the Massacre at Fort Loyall.

"The secret of the author's success lies in his wonderful sympathy with the aspirations of child-life, his truthful delineation of life among the class of children who act as his object-lessons, and his avoidance of anything that would have a tendency to pander to any unhealthy taste."

The Princess and Joe Potter. By James Otis. A new volume in the "Jenny Wren Series." Illustrated with numerous full-page and text drawings by Violet Oakley. Small quarto, handsome cover design. $1.25

An excellent story of newsboy life in New York City, in the delineation of which the author is best known.

Jenny Wren's Boarding House.

"Jenny Wren's Boarding House" is distinctively a story of newsboy life in New York, and Mr. Otis very quickly finds his way to the sensitive and loving heart that beats under the ragged and torn coat of the little boy who is untiring in his efforts to sell his papers and thereby earn a mere pittance with which to sustain life. His newsboys are real and very wide-awake." — Boston Herald.

Teddy and Carrots;

Or, Two Merchants of Newspaper Row. By James Otis. The fourth volume in the series of which "Jenny Wren's Boarding House" was the first. Illustrated by W. A. Rogers. A highly entertaining story of street arab life in New York City, giving the trials of two boys in their endeavours to successfully establish themselves in business. Square 12mo, cloth. $1.25

Jerry's Family.

The story of a street waif of New York. By James Otis. Illustrated with sixteen original drawings by George Foster Barnes. Square 12mo, cloth. $1.25

A new story in Otis's best vein, the scene being one in which he has won many brilliant successes, viz., picturing life among the great army of New York street arabs.

The Boys' Revolt.

A story of the street arabs of New York. By James Otis. Illustrated with sixteen original designs by W. P. Hooper. Square 12mo, cloth. $1.25

By Edward Everett Hale. Illustrated with full-page half-tones. Probably no story has ever been written that appeals more to one's patriotism and love of country than this powerful narrative.

10. Editha's Burglar.

By Frances Hodgson Burnett, author of "Little Lord Fauntleroy." Illustrated with fourteen half-tone plates from drawings by Henry Sandham. This is one of the prettiest, daintiest little stories that the author has ever written. Its sales have already reached beyond one hundred thousand copies.

11. Jess.

By J. M. Barrie, author of "The Little Minister," etc. Illustrated with full-page plates. An extremely interesting story of Jess and her Window in Thrums.

12. Little Rosebud.

By Beatrice Harraden. Illustrated with about fifty full-page and text cuts. A charming story written in the author's most pleasing manner.

13. His Majesty the King. By Rudyard Kipling. This volume contains two stories, the title story and "Wee Willie Winkie," which are justly considered the most famous of Kipling's stories about children. The volume will be illustrated with four full-page half-tones by J. W. Kennedy.

14. The Boys' Browning.

A selection of Browning's poems which appeal to boys, including such well-known poems as "The Pied Piper of Hamelin," "Hervé Riel," "How the Good News Was Brought from Ghent to Aix," etc. Illustrated with six full-page half-tones by Louis Meynelle.

15. Little Tong's Mission.

By Miss E. B. Barry, the well-known illustrator, who for years has contributed short stories to St. Nicholas, Youth's Companion, Wide Awake, and other juvenile magazines. A charming story of a little cripple boy. The volume will be illustrated by the author, which will make it of exceptional interest.

16. The Gold Bug.

By Edgar Allan Poe. This volume is considered one of the most famous stories that Poe ever wrote, and is regarded as a classic. It is illustrated with four full-page half-tones by J. W. Kennedy.

17. Harum Scarum Joe.

By Will Allen Dromgoole. A story of a lively boy who continually gets into trouble. An extremely interesting volume for young people. Illustrated with four full-page half-tones from drawings by Louis Meynelle.

18. The Story without End.

This quaint, sweet story was written over half a century ago, and has appeared in a great many editions, reaching a very large sale. It is now printed from entirely new plates, and illustrated with twelve half-tone reproductions of the colored plates which appeared in the original edition which has been out of print for years.

19. The Little Earl.

By Ouida. This author's stories for children are among the classics of modern literature, and this book is no exception.

20. The Child of Urbino and Moufflou.

Two short stories by Ouida (Louise de la Ramée), with cover design and illustrations by Etheldred B. Barry.

21. The Countess of the Tenements.

By Etheldred B. Barry, the well-known illustrator. Miss Barry is the author of "Little Tong's Mission" and several other charming juvenile stories. The cover and illustrations for this book are by the author.

22. The Burglar's Daughter.

By Margaret Penrose, illustrated by Frank T. Merrill. A companion volume to "Editha's Burglar," by Frances H. Burnett.

23. The Legend of Sleepy Hollow.

By Washington Irving. This charming story, which has been so popular for so many years, is in its new and attractive form doubly interesting. The story is illustrated with full-page cuts from original drawings by F. O. C. Darley.

24. The Bicycle Highwayman.

By Frank M. Bicknell, author of "The City of Stories." An extremely entertaining and fanciful story, illustrated by L. J. Bridgman. This story begins March 32, and relates the mad pranks of boys provided with bicycles having all the latest electric and pneumatic improvements.

25. Ted's Little Dear.

By Harriet A. Cheever, author of "Little Mr. Van Vere of China," "The Strange Adventures of Billy Trill," etc. Illustrations and cover design by Etheldred B. Barry. A charming, sweet, and pathetic story of a pet spaniel and his masters, as told by himself.

26. What Came to Winifred.

By Elizabeth Timlow, author of "The Cricket Books," "Dorothy Dot," etc. Illustrations by Etheldred B. Barry.

Under this felicitous title, Mrs. Timlow gives us a captivating story of a little girl of eleven years, who is the inseparable companion and playfellow of her father, and the friend of all who meet her. Winifred is one of the most charming children ever put into fiction.

27. Madame Angora.

By Harriet A. Cheever, author of "Strange Adventures of Billy Trill," "Ted's Little Dear," etc. Illustrations by J. J. Mora.

28. The Double Prince.

By Frank M. Bicknell, author of "The Bicycle Highwayman," "The City of Stories," etc. Illustrations by Bertha G. Davidson.

An irresistibly droll tale of Roli-poli, the prince who lived in the moon, and of his startling adventures. Original and wholesome.

29. The Rose and the Ring.

By William M. Thackeray. With numerous original illustrations by the author. One of the most charming stories in all English literature.

30. The Grasshopper's Hop.

A collection of verses for children, by Zitella Cocke. Illustrations by J. J. Mora.

Miss Cocke has achieved the unique success of writing verses which will interest children themselves as much as adult lovers of children. Her poems in Youth's Companion and St. Nicholas have been very widely quoted in the press, and a number of them are set to music. As genuine an addition to child literature in its way as Stevenson's famous "Garden of Verses."

31. A Christmas Carol.

By Charles Dickens. The most famous Christmas story in English literature is here presented in very attractive form, and with new and original illustrations.

32 Lives of Two Cats.

By Pierre Loti. No more charming and tender tribute to household pets was ever written. The style is perfect, and the story graceful and pathetic.

33 The Rosy Cloud.

By George Sand. This familiar story by the greatest of women novelists is perennially interesting to young and old. Its quaint poetic charm is irresistible.

34 Jackanapes.

By Juliana Horatia Ewing. A children's story whose popularity is as great as when it was first published about twenty years ago. Its spirit is wholesome and chivalrous, and its style exquisite.

35 Wonder-Box Tales.

By Jean Ingelow. Among the most fascinating fairy tales of modern literature. These stories have not a dull paragraph, yet they all inculcate healthful moral lessons. They place the author at once by the side of Grimm and Andersen as a master in this difficult field of writing.

36 Daddy Joe's Fiddle.

By Faith Bickford. The story of a charming little heroine who begins life as a waif. Under the encouragement of persons who befriend her, she develops unexpected skill with the violin, and wins a notable triumph as a musician.

One of the most tender and sympathetic studies of child nature to be found in recent literature. The author is a new writer of marked promise. The story is interesting equally to children and grown-up lovers of children.

Illustrated by Edith Francis Foster.
Cloth, thin 12mo.

37 Little Dick's Christmas.

By Etheldred B. Barry, author of "Little Tong's Mission." A touching story of a child's influence over a hard-hearted old man. The quaint little hero will win the love of even the most hardened reader, and the illustrations by the versatile author add greatly to its interest and charm.
Cloth, thin 12mo.

38. Gloria.

By Faith Bickford. Miss Bickford's first book, "Daddy Joe's Fiddle," won immediate recognition. The little girl who gives her name to this book — brave, loving little Gloria — is a contribution to the unforgetable children of literature. Illustrated.

39. What Paul Did.

By Etheldred B. Barry. A merry little tale, which has just enough of the added element of tender pathos to give it the most lasting charm. The ending is cheerful, and the simple story will command throughout the interest of the young in heart from eight to eighty. Illustrated by the author.

40. Mr. Penwiper's Fairy Godmother.

By Amy Woods. This story introduces a new writer and is an uncommonly clever "first book." The characters are lifelike, the style is bright and crisp, and something happens in every paragraph. Every child will love little Mary Gray and be captivated with "Mr. Penwiper." Patience and unselfishness, old-fashioned virtues, were never more beautifully illustrated than in this story. Miss Woods offers the little people a genuine treat.

41. The Old Monday Farm.

By Louise R. Baker, author of "Cis Martin," "Sunbeams and Moonbeams," etc. Charley Swan's father bought a farm, and let Charley run it. The boy loved farming, and the two hundred and ten acres on "old man Monday's place" offered opportunities for raising crops, haying, lumbering, fishing, and hunting. Of course Charley had the time of his life. Even his troubles, perplexities, and mistakes proved good for him, and what he failed to gain in wealth was amply made up in experience.

Animal Stories for Little Folks

By HARRIET A. CHEEVER

Mrs. Cheever, who has the rare ability to make animals talk realistically, has won for herself a wide audience of devoted readers by her charming tales of animal life.

1. The Rock Frog.
A quaint and delightful story for children with a frog for chief character. This little book is as sympathetic and convincing as though written about a horse, dog, or cat. Illustrated by Diantha W. Horne. 12mo, cloth. 50c

2. Lady Spider.
Perhaps the most original thing which Mrs. Cheever has done is the story of a spider, which she now offers to her little readers. Illustrated. 12mo, cloth. 50c

3. Lord Dolphin.
A quaint, naïve little story of a fish, told with rare spirit and sympathy. Every boy and girl will enjoy this delightful autobiography of Lord Dolphin, the traveller and story-teller of the Mediterranean. Illustrated by Diantha W. Horne. Cloth, 12mo. 50c

4. Mother Bunny.
Another captivating animal story. The principal character this time is a rabbit, and her adventures will delight the heart of every child. Illustrated by Diantha W. Horne. Cloth, 12mo. 50c

5. Doctor Robin.
Illustrated by Etheldred B. Barry. "Doctor Robin" is a bird story told with unusual humor and originality. It will appeal to any child who cares for pets or is interested in natural history. Cloth, 12mo. 50c

6. Madame Angora.
Illustrated by J. J. Mora. An entertaining and interesting story of the life of a fond mother cat and her family. Cloth, 12mo. 50c

8. The Strange Adventures of Billy Trill.
Illustrations and cover design by Etheldred B. Barry. A charming little story of a canary's mishaps, as told by himself. A veritable "Black Beauty" of a bird story. Cloth, 12mo. 50c

Famous Children of Literature.

A new series edited by Frederic Lawrence Knowles. These charming little books are designed as an introduction to the masterpieces of modern fiction, and present in a plain and concise way the histories of the child hero and heroine apart from the large mass of unrelated matter with which the stories are originally connected. The tales will be told as nearly as possible in the exact language of the authors.

1. The Story of Little Paul.

The Little Paul of Dickens's "Dombey and Son" is one of the immortal children of fiction. During his brief life he has time to steal into the affections of every one about him. His story will make a strong appeal to every reader, young and old, and from its sweetness and wholesome charm is especially suited to young boys and girls. Not only brave and old-fashioned little Paul figures in these chapters, but other children, too, — his beautiful sister, Florence, handsome, chivalrous young Walter Gay, and the inimitable Toots. Illustrations by Bertha G. Davidson and others. Cloth, 12mo, $1.00

2. The Story of Little Peter.

Every healthy-minded boy or girl loves Captain Marryat. His masterpiece in the judgment of many critics is "Peter Simple," and in this latest addition to the Famous Children of Literature Series we have the story of the hero carefully edited for children who are a little too young to appreciate the great novel in its entirety. Peter meets with scores of breathless adventures on land and sea and in France, where he is taken prisoner. For a wealth of exciting incidents, hairbreadth escapes, disguises, and plots, the book would suit the most adventurous boy. This is one of the best sea tales in existence, and in the present form, carefully condensed to suit the tastes and needs of children, makes an ideal gift book for the girls and boys.
Fully illustrated. Cloth, 12mo, $1.00

3. Little Tom and Maggie.
By George Eliot. Illustrations from original drawings by Frank T. Merrill and others. Cloth, 12mo, $1.00

4. Little David.
By Charles Dickens. Illustrated by Miss Etheldred B. Barry and others. Cloth, 12mo, $1.00

5. Little Nell.
By Charles Dickens. The illustrations are drawn especially for the book by Miss Etheldred B. Barry. Cloth, 12mo, $1.00

6. Little Eva.
By Harriet Beecher Stowe. Beautifully illustrated from new designs by Miss Etheldred B. Barry. Cloth, 12mo, $1.00

Cricket at the Seashore.

By Elizabeth W. Timlow. Illustrated by Harriet Roosevelt Richards. A sequel to "Cricket." 16mo, cloth. $1.00

Cricket.

A charming story of the haps and mishaps of a little girl and her friends. By Elizabeth W. Timlow. Illustrated with eight full-page plates from original designs by Harriet Roosevelt Richards. 16mo, cloth. $1.00

Ruby and Ruthy Series.

By Minnie E. Paull. Illustrated by Jessie McDermott Walcott.

Ruby's Vacation.

16mo, cloth, with an original and attractive cover design. 75c

The fourth volume in a popular series of stories, whose little heroines have ensconced themselves in a high place in the favor of their constantly increasing circle of readers.

Ruby at School.

16mo, cloth, new cover design. 75c

"Third volume of the Ruby Series is 'Ruby at School,' and, like its predecessors, it tells of many naughty deeds of the little heroine, but leaves her very much improved. She is fortunate enough to encounter several persons who tell her stories of old times, and these very pleasantly diversify the main narrative." — Boston Herald.

Ruby's Ups and Downs.

16mo, cloth, new cover design. 75c

"These two little girls have won for themselves hosts of admirers who will anxiously follow the new chapters in their fortunes which Mrs. Paull now gives them. Mrs. Paull knows children, and knows how to please and interest them." — Boston Daily Advertiser.

Ruby and Ruthy.

16mo, cloth, new cover design. 75c

A bright book, pleasantly describing the adventures and mishaps of two little country girls and their friend from the city.

Josie Bean: Flat Street.

By Harriet A. Cheever. The story of a brave young girl who rose, by her own exertions, from poverty and obscure surroundings, to successful work as an artist. The character of Josie possesses as great charm and beauty as her rosy face, surrounded by its frame of auburn hair. This is a wholesome, breezy book, ideally suited for girls. Cloth, 12mo, illustrated by Diantha W. Horne. $1.25

Lou.

By Harriet A. Cheever. Mrs. Cheever has never created a more breezy and original child than the young heroine, who retains her happy-hearted and unselfish spirit in prosperity as well as in the days of hardship and struggle. The plot of the story is simple, but it holds the attention to the last page. Illustrated by Bertha G. Davidson. Cloth, 12mo. $1.25

Gipsy Jane.

By Harriet A. Cheever. A story for girls. Mrs. Cheever gives us in this story of the happy-hearted little gipsy a tale of unsurpassed sweetness and vivacity, and one which will appeal equally to young and old. It is a romantic, sunshiny little story, which will be read over and over again. Illustrated by B. G. Davidson. Cloth, 12mo. $1.25

Maid Sally.

By Harriet A. Cheever. In these days when such universal interest is felt in the history of the American Revolution, this charming story of a loyal little Colonial maid will win many admirers. It is one of the best books written by this author, who long since won a wide audience of devoted readers among the boys and girls of the land. Illustrated by Bertha G. Davidson. 12mo. $1.25

The Brass Bound Box.

A story for girls. By Evelyn Raymond, author of "Doings of Nancy," etc. "The Brass Bound Box" has a gay, spirited young heroine, and a fine, honest, mischief-loving boy, and a dear, lovable, old-fashioned gentlewoman, and a big country-house with traditions and secret chamber, and a mystery, and adventures, and a happy conclusion, and, in short, everything that the most exacting reader could ask in a story for young folks. While intended especially for girls, the book would interest boys, too. Illustrated by D. W. Horne. Cloth, 12mo. $1.25

The Doings of Nancy

By Evelyn Raymond. A captivating story for girls by the author of "Boys and Girls of Brantham," "Mixed Pickles," "My Lady Barefoot," etc. Nancy is an adorable little heroine, if there ever was one, — brave, plucky, capable, and a perfect fountain of good cheer. Her brother is crippled in a football game, and her father loses his position during the hard times, but Nancy rises to the emergency, and answers an advertisement for a boy to do gardening. She gets the place, too, though the idea of a girl for a rival is very unpopular with the boys who want the job. $1.00 Illustrated, cloth, 12mo.

Six Girls.

By Fanny Belle Irving. New edition. No book on our list has enjoyed a steadier and longer popularity than "Six Girls," written by a niece of Washington Irving. It has won its way by the best kind of advertising — personal recommendations among readers. It now appears printed from entirely new plates, on high grade paper, with eight beautiful full-page illustrations by A. G. Learnard, and a unique and handsome cover design by Amy Sacker. Cloth, 12mo. $1.25

The Armstrongs.

By Laura E. Richards. Three city children — Edith, May, and Agatha Armstrong — spend a summer with their mother's spinster cousin, Miss Eunice Verney, who occupies a big ancestral farm in the country. The visit to Bywood is fruitful in adventures, which are related to the mother of the girls in a series of letters written by each of the children, and also by dear, prim, kind-hearted Miss Eunice. Phil, the brother of the three girls, and a very wide-awake and attractive boy, also figures prominently in the story. Illustrated by Julia Ward Richards. Cloth, 12mo. $1.25

The Merryweathers.

By Laura E. Richards. A new girls' book by this always popular writer. The title suggests the gay, delightful spirit of the story. Without revealing the fascinating plot, it may be said that no book of Mrs. Richards, since the publication of "Captain January," has achieved more instant and wide success. The story comprises the concluding adventures of some of the characters of the famous Margaret and Hildegarde Series. Illustrated, cloth, 12mo. $1.25

Mary 'n' Mary

By Edith Francis Foster, author of "Jimmy Crow," "Puss in the Corner," etc.

A captivating story for young girls, by the author of several popular volumes in the successful rebus series. It is profusely illustrated with text-cuts by the writer, whose work as an artist is well and favorably known. The two Marys in the story — one born of rich parents, and the other of poor — are both healthy, natural, fun-loving little girls that win the affection of the reader from the first page. The children meet with the usual number of mishaps and adventures, and are safely delivered out of them all to ensure the indispensable happy ending. Cloth, 12mo. $1.25

The Hildegarde Series.

By LAURA E. RICHARDS.

Hildegarde's Harvest.

By Laura E. Richards. The fifth volume of the Hildegarde Series. Illustrated with eight full-page cuts. Square 16mo, cloth. $1.25

"Every mother who takes her little child upon her knee will feel the worth of this book for story reading. Mrs. Richards seems to have anticipated every mood and every liking of children in the variety of story and verse she has provided for their delectation. Innocent fun, bewitching jingle, touches of tenderness, and bits of wisdom are all mingled together." — Primary Education.

The Hurdy-Gurdy.

By Laura E. Richards. Mrs. Richards gives new evidence of her versatility by entering the field of nonsense verse. Every poem has an illustration by Mr. J. J. Mora, and the pictures are as good as the rhymes. $1.00

The jingles in this book are as captivating as the immortal lyrics in "Alice in Wonderland." For ingenious rhymes, for fluency of fancy, and for pure fun, they are unsurpassed in recent literature, and form the drollest, most clever book of humorous child-verse published for many years. The titles themselves are an inspiration. What could be better than "Little Dame Dowdy," "The Banching Bogdo," and "Bungay Land"?

Five Mice in a Mouse Trap.

The story of their lives and other wonderful things related by the Man in the Moon, done in the vernacular from the lunacular form by Laura E. Richards, author of "Captain January," "Melody," "Queen Hildegarde," etc. With a large number of beautiful illustrations by Addie Ledyard, Kate Greenaway, and others. Handsomely bound in cloth. $1.25

By Laura E. Richards. Quarto, cloth, gilt top. $1.25

A series of papers which has already delighted the many readers of St. Nicholas, now revised and published in book form, with many additions. The title most happily introduces the reader to the charming home life of Doctor Howe and Mrs. Julia Ward Howe, during the childhood of the author, and one is young again in reading the delightful sketches of happy child life in this most interesting family.

Le Capitaine Janvier.

Translated from the English by Maurice Deshais.

This is an excellent French translation of Laura E. Richards's ever popular "Captain January." This story has attained such wide celebrity in the Old World as well as the new, that in response to repeated demands its translation into French has been excellently done by M. Maurice Deshais, with the author's consent and approval. In this country the new version should prove most delightful reading for students and lovers of the French language. Illustrated with thirty half-tone pictures from drawings by Frank T. Merrill. Handsome cover design, 4to, cloth. $1.25

The Green Satin Gown.

By Laura E. Richards. Seven interesting stories for girls. It is only necessary to announce another book by Mrs. Richards to win for it an enthusiastic welcome from press and public. The Home Journal of Boston says: "A girl's book by Laura E. Richards is sure to be delightful and well-written." Ever since Mrs. Richards delighted American children with "Captain January," they have looked forward with eagerness to each new story that has come from her pen. The publishers can assure the author's wide circle of admirers that "The Green Satin Gown" is one of the most entertaining books she has ever written. Illustrated, cloth, 12mo. $1.00

New Uniform Edition of Mrs. Richards's Tales and Romances.

Each, tall 16mo. Cloth back, cartridge-paper sides, gilt top. 75c

Mrs. Tree's Will. The admirers of "Mrs. Tree," to which this story is a sequel, will be pleased to learn more about the delightful heroine of that book. Without giving away in advance the unique plot of this story, it is perhaps enough to say of it that it is brimming over with rare humor, delicate pathos, and convincing description. "Mrs. Tree's Will" cannot fail to establish the author's place in the upper rank of American novelists, and to attain a sale greater than that of its popular predecessors. Illustrated by Frank T. Merrill.

Mrs. Tree.

A short novel of irresistible charm and originality. A companion story to Geoffrey Strong. The Detroit Free Press is not alone in thinking "Mrs. Tree" the jolliest, merriest, drollest book Mrs. Richards ever wrote. Fully illustrated by Frank T. Merrill.

Geoffrey Strong.

In this charming romance of a New England village Mrs. Richards shows herself as much at home in the story for adult readers as she has formerly in the children's story. This tale has been pronounced "the American Cranford." Illustrated by F. T. Merrill.

Captain January (new edition).

A charming story whose success has been remarkable. One reads it, is delighted with it, tells others, and so its fame is heralded, until to-day it is selling by thousands. Illustrated by F. T. Merrill.

Love and Rocks.

With frontispiece by Mercier. A charming story of one of the pleasant islands that dot the rugged Maine coast, told in the author's most graceful manner.

For Tommy.

An entertaining and interesting collection of short stories. With frontispiece by Frank T. Merrill.

"Mrs. Richards has the short story style to perfection — a kind of meditative narration which tells the story in large part in the thoughts which are supposed to be passing through the minds of the chief actors."

The Girlhood of Shakespeare's Heroines. By Mary Cowden Clarke. When Mary Cowden Clarke died in 1898, in her ninetieth year, the world lost one of the most interesting and brilliant women of the last century. She had been an associate of Mary Lamb, and had published her scholarly "Concordance of Shakespeare" in 1846. The text of the present work, Mrs. Clarke's masterpiece, which first appeared in 1850, follows the revised edition of 1891, comprising several entirely new tales. There are fifteen stories in all, three to a volume. This daring series of fictions, which the brilliant author assures the reader in her preface were prompted by love and not presumption, aims to imagine those possible circumstances and influences surrounding the infancy, childhood, and early youth of Shakespeare's heroines which conduced to their mature character as developed in the plays of the great master. The stories will interest adult readers as well as girls, in view of their careful delineations of character. An idea of the contents may be suggested by quoting the titles of a few stories: "Portia, the Heiress of Belmont," "Desdemona, the Magnifico's Child," and "Rosalind and Celia: the Friends." This work is an assured classic. Five volumes, fully illustrated, sold in sets or breakable. Cloth, 12mo, per volume, $1.25
Per set, 6.25

Stories from Shakespeare.

By M. Surtees Townesend. The writer who would challenge comparison with Lamb's "Tales from Shakespeare" would seem foredoomed to failure, but the fact remains that Mr. Townesend's book holds its place by the side of that immortal classic with firmness and distinction. Several of the plays here paraphrased, moreover, are not among those included in the earlier book. The stories, ten in number, are related with rare grace, finish, and sense of proportion, and the volume, although designed especially for the young, is certain to delight both children and their elders. This is a genuine addition to juvenile literature, and can hardly fail to win a very secure place among books of its class.
12mo, cloth, attractive cover design, 46 illustrations, including 3 full-page color plates. $1.75

Three Hundred Things a Bright Girl Can Do.

By Lilla Elizabeth Kelley. A complete treasury of suggestions on games, indoor and outdoor sports, handiwork, embroidery, sloyd, pyrography, sewing and cooking, scientific experiments, puzzles, candy-making, home decoration, physical culture, methods of entertaining friends and evening companies, ways of making money and of helping others. The most exhaustive popular treatise of this kind ever published. Unequalled for variety, amusement, bright and original style, happy atmosphere, and practical usefulness. The author is a popular journalist and club-woman of Boston. This work contains over 700 illustrations, and the numerous suggestions are numbered and indexed that they will be readily available. The book will prove an invaluable addition to a girl's library. Cloth, 12mo. $1.75

A Little Cook-Book for a Little Girl.

By the author of "Gala Day Luncheons." This is a book which has long been needed. It explains how to cook so simply that no one can fail to understand every word, even a complete novice. For girls of eight to twelve who are learning to make plain or pretty dishes and are discouraged by the confusing receipts in ordinary cook-books, it will be indispensable. The author has an accurate comprehension of her subject, and, what is more important, a complete knowledge of what a child needs in the way of elementary and yet thorough instruction. The author has been for many years a writer for the press and a department editor in household and juvenile magazines of high standing. This delightful handbook is the fruit of lifelong experience, and is certain to fire the ambition of any little girl who wants to know just how to prepare cereals and eggs, fish and meats, soups, salads, vegetables, desserts, and ices. The book also tells how to make different kinds of candy, as well as light luncheons for carrying to school. The simple, vivacious style makes this little manual as delightful reading as a story-book. Cloth, small 12mo. 75c

A Hermit's Wild Friends; Or, Eighteen Years in the Woods. By Mason A. Walton. A volume of animal and woodcraft lore, by a well-known hermit of Gloucester. Mr. Walton has contributed for years to Forest and Stream under the pseudonym of "Hermit," and has also written for the Youth's Companion and other periodicals, besides corresponding with distinguished naturalists the world over. Thousands of persons have penetrated to his lonely cabin in the woods, where he has lived entirely alone for nearly a score of years. He has enjoyed the intimate friendship of such men as the late Frank Bolles, and other eminent students of nature. No one living has probably more intimate knowledge of the haunts and habits of the shyer species of animals as well as plants. The work will be a very notable addition to recent out-of-door books, and will embody many original and unique features. It will be illustrated in part by the author's photographs of wild creatures which have come under his own observation. Large 12mo, cloth. $2.00

Some Famous American Schools. By Oscar Fay Adams. A full description of the foundation, history, and tradition of such noted American boys' schools as Phillips Exeter, Phillips Andover, St. Paul's, Lawrenceville, St. Mark's, etc. The book is written in a chatty, anecdotal style, and includes accounts of famous events in the academic and athletic life of the institutions represented, and anecdotes of the undergraduate days of famous alumni. The author is widely known as the popular secretary of the Boston Authors' Club, and the editor of the indispensable "Dictionary of American Authors," as well as other works. This history of the noted boys' boarding-schools of America, the first and only publication in its field, is the result of untiring research and correspondence. A similar account of famous girls' schools is shortly to follow. Illustrated, cloth, 12mo. $1.50

Eve's Daughters.

Epigrams about Women from World-wide Sources. Compiled by a mere man and portrayed by A. G. Learned.

"Eve's Daughters" flashes like a case of jewels. It borrows from the wit, wisdom, and brilliancy of many literatures.

The subject is one of perennial fascination.

The authors are the greatest of all lands — including Euripides, Shakespeare, Goethe, Hugo, Balzac, Cervantes, Tolstóy, and Emerson. The great French stylists, who are the masters alike of good-natured raillery at the expense of women, and of the most graceful worship at the feminine altar, are represented liberally. But the standard English and American writers are by no means neglected, and Addison, Ruskin, Byron, Thackeray, Holmes, and many others hold their own valiantly by the side of Rabelais, La Rochefoucauld, La Bruyère, Ninon de Lenclos, Michelet, Maupassant, and Bourget.

Unusual taste has been shown in the selection of material. A gentle tone of satire adds pungency to many of the aphorisms, but the note of contempt for women which has marred most of the witty writings about them in all ages is carefully avoided; so also is the note of coarseness. What has been allowed to stand is graceful, spicy, and delightfully humorous. Epigrams are included about coquettes, flirts, widows, the débutante, the prude, the summer girl, and the noblest types of wife and mother. Foibles and shams are exposed with genial banter, and the highest ideals of womanhood are also held up for admiration. The book is well fitted for a holiday and anniversary gift, and is at once educational and amusing, provocative of thought, and adapted to the idlest mood of mental recreation. The illustrations are the most original feature. Every page has an artistic and exquisite line illustration. The delicate marginal drawings, as well as the full-page designs, are made with rare skill by the celebrated American artist, A. G. Learned, whose covers for the Ladies' Home Journal and other high-class magazines are well known, and whose heads of pretty girls have led many to predict for the young artist a fame as brilliant as that of Gibson, Allan Gilbert, or Christy. His work is never imitative, and his sense of the value of the line in figure drawing is masterly. It is hardly too much to say that this book will prove to any lover of things artistic "a joy forever." It is one of the most unique gift-books which has appeared from any American press in a number of years.

Lovers' Treasury Series.

A new series of illustrated gift-books. Somewhat similar in general character to our popular GREAT MASTERS SERIES. Each volume will contain thirty-two full-page half-tones, being ideal representations of passages in the text, portraits, historical studies, or reproductions of celebrated paintings. The text consists of famous and notable poems, combined with explanatory comments in prose. These delightful anthologies will be in every sense treasuries — treasuries of art, poetry, and popular scholarship, and all of them essentially suitable for holiday gifts.

1. The Art Lovers' Treasury.

Edited by Carrie Thompson Lowell.

This is one of the most fascinating books on our list. It may be characterized as "Famous Pictures Described in Poems," with an accompanying commentary by the editor, or, to quote from the preface, "Reproductions of certain representative pictures, accompanied by poems which have been written about them or which they illustrate."

Mrs. Lowell, the well-known reader and educator of Portland Me., has delivered the substance of the book with unvarying success in the form of an illustrated lecture, and its popularity during the last five years has induced her to consent to its being given permanent form in this volume. The poets quoted comprise Dante, Keats, Browning, Longfellow, Whittier, and many others, including younger and contemporary singers. The list of illustrations includes, to name a few at random, Raphael's Sistine Madonna, Giotto's St. Francis Preaching to the Birds, Da Vinci's Last Supper, Titian's Danae, Turner's The Fighting Téméraire, Millet's The Man with the Hoe, and Vedder's The Cup of Death.

Cloth, gilt top, 12mo. Postage extra. Net, $1.20

2. The Music Lovers' Treasury.

Edited by Helen Philbrook Patten.

Every one who is fond of music, as well as poetry, will want this book, which is compiled with very unusual taste and discrimination.

The number of striking poems addressed to composers or written about musical instruments will astonish any one who has never examined the field for himself. Such great masters as Beethoven, Mozart, and Chopin, and such subjects as the violin, lute, piano, and orchestra, as well as more general related subjects, like "Musical Memories" and "The Might of Song," are frequent themes. The poets represented range from Shakespeare, Milton, and Schiller to the youngest of our present-day choir. Hardly any popular or representative name is omitted. This is one of the most intelligently made, as well as fascinating, anthologies which has been published for years, and it certainly fills a long-appreciated want.

Cloth, 12mo, gilt top. Postage extra. Net, $1.20

Love Triumphant: A Book of Poems.
By Frederic Lawrence Knowles.
Cloth, 12mo, cover design by Marion L. Peabody. Net, $1.00

"Here is real poetry. It has life, it has go, it has joyous movement and felicity of phrase, it sings." —John Chadwick White in Christian Register.

"This is a genuine book, the product of real emotion. It touches the permanent concerns of passion, and shows a spontaneous metrical skill." —Harvard Graduates' Magazine.

"This volume is one of the very few books of poems that have appeared on this side of the Atlantic in recent years that is really worth possessing." — B. O. Flower in The Arena.

On Life's Stairway: A Book of Poems. By Frederic Lawrence Knowles, author of "Love Triumphant," etc.

THIRD REVISED EDITION. This volume of original verse was first issued in 1900, and achieved an immediate success. It consists of about one hundred short poems, covering an unusually wide range of subjects. John Burroughs pronounced it "The most fresh and original book of verse that has come to my hand in many a year." Richard Henry Stoddard said of it, "A volume of verse which contains so much more than mere poetic promise that we venture to announce him (the author) as a new American poet." Cloth, 12mo, cover design by Marion L. Peabody. $1.00 and Other Poems. By Lloyd Mifflin. Illustrated with ten full-page illustrations by Thomas Moran, N. A., and others; and a portrait of the author from a recent photograph. The volume contains 160 pages of Mr. Mifflin's lyrics and other poems. Tall 16mo, handsome cover design, gilt top. $1.25

The Slopes of Helicon

At the Gates of Song.

By Lloyd Mifflin. Illustrated with ten full-page drawings by the celebrated artist, Thomas Moran, and a portrait of the author. A selection of one hundred and fifty of the author's best sonnets, many of which have appeared in the leading magazines. Artistically printed on Enfield deckle-edge paper. Small octavo, handsome cover design, gilt top. $1.50

In regard to some of these poems, Mr. Edmund Clarence Stedman writes: "These sonnets are certainly very notable for imagination, a certain sublimity of thought and fiction, and for perfected art. There are few sonnets so well worth making as these."

Mr. William Dean Howells says: "I find Mr. Mifflin's sonnets very nobly grave and beautiful."

Way Songs and Wanderings.

By Claiborne Addison Young, A. B. Illustrated by Etheldred B. Barry. A selection of sixty-three of the author's best poems. Artistically printed on deckle-edge paper. Tall 16mo, handsome cover design, gilt top. $1.25

There is a breeziness to these poems that speaks of the free air of the fields and woods, and a swing in the rhythm that bears the reader along.

Songs of Two Peoples.

By James Riley. Illustrated. Author of "The Transmitted Word," and a volume of poems. This volume is a collection of dialect poems, many of them true to the character of the people of New England, and of the Irish people a generation ago who came to New England. The Irishman on his native shore, and as he came here in the past, is given with a touch that clings. The volume is handsomely printed on laid deckle-edge paper. Tall 16mo, handsome cover design, gilt top. $1.25

Jörn Uhl. By Gustav Frenssen.

This powerful story of modern life in Germany is the literary sensation of Europe.

Over 200,000 copies of the German edition were sold within eighteen months of issue — a record never before equalled by any novel in Germany, and successful editions have been published in all the leading European languages.

Continental critics are already ranking Frenssen with Goethe, and his epoch-making story is regarded as a classic. Many high authorities have called "Jörn Uhl" "the greatest German novel."

The author, Gustav Frenssen, who was born in the remote village of Barlt, in Holstein, North Germany, on Oct. 19, 1863, was the son of a carpenter. After desultory courses of study at the Latin school and various universities, he became a Lutheran pastor in a small German village, and spent a number of years in obscurity, until the publication of "Jörn Uhl" in 1902 took Europe by storm. Frenssen's parsonage and little kirk became at once the shrines for thousands of literary pilgrims. Since 1903 the novelist has devoted himself entirely to literature.

Cloth, 12mo, illustrated with frontispiece portrait of the author. $1.50

Eliza. By Barry Pain. New edition. This droll and sprightly little book amply deserves the large sale it has enjoyed in England and this country. Robert Barr has recently written of it in The Idler: "As for Barry Pain's 'Eliza,' I question if anything more deliciously humorous and of a humor so restrained has been written since the time of Lamb." The seven full-page illustrations by Wallace Goldsmith are very sympathetic and clever, and the paper, binding, and typography leave nothing to be desired. Cloth back, cartridge-paper sides, 16mo. 75c

The Millionaire's Son.

By Anna Robeson Brown, author of "The Immortal Garland," "The Cosmopolitan Comedy," "Sir Mark," etc. A vital and striking novel. The story of a young man's bitter struggle to choose between the material advantages of wealth, questionably obtained and ostentatiously spent, and the higher claims of thought and social service. The book is a study in temperament and heredity, and a brilliant satire on social conditions in America. It is, however, first of all, an absorbing story, told with remarkable skill and concentration. The central situation on which the plot turns is one of the most novel and original in modern fiction. There is a large gallery of well-drawn portraits, including that of Alexa Fielding, the heroine, who overflows with vitality and feminine charm, and of Paul Ellicott, the "millionaire's son," whose character is drawn with great insight and sympathy. The novel is illustrated with full-page drawings by A. E. Becher. Cloth, 12mo. Illustrated, handsome cover design. $1.50

Whitewash.

By Ethel Watts Mumford, author of "Dupes," "A Mercenary Marriage," "Partners," etc. A realistic study of fashionable society in New York, with a dash of Bohemia thrown in. The style is crisp, direct, and brilliant, the plot exciting, and the character drawing relentlessly true to life. The author's sanity and sense of humor save her from cynicism, but she cherishes no illusions about average human nature, which she understands as only an accomplished woman of the world can. The mysterious robbery and the exposure of the clever criminal furnish the main motive, but the book is far more than a very original detective story; it has the love interest, character development, and many-sided plot which one looks for in a well-proportioned novel. "Whitewash" attracted unusual attention on its first publication as a serial in The Smart Set. The illustrations by A. G. Learned interpret as well as embellish the text of this striking story. Cloth, 12mo, illustrated, handsome cover design. $1.50

Cinch

And Other Stories. By Will Allen Dromgoole, author of "The Heart of Old Hickory," "The Valley Path," etc. An extremely fine collection of short stories, mostly of Tennessee life, full of humour and pathos, and told in the author's most graceful manner. 12mo, handsome cover design. $1.25

The Heart of Old Hickory

And other stories of Tennessee. By Will Allen Dromgoole. A collection of six short stories by this gifted Southern author. 1 vol., tall 16mo, gilt top. $1.25

"Tennesee has just reason to be proud of the little authoress who has depicted so many phases of humble life within her borders with such fidelity, such delicacy, and such rare pathos and humor."

The Valley Path.

By Will Allen Dromgoole, author of "The Heart of Old Hickory," "The Farrier's Dog and His Fellow," etc. This volume is an excellent novel of Tennessee life; the characters are very strongly portrayed, and the story is one of extreme interest throughout. The author is entirely at home with her subject, being a loyal Tennessean and thoroughly conversant with the manners and customs of the people. The volume is handsomely printed on laid deckle-edge paper. $1.25

12mo, handsome cover design, gilt top.

Like all Miss Dromgoole's writings, it is singularly true to life, and reveals that intimate knowledge of the hopes, aspirations, fears, and doubts of the human heart which is one of the distinguishing points beween a writer of true ability and a mediocre story-teller. This story emphasizes the difference between that religion which is expressed in a high, noble, and conscientious life, and the perfunctory or conventional religion of dogma. It will make many readers pause before they condemn those who cannot and do not accept any special dogma. Yet it is a love story rather than a religious one. It is located in Tennessee, in the beautiful Pelham Valley, and deals chiefly with the humbler classes. It is a mingling of tears and laughter, shade and shine, with one supreme appeal shining through the sadness like a star at midnight.

The Girl Rough Riders.

By Colonel Prentiss Ingraham. This is a remarkably vigorous and wholesome piece of juvenile fiction, relating the adventures of a party of schoolgirls who make a scouting and exploring trip under military escort through the Grand Cañon of the Colorado, and along the Old Mormon trail, through Arizona and Utah — a thousand miles in the saddle. The story contains plenty of healthy excitement, and is of absorbing interest from first page to last. Much information is conveyed in a breezy, original way about riding and hunting and camping, and there are wonderful descriptions of natural scenery. Fully illustrated, cloth, 12mo. $1.25

Florestane, the Troubadour.

By Julia de Wolf Addison. A novel which carries the reader back to the Middle Ages, with their Courts of Love, minstrels, jongleurs, knights, and crusaders, and introduces, among its characters, Dante, Cimabue, Sordello, and other celebrated men. The atmosphere is that of chivalric ideals, with a background of mediæval color and romance. The book is crowded with exciting episodes, and yet escapes sensationalism through the lofty key in which the narrative is pitched. The story has unusual carrying power; once taken up, it will not be easily laid aside until finished. The cover is designed by Amy Sacker. Cloth, 12mo, handsome cover design. $1.00

Pennyroyal and Mint.

By Sophie Swett, author of "The Lollipop's Vacation." The author ranks with Sarah Orne Jewett in her characteristic stories of New England life. The present collection is of the best stories that have appeared in Harper's Bazar, Ladies' Home Journal, etc., during the past few years. 12mo, cloth, attractive cover design. $1.25

Field Clover and Beach Grass.

A collection of stories by Susan Hartley Swett. The author for years has been a regular contributor to the leading magazines and periodicals, and her stories are well known as being typical ones of New England life. 12mo, cloth, handsome cover design. $1.25

Doty Dontcare.

A story of the Garden of the Antilles. By Mary Farrington Foster. With an introduction by Dr. Elliott Coues. Small 16mo, cloth, ornamental cover design. $1.00

Herman Melville's Famous Sea Stories

Moby Dick;

Or, "The White Whale," by Herman Melville, author of "Omoo," "Typee," "White Jacket," etc., illustrated by A. Burnham Shute. This volume contains an immense amount of information concerning the habits of a whale and its method of capture, but this is characteristically introduced in a way not to interfere with the narrative. The chapter entitled, "Stub Kills a Whale," ranks with the choicest examples of descriptive literature. Melville's power in describing and investing with romance scenes and incidents witnessed and participated in by himself was early pointed out by his critics. 12mo, cloth. $1.25

Typee.

A Real Romance of the South Seas, by Herman Melville, author of "Omoo," "Moby Dick," "White Jacket," etc., illustrated by A. Burnham Shute. With biographical and critical introduction by Arthur Stedman, and containing a portrait of the author. An intensely interesting story of actual adventures in the South Seas. This volume will never lose its position as a classic of American literature, and has as yet met with no superior, even in French literature, 12mo, cloth. $1.25

Omoo.

A Narrative of Adventures in the South Seas; a sequel to "Typee," by Herman Melville, author of "White Jacket," "Moby Dick," etc., illustrated by A. Burnham Shute. This volume begins where "Typee" concludes, but has no further connection with the latter work. All that is necessary, therefore, for the reader to understand who has not read "Typee" is given in a brief introduction. An extremely interesting description of the adventures and realistic discomforts of a Sydney whaler in the early forties. 12mo, cloth. $1.25

White Jacket;

Or, "The World on a Man-of-war," by Herman Melville, author of "Typee," "Omoo," "White Jacket," etc., illustrated by A. Burnham Shute. This book has no equal as a picture of life aboard a sailing man-of-war, the lights and shadows of naval existence being well contrasted. 12mo, cloth. $1.25

Japan: The Place and the People.

By G. Waldo Browne. With an important introduction by Hon. Kogoro Takahira, Japanese Minister to the United States. This work comprises a picturesque and historical description of the brilliant Oriental land which is now in the focus of the world's interest, and seems destined to emerge from the present unhappy struggle as the greatest military and naval power in the Far East. It contains a complete account of the Japanese people, their traditions and civilization, from the prehistoric origin of the race down to the present time, together with a fascinating description, written in a fluent, readable style, of the topography and scenery of Japan and the strange customs of its inhabitants. As a well-proportioned account of the mighty Oriental power, toward which all eyes are now directed, "Japan: The Place and the People" takes high rank among recent publications. The volume contains about 450 pages of text, and includes 16 exquisite color-plates, more than 50 beautiful full-page half-tone illustrations from new photographs, and 260 text cuts. One volume, cloth extra, large 8vo. Net, $2.50 Postage extra.

A Short History of Ancient Egypt.

By Percy E. Newberry and John Garstang. This is a brief history of Ancient Egypt from the founding of the monarchy until the disintegration of the empire three thousand years afterward. The progress made by modern research furnishes, in the opinion of the authors, sufficient authority for setting aside the traditions of later historians, and for accepting instead the evidence of the monuments as the ground for the opinions they have expressed. It has been their aim to make no statement which does not rest upon the substantial basis of fact. The work is both scholarly and popular, and is written in a style as noteworthy for charm as for dignity and exactness. The joint authors are experienced students of Egyptian archæology, and this little book is the ripest fruit of their extensive explorations. This brief handbook offers the general reader an unusual opportunity of obtaining the results of the very latest scholarship in attractive form. One volume, cloth, 12mo, Net, $1.20 Postage extra.

A Voyage to Viking-land.

By Thomas Sedgwick Steele, author of "Paddle and Portage," "Canoe and Camera," etc. Illustrated with nearly one hundred fine half-tones, principally from photographs taken expressly for the book by the author. The trip described is one which has just recently begun to be taken by travellers as a novel and pleasant outing to the Land of the Midnight Sun. 12mo, handsomely bound in cloth, gilt tops, with attractive cover design in gold and ink. $2.00

Canoe and Camera.

A photographic and descriptive tour of two hundred miles through the Maine forests. By Thomas Sedgwick Steele. With illustrations and maps. 12mo, cloth, extra. $1.00

Paddle and Portage.

Paddle and Portage, from Moosehead Lake to the Aroostook River, Maine. By Thomas Sedgwick Steele. With over sixty illustrations and a folding map (20 x 30 inches) of the canoe country of Northern Maine. 12mo, cloth. $1.00

Adventures in East Africa.

By M. French Sheldon. A stirring account of the adventures of a plucky American woman in the wilds of East Africa. The wild beasts encountered, the strange peoples never before seen by white men, and the perilous journeys undertaken form an extremely interesting and strange narrative. Besides twenty-six full-page illustrations, the book contains nearly 325 text cuts, and is bound in a handsome cover. Royal 8vo, gilt tops. $2.50

The Bay Colony.

Being the early colonial history in Massachusetts. By William Dummer Northend. One vol., 12mo, cloth, $2.00

A concise history of the first twenty-five years of the Colony of Massachusetts Bay, ending with the death of Winthrop in 1650; the primitive period of the colony. The principal events are distinctly and logically portrayed, and the influence of the colony on the mother country clearly shown. The work has been largely drawn from records and original sources; a chapter is given to the beginning of our legal system, and new light is thrown on some of the political, religious, and social questions of that time. An introductory chapter deals with the settlement at Plymouth and the other settlements prior to the arrival of Winthrop.

Joseph Jefferson at Home.

By Nathan Haskell Dole.

A monograph of Joseph Jefferson in his home surroundings, illustrated with sixteen full-page illustrations from photographs taken in and around Mr. Jefferson's famous summer home. The recent death of the Dean of the American Stage makes this little book of timely interest to his many admirers. Cloth. $1.50

Special edition in ooze leather, stamped in gold, boxed. $2.00

Charles Carleton Coffin.

A biography. By Dr. Wm. Eliott Griffis. With photogravure portraits of Mr. Coffin. Besides being well known throughout the country as the author of many historical books, such as "The Boys of '76" and "The Boys of '61," Mr. Coffin was also famous as the war correspondent of the Boston Journal, for which he secured especially important news at the front during the late Civil War. Octavo, gilt top. $2.00

Nature Studies from Ruskin.

Selected by Rose Porter, author of "Summer Driftwood," "Sweet Charity," etc. An excellent collection of essays on nature from Ruskin's Works. 12mo, cloth, attractive cover design. $1.50

This volume of carefully compiled extracts from the writings of John Ruskin renders a genuine service to the reading public. Many of the master's most brilliant passages are so deeply imbedded in technical discussions as to escape the eye of all save the leisurely scholar. Here they are brought together with rare faithfulness and good judgment.

John Ruskin, Social Reformer.

By J. A. Hobson. An excellent and most thorough exposition of John Ruskin's social teaching. 12mo, cloth, gilt top. $1.50

Concise History of France.

Outlines of the History of France, from the earliest times to the outbreak of the Revolution. Being an abridgment of M. Guizot's "Popular History of France." By Gustave Masson. With chronological index, historical and genealogical tables, etc. Illustrated with portraits, views, etc. Octavo, cloth. $2.50

The best one-volume history of France, whether for home-reading or for use in high schools and colleges.

Memorial Life of Victor Hugo.

With Victor Hugo's death, the great authors and writers of France united to issue a memorial life of Victor Hugo. The authors and critics contributed the text of the work, and many of the leading artists of France made illustrations for the book, showing their love for the master. This volume, translated and including a great many of the original illustrations, will be extremely interesting to every lover of Victor Hugo. Illustrated with a large number of photogravures and woodcuts. 8vo, cloth. $1.50

Victor Hugo's Letters to His Wife.

Translated from the French by Nathan Haskell Dole. 12mo, cloth, extra. $1.50

A volume of letters, chiefly written during his travels, which will be welcomed by American readers and admirers of the great French novelist and philosopher. They are included in no English or American editions of his writings, and are in a sense autobiographic, affording an insight into some phases of a remarkable career which will be novel to most readers.

Robert Browning's Prose Life of Strafford.

With an introduction by C. H. Frith, M. A., and forewords by F. J. Furnivall, M. A. Edition limited to 500 copies for America. 12mo, cloth, gilt top (uniform with the Riverside Edition of Browning's Works). $2.00

Burton's Anatomy of Melancholy.

LARGE PAPER LIMITED EDITION. "What it is, with all the kinds, causes, symptoms, prognostics, and several cures of it. In three sections, numbers, and sub-sections. Philosophically, Medicinally, Historically opened and cut up. By Democritus, Junior. With a Satirical Preface conducing to the following discourse. A new edition corrected and enriched by translations of the numerous classic extracts, with an emblematical steel frontispiece from the original edition." The above is the title-page in full of Robert Burton's "Anatomy of Melancholy," 1621. One of the classics of English literature. Of this great work Dr. Johnson said that it was the only book that ever took him out of bed two hours sooner than he wished to rise. Three volumes, cloth, paper label, large octavo, per set, $6.00

Sold in complete sets only. Limited to 250 numbered sets.

Hypnotism. A Correct Guide to the Science and How Subjects Are Influenced, by Carl Sextus. New revised edition. An authoritative work on one of the most absorbing subjects occupying the public mind. The author is not only a clever theorist, but a successful practitioner of the art of Hypnotism, well known in Europe as well as America. The phenomena of hypnotism are fully discussed, as well as its moral and legal aspects and relations to society. Popular misapprehensions concerning hypnotism are corrected, and an exact explanation of telepathy, somnambulism, hypnotic clairvoyance, and the hypnotic treatment of disease is given lucidly and convincingly. The New York World pronounces this work "the clearest, most comprehensive, and in every way the best and most extensive treatise on hypnotism for popular reading." Profusely illustrated, cloth, large 12mo, gilt top. $1.50

American Fishes.

By G. Brown Goode. A new revised edition of this popular treatise upon the game and food fishes of North America, with especial reference to habits and methods of capture. Several chapters of additional material have been added, including a complete classification of all North American fishes, a feature which makes the work invaluable, and which, together with numerous illustrations, including six full-page colored plates, and a fine half-tone portrait of Doctor Goode, brings this standard work by the late United States Commissioner of Fisheries down to date. It is revised and edited by Prof. Theodore N. Gill, of the Smithsonian Institute. Octavo, cloth, gold and colors. Net special, $3.50

Hunting and Fishing in Florida.

By Charles B. Corey. Illustrated with over two hundred cuts and two full-page photogravures. Quarto, cloth. $3.75

Key to North American Birds. By Elliott Coues, M. A., M. D., Ph. D. Fifth Revised Edition, wholly new text. Contains a concise account of every species of living and fossil bird at present known on the continent north of the boundary line between Mexico and the United States, including Greenland. Revised to date. With which are incorporated general ornithology and outline of the structure and classification of birds, and field ornithology, a manual of collecting, preparing, and preserving birds. Profusely illustrated. Over two hundred new figures of rare species added in this edition from studies from life by Louis Agassiz Fuertes. The new edition presents the nomenclature of the American Ornithologists' Union in the most convenient form for comparison with that of other editions. Coues's "Key" is too well known as a leading and authoritative treatise to require remark, having for years held its place as the standard work of reference for professional ornithologists, as well as for students and amateurs. The latest and most exhaustive American ornithology. Indispensable to every sportsman, amateur and working ornithologist. Two vols. Octavo, cloth. (Net.) $12.50

Same. Half morocco, $17.50

A Handbook of British Birds. By J. E. Harting, F. L. S., F. Z. S., member of the British Ornithologists' Union, showing the distribution of the resident and migratory species in the British islands, with an index to the records of the rarer visitants. New and Revised Edition. Just ready. This edition is printed from type, which has been distributed. The edition is limited to 780 copies, of which we have procured 100 copies only for the American market. Illustrated by a series of thirty-five plates in color, reproduced from original drawings by the late Professor Schlegel, representing the heads of two hundred and sixty-two species (in all four hundred and seventy-seven figures), showing the plumage of both sexes, as well as old and young when necessary, with a fidelity which has never been hitherto approached in a work at the price of this volume, and which are so accurate as to enable an observer to immediately identify a bird by their aid. They have been executed in response to a repeated demand for a book on British birds with accurately coloured plates in one volume. One vol., thick octavo. (Net.) $15.00

Life of Shakespeare. By William J. Rolfe, Litt. D. The publication of this work is a literary event of first importance. It is the latest and most complete biography of Shakespeare, written by one of the greatest living authorities on the subject. Within the 550 pages of text, Doctor Rolfe has condensed all the known facts, as well as trustworthy traditions and reasonable conjectures, respecting the life of Shakespeare; also adequate and brilliant criticisms of the plays, sonnets, and other writings, and all available data which are reliable regarding portraits, editions, and aids to the study of the poet's works. It is fully illustrated and contains an exhaustive index. Doctor Rolfe, in his preface, acknowledges indebtedness to Halliwell-Phillipps and other Shakespearian scholars, but asserts that he takes independent ground on certain doubtful or disputed matters. "I have endeavored," he says, "to be fair in stating theories and opinions which I feel bound to criticize, generally letting their authors or advocates speak for themselves, and leaving the reader to judge whether they are right or I am." This is a work which distinctly justifies the hackneyed phrase: "No library is complete without it." $3.00
One volume, cloth, 8vo, illustrated.

Same, one-half morocco, 5.00

Glossary to Shakespeare. By Alexander Dyce. The glossary to the complete works of Shakespeare by Alexander Dyce (1798–1869), the noted English clergyman and Shakespearian critic, is everywhere recognized as a standard work of reference, but it has not been readily accessible to the book-buyer of small means. The present one-volume edition contains all of Dyce's invaluable references for the illustrative quotations from Shakespeare, with the addition of several new features. Dyce's references are only to volume and page of his own edition. For these (which are useless except to owners of the Dyce edition), references to the particular play, with act, scene, and line (Cambridge numbering), or the particular poem, with title and line, have been substituted. References to the Cambridge text have been inserted when the word defined, as given in that text, varies from Dyce's text. In defining words, Dyce sometimes merely refers to his notes on the play or poem for explanation instead of giving it in the glossary. For these words the information in the notes has been transferred to the glossary, making it complete in itself. $3.00

What Young People Should Know.

The Reproductive Function in Man and the Lower Animals. By Prof. Burt G. Wilder. With twenty-six illustrations. 12mo, cloth. $1.50

"'What Young People Should Know' is the suggestive title of a book by Professor Burt G. Wilder. It treats of a delicate subject — the reproductive function in man and the lower animals — with frankness and vigor; in a distinctly professional manner, it is true, but with instructive effect. The last part, which treats of physiology and hygiene of reproduction, contains plain lessons of universal application. The book is evidently prepared with great care, with a thorough knowledge of the subject, and with an earnest desire to do good." — Literary World.

* The Correct Thing. By Florence Howe Hall. Entirely new edition. This book when first issued met with a very cordial welcome from the public, and has never lost its popularity, but fashions in etiquette, like fashions in dress, are subject to change, and it has become necessary to revise this little manual and bring it strictly down to date. Accordingly, the original matter has been completely revised, and much new material added, including chapters on women's clubs, college life, etc. The revised edition is a much larger book than the former one, and is bound in modern style, with new cover design, and has been set up from new type. Cloth, tall 16mo, gilt top, Net, 75c

Same. Kitchen edition, with water-proof cloth cover, }

This is one of the most popular cook books ever printed, containing 1724 receipts and items of instruction. The directions are clear and concise, and the chapters on marketing and kitchen furnishing very useful.

Miss Maria Parloa's "New Cook Book" is one of the best manuals of the kind ever printed. It has one grace — which many lack — that of explicit directions. For comprehensiveness and precision this book may be said to be unique. — N. Y. Tribune.

Such a volume does much to simplify and assist housekeeping, and is greatly to be commended. — Portland Press.

It is, on the whole, the most perfect in design and the most complete in its carrying out of any cook book yet published in America, and should be in the hands of every housekeeper. — Boston Transcript.

A New Pocket Edition

OF THE WORKS OF

William Shakespeare

For convenience, serviceability, and beauty of appearance this latest handy volume set of Shakespeare is unrivalled. The Cambridge text of William Aldis Wright has been reproduced with scrupulous exactness, and the introduction and notes are by Israel Gollancz, the scholarly editor of the Temple Shakespeare. This is the cheapest large-type edition of the world's great dramatist on the market, and the quality of paper and binding, as well as typography contribute to make the edition thoroughly unique. A list of artists whose works appear in the flexible leather style includes L. Alma Tadema, R. A., R. W. S., P. H. Calderon, R. A., F. Goodall, R. A., V. C. Prinsep, A. R. A., P. R. Morris, A. R. Andrew Lang Edition.

The Waverley Novels.

By Sir Walter Scott.

With New Introductions, Notes, and Glossaries

By ANDREW LANG.

The text is reprinted from the author's favorite edition, and will contain all of his introductions and notes. To these will be added new introductions, notes, and glossaries by the world-renowned critic and author, Andrew Lang, who has had the coöperation of the Hon. Mrs. Maxwell Scott, of Abbotsford, the great-granddaughter of Sir Walter Scott, in preparing this edition, and who has had access to all of the manuscript and other material now at Abbotsford, so that many new points of interest will be in this edition.

This edition will also excel all previous editions in points of artistic merit. The illustrations will consist of one hundred and thirty etchings from original designs by some of the most distinguished artists in the world.

Among the artists and etchers whose work will appear in this edition may be mentioned the following:

Artists.	Etchers.
SIR J. E. MILLAIS, BART., R. A.	R. W. MACBETH, A. R. A.
JOHN PETTIE, R. A.	H. MACBETH RAEBURN.
R. W. MACBETH, A. R. A.	HENRI LEFORT.

By SIR WALTER SCOTT

With New Introductions, Notes, and Glossaries

By ANDREW LANG

An acquaintance with the Waverley Novels is a necessity to every intelligent reader, and no library should be without a set of these works. All other writers appreciate the rational and virtuous tendencies of Scott's works, and the historical knowledge which a careful reader gleans from them is of great value. A feature of these inimitable fictions is the delineation of national character with a fidelity the most exact, and the description of scenery with a picturesqueness almost unequalled.

The publishers of this edition propose to place before the American public these romances in a more appropriate form than they have ever been offered before in either Europe or America. The text will be reprinted from the author's favorite edition, and will contain all of his introductions and notes. To these will be added new introductions, notes, and glossaries by the world-renowned critic and author, Andrew Lang, who has had the coöperation of the Hon. Mrs. Maxwell Scott, of Abbotsford, the great-granddaughter of Sir Walter Scott, in preparing this edition, and who has had access to all of the manuscript and other material now at Abbotsford, so that new points of interest may consequently be expected in this edition.

This edition will also excel all previous editions in points of artistic merit. The illustrations will consist of two hundred and fifty etchings from original designs by some of the most distinguished artists in the world, printed on Japanese paper.

Among the artists and etchers whose work will appear in this edition may be mentioned the following:

Artists.

WORKS OF

Victor Hugo

In 24 volumes

Uniform in size and style with the Illustrated Cabinet Editions of George Eliot, W. M. Thackeray and Charles Dickens

Victor Hugo occupies not only an enviable place among the really great men of this century, but one that may be said to be entirely unique. His genius is brilliant and unquestioned, and his intellect bright, noble, and enlightened. He is at once novelist, poet, philosopher, artist, prophet, and moralist; a thinker of the highest rank, whose writings are growing in popularity, not only in his native country, France, but throughout the world; and at a time when the greatest works of many authors, who during his lifetime were considered his equals or superiors, are now unread ornaments on thousands of library shelves. The increasing demand for his works indicates most significantly the presence of certain qualities which commend them to the rising generation, and adapt them to the intellectual of all classes and all countries.

They appeal to the refinement of thought of the present age, and among them are found masterpieces of fiction and drama which will rank among the highest of all times and all countries. Among the novels, "Les Miserables" and "Notre Dame" are ranked as among the very greatest works of fiction ever produced in any age or country.

The illustrations will consist of etchings and photogravures by the most notable French artists, who have vied with one another to produce fitting designs to illustrate these masterpieces of modern literature. The photogravures have, in the main, been executed in Paris, by the celebrated firm of Goupil et Cie. There may be also especially mentioned etchings of many original compositions by the celebrated artist,

François Flameng, the exclusive right to which, with editions in this country, has been purchased by the publishers of this edition. In addition to these will be several portraits of the author. Among the famous artists and etchers whose work appears in this edition are Detaille, Leloir, Vibert, Perrault, Bonnat Merson, Lefevre, Frere, Hagborg, and others equally famous.

This is the only complete edition of Victor Hugo's Romances, and it contains also his celebrated Last Days of the Condemned, Things Seen, Poems, Dramas, etc.

Printed by the University Press, on the finest English-finish paper, from large, clear type, well leaded, and set in a small page. Bound in English silk-ribbed cloth, with a particularly unique and appropriate full gold back design, gilt tops, uncut edges.

The works will be sold separately as follows:

Illustrated Cabinet Edition

COMPLETE WORKS OF

William Makepeace Thackeray

In 20 volumes

Of the many editions hitherto published in Europe and America, it is believed that none are so well adapted to the requirements of those persons who really appreciate the masterpieces of these great novelists, and wish to preserve them in an elegant and convenient library form.

This edition of THACKERAY contains all of the novels and miscellanies contained in the best standard edition, issued in England with the author's approval.

A companion set to the Illustrated Cabinet Editions of George Eliot, Victor Hugo, and Charles Dickens, printed on the finest English-finish paper, from beautiful type, well spaced and set in a small page. Press-work by the University Press.

The volumes are a small 12mo, uniform in size with the Illustrated Cabinet Edition of Eliot, and bound with handsome full gold backs in English silk ribbed cloth, gilt tops.

One of the distinguishing features of this edition is a greater variety of illustrations than has ever appeared in any edition of THACKERAY'S WORKS, consisting of 210 woodcuts, mainly from the drawings of the author, which have become as thoroughly identified with his literary works as have the drawings of Cruikshank and Phiz with those of Dickens. These will be supplemented with reproductions of drawings by the celebrated English artists, Millais, Barnard, and Luke Fildes; and to these will be added two etched portraits, a series of original etchings, drawn and etched by Pailthorpe especially for the publishers of this edition, together with the famous etchings by George Cruikshank, six photo-etchings from the Character Sketches of Frederick Barnard, and many photogravures reproduced for this edition from photographs of real scenes referred to.

Illustrated Cabinet Edition

WORKS OF

Charles Dickens

In 30 volumes

Uniform with our Illustrated Cabinet Editions of George Eliot, Victor Hugo, and W. M. Thackeray

Innumerable editions and bindings of Dickens's Works have from time to time appeared on the market, but it is a remarkable fact that none have yet appeared that in the judgment of competent critics are worthy of this great revolutionizer of English literature, or which possess the true artistic character in illustration and typography.

Confident in the belief that the times demand really fine work, the publishers have planned an edition which will from the outset create a new and widespread interest, not alone in the author's novels, but in the perfection of their presentation.

As much of Dickens's early success was due to the marvellous illustrations made by Cruikshank, Phiz, and others, which were submitted to and approved by Dickens before they were accepted (early impressions of which command enormous prices), it has been deemed of the first importance that these be used in preference to anything else. Many illustrations have since been made by talented artists, but the fact that they have never been accepted by the public as really illustrating Dickens is convincing proof that the original designs could not be improved upon. Early impressions have accordingly been obtained at great expense, and competent artists secured to reëtch them line for line. Some of the original volumes were illustrated by wood engravings, as "Barnaby Rudge," "Old Curiosity Shop," etc., and the publishers have been so fortunate as to obtain from the English publishers, Chapman & Hall, electrotypes from the original wood blocks, which have never been printed from. These, over three hundred in number, will be printed on metallic surface coated paper, and the patrons of this edition are thus guaranteed excellent impressions of the finest illustrations ever made for Dickens's works. Among the great artists whose work is included in these volumes are: CRUIKSHANK, SEYMOUR, H. K. BROWNE (Phiz), MARCUS STONE, CATTERMOLE, F. WALKER, DOYLE, LEECH, MACLISE, LANDSEER, BARNARD, AND DARLEY.

In many instances extra plates are given, which are contained in no other similar edition of the present day. By far the most attractive and most easily read Dickens ever made.

It is hard to imagine any way in which this edition could be improved. Small, handy volumes, uniform in size with the Eliot, Hugo, and Thackeray, printed by the University Press, from a type page that is simply perfection. English finish paper of the best quality, and bound in silk-ribbed cloth, gilt tops.

WORKS OF

George Eliot

AND LIFE

Edited by J. W. CROSS

The works of George Eliot have within our own time become recognized as standard literature with which all intelligent persons are bound to become familiar. Their position in the literary world, if not, indeed, entirely unique, is certainly unexampled in the history of English-speaking peoples. The author has been aptly denominated "the intellectual daughter of Shakespeare," and several of her novels are ranked by many good judges of literature as worthy of a place beside the immortal work of Cervantes and other of the masterpieces of the world's fiction. No series of novels was ever written with a higher moral purpose or more conscientious literary effort. The publishers of the present edition enter with enthusiasm upon the production of what they believe to be the nearest approach to an appropriate mechanical and artistic reproduction of these incomparable works ever projected. This edition will be unique in point of illustration and manufacture.

Illustrated with 120 etchings and photo-etchings. In 24 volumes. 12mo. English silk-ribbed cloth, with ornamental cover stamped in gold.

Sold either in sets or separate works, at $1.50 per volume.

The typography and press-work are by the University Press, the type being well leaded, and set in a small, easily read page, and the press-work the very best that skill and care can produce.

Printed on the finest English-finish paper.

WORKS OF

John Ruskin

In 26 volumes

John Ruskin stands, without a peer, the most eloquent and original of all writers on nature, art, and architecture in the world.

As a writer of beautiful English, too, his "Sesame and Lilies," "Mornings in Florence," etc., have long been recognized as masterpieces.

His picturesque Saxon style, graphic, clear, and forcible, is justly considered one of the glories of modern English literature, and, as Charlotte Bronté says, "He writes like a consecrated priest of the abstract and ideal."

The "Spectator" says (Autumn, 1884): "No other critic ever occupied such a position. He is one of the best known and most appreciated figures in our generation. His older books are among the treasures of the bibliophile, his later works are purchased like scarce plates, his opinions are quoted like texts from a holy book."

Carlyle writes to Emerson, in the last letter he ever sent to him: "No other man in England that I meet has in him the divine rage against iniquity, falsity, and baseness that Ruskin has, and that every man ought to have."

No previous edition of Ruskin has fully met the requirements of exacting book lovers; the Illustrated Cabinet Edition, we believe, will.

Printed from beautiful, clear type, well spaced with indented side notes on deckle-edge, soft laid paper, equal to the finest hand-made as far as results in printing are concerned, and producing a volume light in weight.

The full-page illustrations number 288, and include all the colored plates, steel engravings, etchings, and process cuts, in all the original tints. In addition to the full-page illustrations are the cuts in the text — many hundreds of them altogether. A large proportion of these are from drawings by Mr. Ruskin, and are not only attractive in appearance, but are absolutely necessary for a proper interpretation of the text.

The volumes are bound with flat backs and uncut edges, gilt tops, in a handsome cloth, with an especially appropriate full gold back design. Size, a tall 12mo.

The works will be sold in complete sets or separately as follows:

WORKS OF

William H. Prescott

Uniform in Size and Style with our Illustrated Cabinet Edition of John Ruskin.

A complete edition of this famous historian's writings is a necessity to every library. By arrangement with his original publishers we offer an edition in every way superior to any heretofore made. This edition contains all of Mr. Prescott's revisions and those books still in copyright, and is entirely complete.

The illustrations form one of its salient features. They have been secured, by a liberal outlay, from the widest and most authentic sources. They are extremely helpful to an understanding of the text, and are at the same time a splendid ornament to this edition. They consist of about 100 full-page illustrations, embracing steel engravings, photogravures, and half-tones.

Printed from new, clear type on deckle-edge laid paper. The volumes are bound with flat backs, gilt tops, and uncut edges, in an appropriate cloth, with a very handsome full gold back stamp. Size, a tall 12mo.

THE ROMANCES OF

Eugene Sue

Uniform in size and style with our Illustrated Cabinet Editions of John Ruskin and William H. Prescott

Although forty years have elapsed since the death of Eugene Sue, no fitting edition of this great author's works has ever been published; and yet he stands to-day the third member of the great triumvirate of French authors who not only did much for the literature of France, but did their share toward revolutionizing many old ideas. If choice of the three greatest French novels were made, the selection would undoubtedly consist of "Les Miserables," "The Three Musketeers," and The Mysteries of Paris, and hardly less great is The Wandering Jew.

This edition is printed on Dickinson's all rag deckle-edge laid paper, from a new set of plates set in a most artistic manner, and contains about 100 fine etchings by well-known French artists, printed on Royal India etching paper.

The volumes are bound with flat backs, gilt tops, and uncut edges, in cloth, with a handsome gold back stamp. Size, a tall 12mo.

OF WORKS ABOUT

Napoleon

The extraordinary revival of interest in the life and times of the great Napoleon has made it possible to issue in its present form, and in a uniform style, the three greatest works ever written on the subject, Hazlitt's Life, Bourrienne's Memoirs, and Madame Junot's Memoirs, which have been acknowledged by modern historians as being the most elaborate and impartial records of Napoleon's life ever published. It is not within the scope of any one historian to view the varied sides of this wonderful career and do the subject justice. It is for this reason that no one "Life" yet written contains the necessary data to properly judge the man.

There has been no question in the minds of the publishers as to the best works to be chosen, as the present selection remains in its entirety the most complete and reliable Life of Napoleon ever issued. The "Life" written by William Hazlitt was first published in 1830, and is a clear history of the period commencing with the causes which eventually resulted in the French Revolution and ending with the death of Napoleon at St. Helena. Hazlitt occupies a front rank among the great historians of the world.

For a number of years, commencing with his school-days, Bourrienne, the close friend of Napoleon, and later his private secretary, had an opportunity to watch the events which culminated in the greatest reign of modern times, and which permitted him to give to the world a work which would never have been written but for these favoring circumstances. He does not claim to have written a work which could properly be termed a "Life," but a recital of incidents which it is necessary to read in order to properly understand the causes and results which make this epoch of French history so fascinating. He deals almost exclusively with the Cabinet, and in his narrative the reader comes in personal contact with all the great statesmen of that period.

Madame Junot, Duchess d'Abrantes, occupied a position at court from the establishment of the Consulate to the completion of Napoleon's reign. Her acquaintance with him ripened into a warm friendship and admiration for his wonderful ability; and her cheerful, happy disposition made her a great favorite. Her opportunities for studying the social side of this period were many. Her husband was a favorite general of the Empire, and under such favorable auspices she could not be other than interesting. She has not attempted to deal with the political side of this career, but confines herself exclusively to her reminiscences of facts occurring at court.

The form selected will be a tall 12mo, with large, open-spaced type and ample margins. The illustrations — over eighty in number — will consist of proofs on Royal India etching paper of etchings and photogravures, made expressly for the work, and include a portrait of every marshal, general, and statesman who took a prominent part in Napoleon's reign. Many of the great battles will be represented, and are reproduced from originals which are owned by the French Government.

Particular attention will be paid to the portraits of Napoleon; and of these there will be a large number, showing him at various stages in his life; and in each instance they are made from the original painting or engraving.

The paper used will be a fine laid deckle-edge paper.

The work will be printed at the University Press, Cambridge, from new electrotype plates set from new type.

WORKS OF

Captain Marryat

Uniform in size and style with our Illustrated Cabinet Editions of John Ruskin and William H. Prescott

Captain Marryat, as a novelist and story-teller, possessed a lively imagination and a keen sense of humor, as well as sound literary talent, but he is dependent on none of these qualities for the lasting success and popularity of his works. He had, besides, the advantage which no other writer except Smollet had, of having passed his life among the events and scenes he used in his tales, and readers of Marryat do not have to content themselves with description at second hand. The sailor-author himself found in his own heroic career real events and incidents enough to fill his twenty odd volumes. That he has bestowed them on fictitious personages, instead of relating them as his own, does not detract from the vivid force and reality of his descriptions. This quality constituted the chief interest in his works, and has given them a prominent place among standard works of fiction.

The times he lived in and wrote of are of exceptional interest to the lover of sea tales. Ships and sailors battled for, and controlled the destinies of the world. The man-of-warsman was in the zenith of his glory. It is no wonder that Marryat, who wielded so ready a pen, and who passed his life among such stirring scenes of tempest and battle, should be the favorite author with lovers of the sea.

In announcing an authorized edition of Marryat's works, the publishers have availed themselves of exceptional facilities, and can promise all book lovers an extraordinarily fine work.

The set is complete in twenty-four tall 12mo volumes, which is bound in cloth, gilt tops. The text of the work is printed from new plates on Dickinson all rag deckle-edge laid paper. There are about 150 illustrations in photogravure from original drawings by F. W. Hayes, A. R. C. A., W. H. Overend, E. J. Wheeler, and Frederick Barnard, printed on Royal India etching paper. Valuable and interesting introductions to the different novels are contributed by W. L. Courtney, M. A., LL. D.

The set will be the best trade edition ever published in America. The works will be sold in sets or separately as follows:

Illustrated Cabinet Edition

OF THE WORKS OF

Thomas Carlyle

Thomas Carlyle's merit, as well as his frequent and intimate correspondence with America's poet and sage, have procured for him a lasting popularity in this country, despite the fact that he has at times felt impelled to utter sharp criticism of some of our ideas and institutions. This edition will contain the complete works and translations of Carlyle, with copious annotations, and an introduction by Dr. W. J. Rolfe. It is complete in twenty-six 12mo volumes, bound in silk ribbed cloth, gilt tops. The set is illustrated with one hundred and thirty illustrations, being etchings or photogravures printed on Royal India etching paper. The text is printed in large, clear type, with wide margins, on a handsome laid deckle-edge paper. Sold in complete sets or separate works, cloth binding, divided as follows:

Illustrated Cabinet Edition of

Scott's Poems

In 6 volumes.

Uniform with the Cabinet Edition of Scott's Waverley Novels, with introductions, glossaries, and notes for each volume by Andrew Lang, illustrated with more than thirty photogravures, besides numerous beautiful etchings by W. H. W. Bicknell. Six volumes, sold in complete sets or as separate works:

Vol. I. Lay of the Last Minstrel
Ballads
" II. Marmion
" III. Lady of the Lake
Miscellaneous
" IV. Rokeby
Vision of Don Roderick
" V. Lord of the Isles
Occasional Pieces
" VI. Bridal of Triermain
Minor Poems

This is the most sumptuous trade edition of Scott's Poems ever offered to the public, and the publishers anticipate for it a success commensurate with the large sale of the Cabinet Waverley. No library shelves are thoroughly furnished which lack the poems of the great Scotch Wizard, who first made his wide reputation, it will be remembered, by his verse rather than his prose. His "Lay of the Last Minstrel," "Marmion," and "The Lady of the Lake" have a rush and energy which recall the best passages of Homer, and many readers who do not care for poetry as such are devoted admirers of these great descriptive epics of the North. According to Lockhart "'The Lay' is generally considered as the most natural and original; 'Marmion' as the most powerful and splendid, and the 'Lady of the Lake' as the most interesting, romantic, picturesque and graceful of his great poems." The success of Scott's poems may be gathered from the single fact that twenty thousand copies of the "Lady of the Lake" were sold within a year after its publication. Scott was offered the position of Poet Laureate before he had published even one of his Waverley Novels. It will be seen, therefore, that the reader who owns only the prose romances can by no means lay claim to possessing the Works of Sir Walter Scott. The publishers are now able to offer the book buyer an opportunity of completing his set of Scott's collected works.

Illustrated Cabinet Edition

OF THE WORKS OF

Alfred, Lord Tennyson

IN 12 VOLUMES.

Although the last century has been a grave of brilliant reputations, the fame of Tennyson is as secure as it was in 1842 or 1850. He belongs to the succession of the great English poets. In fact, after Chaucer, Shakespeare, Milton, and possibly Wordsworth, he stands in the opinion of not a few critics indisputably at their head. Every bookbuyer, even of the most limited means, has come to feel that it is a matter of imperative necessity to own a good set of Tennyson's Works. It is a gratification to the publishers that they can offer the finest edition of this great Victorian master which has ever been placed on the American market. This edition is edited and annotated by Prof. William J. Rolfe. It may be confidently pronounced the most beautiful edition of Tennyson's Poetical Works ever offered to the trade. It is issued in twelve volumes, with about five illustrations to each, including photogravures and etchings from paintings by Edward Lear, one of the poet's lifelong friends, and also from landscapes and figure paintings by Doré, Edwin A. Abbey, Frederick Dielman, and others. The text of the edition was collated and edited by Doctor Rolfe, with all of that scrupulous care which has made his name a synonym for accuracy, and the variorum readings and other critical memoranda are invaluable to the reader. In the prosecution of his work, the editor obtained the cordial approval and coöperation of Lord Tennyson and his family. This edition is in the most literal sense definitive. Sold only in sets, 12 volumes, cloth, 12mo, half calf or morocco.

Illustrated Cabinet Edition

OF THE COMPLETE WORKS OF

Honoré de Balzac

In 36 volumes

Balzac is universally conceded to be the greatest novelist of France if not of the world. In his "Comédie Humaine" he set out to portray contemporary French life of all classes and types, and in the accomplishment of this task was marvellously successful. His stories contain two thousand characters drawn with a realism and imaginative grasp unapproached by any other writer since Shakespeare. His analysis of motives and subtlety of insight are equalled only by the power and rush of his narrative, which has a dramatic intensity hard to match elsewhere in literature. Balzac is the master of many styles — the idyllic, impassioned, fanciful, and sententious, but he always enchains the attention and fascinates the mind. He was the amanuensis of society. Human nature seemed to put itself permanently on record through the medium of his pen. His astonishing fertility is the standing marvel of all literary workers who have come after him. Although he died as recently as 1850, he seems to be as assured a classic as Dante, Cervantes, and Goethe, — one of the eternal men. The popular demand for Balzac's works has had a tremendous impetus within a few years, and it is coming to be true that not to have read "Père Goriot," "Eugénie Grandet," and other of his masterpieces, is to write one's self down ignorant of the best in modern literature.

This edition of Balzac is a new translation into English, made with unusual charm of style and fidelity to the original. The introduction to each volume is contributed by George Saintsbury, M. A., Professor of English Literature in the University of Edinburgh, and one of the most eminent of living critics.

The publishers have confidence in announcing this edition as the most complete and the only authorized rendering of the Saintsbury Balzac. It contains four new volumes, never before included in any set of Balzac: "The Physiology of Marriage," "The Dramas" (in two volumes), and a "Repertory of the Comédie Humaine." The addition of this valuable material renders the edition without a rival.

The paper employed is a superior quality of laid, deckle edge, made especially for this edition, and the text is printed from new type with a clear open face. The title-pages are printed in two colors. The illustrations number about one hundred and fifty, and include a group of reproductions of etchings made by famous English and French artists for the first English edition, a collection of quaint old wood-cuts made by French artists during Balzac's lifetime, and giving authentic contemporary costumes, and a series of paintings and black and white sketches made expressly for this edition by some of the best American artists of to-day. The illustrations also include the best existing portrait of Balzac and the latest portrait of Professor Saintsbury.

New Illustrated Cabinet Edition

The Complete Works of

William Shakespeare.

In 20 volumes.

A new Cabinet Edition of Shakespeare, edited by William J. Rolfe, Henry N. Hudson, and other Shakespearian scholars, which is in all respects worthy of the series and the author. It is complete in a set of twenty handsomely bound volumes, and the text is printed by the celebrated Colonial Press from electrotype plates cast from a new font of type, on fine laid deckle-edge paper, with wide margins. The work comprises the complete plays and poems according to the Cambridge text, from the latest edition of William Aldis Wright. The commentary is most complete, and derived from the greatest Shakespearian authorities. It includes introductions, notes, and glossaries by Israel Gollancz, editor of the Temple Shakespeare, together with the complete notes and variorum readings of Alexander Dyce, a general introduction by William J. Rolfe, Litt. D., and a history of the drama and general criticism by Henry N. Hudson and others. Other features are an index of characters; also biographical and genealogical prefaces to the historical plays by George Russell French, edited by Dr. William J. Rolfe. The work is splendidly illustrated with etchings and photogravures from the most celebrated paintings of Shakespearian subjects, many of which have never been available for reproduction before. Among the artists whose names lend special significance to the illustrative features of the work are Emile Bayard, W. von Kaulbach, L. Alma Tadema, Sir Frederick Leighton, Marcus Stone, Luke Fildes, and scores of others of equal eminence.

Illustrated Cabinet Edition

OF THE COMPLETE WORKS OF

Edgar Allan Poe

The works of Poe, both verse and prose, are increasingly in demand. This author has at last taken his rightful place as the greatest imaginative genius, with one possible exception, whom America has produced.

The Cabinet Edition contains all of Poe's immortal short stories, which some hold to be the greatest ever written, as well as his complete poetical works, criticisms, and general essays. It is prefaced by a sympathetic memoir from the pen of the late Richard Henry Stoddard, occupying over 220 pages, and embellished with facsimile autographs. It contains also brief appreciations by James Russell Lowell and Nathaniel Parker Willis, as well as a remarkable critical essay by Mr. Stoddard, entitled "The Genius of Poe." Of Poe's Tales Mr. Stoddard says: "There is nothing in English literature with which the stories of Poe can be compared, and nothing in American literature, except the stories of Hawthorne." The text is printed in large, clear type, with wide margins, on a handsome laid deckle-edge paper. The edition contains nearly 40 etchings and photogravures.

These works will be sold in sets or separately as follows:

1*	Genius of Poe, Life by R. H. Stoddard, Edgar Allan Poe, by James Russell Lowell, Death of Poe, by N. P. Willis, Poems, Essays,	1 volume,	$1.50

"Astrology for All"

BY

ALAN LEO

Shows, by means of a series of delineations, the general CHARACTER AND DESTINY OF ALL PERSONS BORN DURING THE YEAR, the author renders the subject both intelligible and demonstrable, without need of either calculations or astronomical knowledge of any kind.

This work is the outcome of many years' experience and research, and presents the subject from a point of view never before attempted, simplifying it in such a way that the true principles can be readily grasped by any intelligent person.

It reveals the true character and capacity of all whose day of birth is known, describes the general idiosyncrasies, and indicates the profession best adapted, also whom to choose for friend, partner, husband, or wife; and it is hence not merely profoundly interesting, as giving a deep insight into the mysteries of astrology, but eminently useful and practical—in the best use of both words.

A STANDARD BOOK OF ASTROLOGY

SCIENCE OF THE SOUL

CONSIDERED

Physiologically and Philosophically

WITH AN APPENDIX, CONTAINING NOTES OF MESMERIC AND PSYCHICAL EXPERIENCE

By JOSEPH HADDOCK, M. D.

With engravings of the Nervous System
PRICE $1.00

PHRENO-MESMERISM, or the manifestation of the Phrenological sentiments and feelings, which is but another form of simple imaginative action; TRANSFER OF STATE AND FEELING, or that Imaginative action which causes the patient to feel what is done to the Mesmeriser, as if it were done to him; MENTAL ATTRACTION, or apparent Magnetic drawing of the person of the patient, even contrary to his inclination. CEREBRAL LUCIDITY, or apparent illumination of the Brain; with other forms of what is called CLAIRVOYANCE; but which I think would be better called INNER VISION, or INTERNAL, or SPIRITUAL SIGHT. Assuming, therefore, for the present, that these phenomena exhibit a series of great and important facts, which cannot be set aside, neither by reason nor ridicule, I proceed at once to enquire—How we are to understand them? In what way to account for the curious and interesting manifestations thus cast upon our notice?

SCIENCE AND RELIGION

By BENJAMIN F. LOOMIS,

Graduate of the American Institute of Phrenology, Class of 1886

JUST PUBLISHED

339 PAGES, $1.50 ILLUSTRATED

Showing the Harmony of the Sciences, and their Relation to Religion; or the Relation of Man to the Universe.

The Macrocosm and the Microcosm.

"The world is becoming more accustomed to monopolies, large corporations, and trust companies, which are beginning to control every form of trade and business, and it is not surprising to find that even in the literary world the same spirit which dominates commerce is also at work here. In the above named volume before us, 'SCIENCE AND RELIGION,' we find that the author has not only given us an idea of Science, which in itself is a large subject to treat, but he has also united the subject of Religion to his comprehensive view of Science, and we have presented to us in one book the key of many interesting subjects which, as a rule, a reader has to secure several books to study. It shows us how Astronomy and the Solar System is allied to Phrenology, and how if the principles of Astrology are true as applied to this life, they are also applicable to spiritual knowledge. It tells us what are the keys to the kingdom of Heaven. It lays before us the problem why we should be Christians; and the principles of salvation. It speaks of the progress of the world as explained by the principles of Phrenology. Thus, the first part of the book treats of the Sideral System, and Chapter I is illustrated with views of the Solar System. After speaking of the comparative dimensions of the sun, the planets and their satellites, he next introduces, in Part II, the general principles of Phrenology, the definition of the organs, and as the author has made a study of Phrenology, he gives in brief an outline of the subject. Part III is devoted to the general views and scope of Astrology, while Part IV shows the harmony between Phrenology and Astrology, or the influence of the planets on the human mind. In this section the writer gives the horoscope of Jesus Christ, and shows that He was born at the only time when it was possible for a perfect man to be born. He goes on to state that if Christ was born on December 25th, in the year 1, B. C., or just one week before the beginning of the Christian era, as is explained in the horoscope of Christ, and if Adam were created, or existed, just four thousand years before the birth of Christ, as is claimed by Astrology, then if we compute the mean motion of the planets back for a period of just four thousand years, taking the horoscope of Christ as a basis, we will then have an approximate horoscope for the first man, Adam, and it would indicate that Adam had his memorable existence and trials in the year 4001, B. C. We believe this is an original thought with Mr. Loomis and we commend his theories to our readers, for we believe that the originality of the book will appeal to many in a new light.."—Phrenological Journal.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I received your valuable and interesting paper with my photo, and your extremely good character reading in it. You are a wonderful woman, your aim is the highest and noblest, and you deserve an elevated place in this world. LUISA CAPPIANI, New York City.

"I beg to thank you for the frankness of manner in which you have expressd an opinion of my character and will act on your advice." J. C. V., Washington, D. C.

"I am much pleased with my son's character. You can publish it in the Journal. I expected a good deal from you, but your delineation has been a surprise to his mother and myself. Several points in his character you have exposed which we have known for some time; other points you have laid before us that we did not know, but think you are probably as correct in those." GEORGE WELDON, Greenfell, Can.

"Find with this my check for $2.00 for which please mail 20 copies of the Phrenological Journal, the July number, to the above address. I am pleased with your character reading of David Lord Richardson as are doubtless his parents. I think your arrangnments of the illustrations exquisitely artistic."
N. H. R., Athol, Mass.

"The character reading from photos is quite satisfactory. Your mind dissector could have hardly become more familiar with her subject had she been acquainted with him for a lifetime. The summary in the main is very correct and for the purpose desired is simply admirable." J. F. RUGGLES, Bronson, Mich.

"To-day I received your typewritten delineation of character from photos. I am well satisfied and consider it a step to my onward and upward progress." DR. FRED. I. SUMNER, Norwich, N. Y.

"My delineation from photos received and if you had previously known me for 20 years your description of character could not have been more accurate

It is a remarkable fact that in every calling wherein you state that I would succeed I have had some experience and was naturally successful.

It would no doubt be interesting to you to know how accurate your statements were in every minute detail."
ROBERT DORMAN, Jones, O. T.

"I am in receipt of your 'Phrenological Character' and was agreeably surprised at its correctness in every detail as I scarcely expected it from a reading from photographs.

While I paid all that was asked of me I feel deeply grateful for the correct delineation and advice given and desire to thank Miss Fowler very heartily for it. My brother said it was worth $25.00 and for myself I might say it is worth considerable more than that. With best wishes for your future success, I remain,
Yours very truly, ANDREW T. SCHIEDEL, Berlin, Can."

"Permit me, herewith, to acknowledge receipt of all the delineations; also to state that they are to the full satisfaction of all parties concerned." J. O. VIKING, Ispeming, Mic.

"Now, however, since the delineation, I find that having learned my status, I feel somewhat freer in company. With proper cultivation, I hope to be able to build up my 'language and self-esteem' to an appreciable extent. The cultivation of 'Agreeableness' will also receive considerable of my attention as will 'Eventuality' and the other organs that you suggest." F. S. HAZARD, Washington, D. C.

"I received my Phrenological character written by you and must say that you have phrenology down to perfection." JOS. CALHOUN, Wheatley, Ont., Can.

"We were delighted with the photograph and sketch of our little Margaret's character in your magazine, and wish to thank you very much for sending it to us. We were surprised that so true a character could be given of such a baby. Everything is perfectly correct." MR. and MRS. IRWIN.

"Mr. Penlin sent your description of himself to his mother and she finds it so good that it is difficult for her to believe that you knew nothing of him through me, and had only the photo to go by. In fact she thinks it very wonderful, and as we wisk to give her a little surprise at Xmas, we would like to send her a description of herself. I enclose the two photos of her that we have, hoping that they may be sufficient for that purpose."

"I am truly thankful for the help in coming to a decision for I could not trust myself. There would have been more or less of doubt in my mind without the help you bring, now I make the step without doubt and your instruction follows my inclination and also my judgment.

May God bless you in your work and may I prove worthy of the lady who is to be my partner."
S. N. MCCANN, Balsar, India.

"My delineation from photographs was received on the 9th. I was pleased beyond expectations with your description of my character. Your advice concerning my health I am following. My health is the best it has been for fifteen years and there is still room for improvement." EDWARD W. BURT, Haddam, Kans.

"I have safely received the readings of my four children. I am well pleased with them, and I hope to find them a great aid in training the little ones. I hope at some future time I may be able to send my youngest baby to you for a reading." MRS. C. HADDOCK, University Heights.

"I hand you herewith check for $5.00 together with three photos of my boy Alfred Laverne Souter to have an examination of head. He is a brother of Hal. M. Souter. whose examination you made recently. You struck it close in his case." A. E. SOUTER Shelby, Mich.

THE PHRENOLOGICAL JOURNAL

is widely known in America and Europe, having been before the reading world over 66 years and occupying a place in literature exclusively its own, viz., the study of HUMAN NATURE in all its phases, including Phrenology, Physiognomy, Ethnology, Physiology, etc., together with the "SCIENCE OF HEALTH," and no expense will be spared to make it the best publication for general circulation, tending always to make men better Physically, Mentally and Morally. Parents and teachers should read the JOURNAL, that they may better know how to govern and train their children. Young people should read the JOURNAL that they may make the most of themselves. It has long met with the hearty approval of the press and the public.

N. Y. Tribune says: "Few works will better repay perusal in the family than this rich storehouse of instruction, which never fails to illustrate the practical philosophy of life, with its lively expositions, appropriate anecdotes, and agreeable sketches of distinguished individuals."

Christian Union says: "It is well known as a popular storehouse for useful thought. It teaches men to know themselves and constantly presents matters of the highest interest to intelligent readers, and has the advantage of having always been not only 'up with the times,' but a little in advance. Its popularity shows the result of enterprise and brains."

The Book of Tea

By Okakura-Kakuzo

An Interpretation of Japanese Life

An explanation, from one of the most talented of living Japanese, of the qualities that make the Japanese character unique; timely and valuable in the highest degree. $1.50 net; postage extra.

Man and the Earth

By Nathaniel Southgate Shaler
Professor of Geology in Harvard University

An Economic Forecast

A study of the earth's inhabitants and its material resources for taking care of them. Will all the earth some day be as dangerously crowded as China? is the question to which this volume seeks an answer. $1.50 net; postage extra.

The Plays of Our Forefathers

By Charles Mills Gayley
Professor of English Literature in the University of California, author of "The Star of Bethlehem," "Representative English Comedies," etc., etc.

A readable and scholarly account of the origin and development of the earliest stage plays, called miracles or moralities, of which "Everyman" is a now famous example; by an acknowledged authority in this field. $1.50 net; postage extra.

Cranford, a Play

By Marguerite Merington
Author of "Captain Letterblair"

A clever dramatization of Mrs. Gaskell's famous novel—easy to read and easy to act. With a frontispiece in color by Edwin Wallick. $1.25.

Fox, Duffield and Company

New York

The American People. By Franklin H. Giddings. Reprinted from the International Quarterly. Paper, 25 cents.

The American Scholar of the Twentieth Century. By William Morton Payne. Reprinted from the International Quarterly. Paper, 25 cents.

Archbald, Anna, The Fusser's Book, 75 cents.

The Autobiography of a Thief.* Recorded by Hutchins Hapgood. The life-story of a thief, told by himself, and taken down by the editor. The adventures and opinions of "Light-Fingered Jim" are of that kind of truth which is stranger than fiction. Cloth, 5 by 7¾ inches, with a title-page printed in two colors; pages i-viii, 336. $1.25 net, postage 10 cents.

Here is a "human document" about whose genuineness there can be no doubt. Mr. Hutchins Hapgood's guarantee, of itself sufficient, is not needed; every page of this autobiography bears the stamp of truth, which never can be successfully and convincingly imitated.—Mail and Express, New York.

 Net book. † Fiction, not net.

Babes in Toyland. By Glen MacDonough and Anna Alice Chapin. With eight full-page pictures in color and many drawings in black and white by Ethel Franklin Betts. A free version in book-form of Mr. MacDonough's popular play. The incidents of the narrative appeal directly to a child's sense of the romantic, and the pictures by Miss Betts, a pupil of Howard Pyle, carry out very skillfully the mingling of the real and the fantastic in the authors' story. Size $7\frac{1}{2}$ x $9\frac{3}{4}$; pages 300; cloth, $1.50.

> An unusually clever story for children. There is real human interest in it, and real fairy interest also, the two running one into the other as the chapters lead one lightly along. It is a pleasure to speak well of the illustrations, by Ethel Franklin Betts. They are nothing short of beautiful.—The Chicago Evening Post.

In Beauty's Realm. By C. Allan Gilbert. With Lyric Poems, selected and arranged by Arthur H. Hahlo and George S. Hellman. The first adequate collection of Mr. Gilbert's charming portraits of American women, with accompanying selections from English lyric poetry. With twelve full-page drawings, beautifully reproduced in platinum, each picture handsomely mounted; and twelve half-tone plates. Attractively bound and enclosed in a box with special design. Size 11 by 14 inches; 80 pages; price, $4.00 net; postage extra. Edition de luxe, limited to 100 copies signed by C. Allan Gilbert. $10.00 net; postage extra.

> In this very handsome gift-book may be found collected together Mr. Gilbert's charming portraits of American women, each portrait being accompanied by a poem. The poems have been chosen from Byron, Shakespeare, Shelley, Longfellow, Swinburne, Wordsworth, and other sources equally famous.
> —The Bookman.

Betts, Ethel Franklin, Babes in Toyland, $1.50.

Bishop, Joseph B., The Free Trade Revolt in England. Reprinted from the International Quarterly. 25 cents.

Björnstjerne Björnson. By William Morton Payne. Reprinted from the International Quarterly. Paper, 25 cents.

The Blue Grass Cook Book. By Minnie C. Fox; with an introduction by John Fox, Jr., author of "The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come," etc., etc. A collection of over six hundred excellent dishes which have long been appreciated by lovers of good eating throughout the Blue Grass regions of Kentucky and Virginia. 12mo; pages i-xx, 375. Illustrated. Cloth, $1.50.

> This volume has attractive features which do not usually belong to books of its class. In the first place, its title suggests easy command of all the resources of good cooking; in the next place, it is seductively illustrated by pictures of colored cooks; and in the third place, it contains a characteristic introduction by Mr. John Fox, Jr., who, writing at Tokyo, recalls with evident delight the odor and flavor of the Blue Grass kitchen and the skill of the Blue Grass cook.—Outlook.

The Book of Tea:* An Interpretation of Japanese Life. By Okakura-Kakuzo. An explanation, from one of the most talented of living Japanese, of the qualities that make the Japanese character unique. How the Japanese do things, a theme which has for a long time interested students of their art and civilization, is more than ever to the fore since the splendid record they have made in their war with Russia. Mr. Okakura's discussion of his countrymen is timely and valuable in the highest degree. $1.50 net; postage extra.

Boyce, Neith, The Folly of Others, $1.00; The Forerunner, $1.50.

Bradley, Will, The Castle Perilous, $1.50.

The Canterbury Tales.* By Geoffrey Chaucer. The Prologue and Ten Tales. A modern translation in prose by Percy MacKaye, author of "The Canterbury Pilgrims." Illustrations in color by Walter Appleton Clark. Particular pains have been taken to make the translation accurate enough for the use of students, and at the same time to bring Chaucer nearer to a popular audience. The pictures are done in a novel and effective combination of four colors, and reflect the very spirit of the Canterbury Pilgrimage. Size $7\frac{1}{2}$ x $9\frac{3}{4}$; pages 272; cloth, $2.50 net; postage, 15 cents.

> Many persons will appreciate the infinite art of Chaucer in the text now made available who would never get beyond the first half page of this father of English literature if they were to read the work as issued by Chaucer's original publishers.
> —The Independent.

Carrington, Fitzroy, The Shepherd's Pipe, boards, $1.00 net; leather, $1.25 net.

The Case of Russia.* A Composite View. By Alfred Rambaud, Vladimir Simkovitch, J. Novicow, Peter Roberts, and Isaac Hourwich. A symposium on conditions in present-day Russia, giving a survey of the history, governments, peoples, and prospects of the great empire. 12mo, 354 pages. Price, $1.25 net; postage, 10 cents.

> Of all the numerous books which have recently been published about Russia, this is certainly the most comprehensive, as it is also one of the best.
> —Brooklyn Standard-Union.

The Castle Perilous. By Will H. Bradley. Pictures and decorations by the author. A romantic and attractive story, cast in semi-dramatic form, and embellished in the charming way that Mr. Bradley has made his own. $1.50.

Chaucer, Geoffrey, The Canterbury Tales, $2.50 net.

Claparéde, Edward, The Consciousness in the Light of Biology, 25 cents.

Clark, Ellery H., Practical Track and Field Athletics, $1.00.

Clark, Walter Appleton, Illustrations for The Canterbury Tales, $2.50 net.

The Compromises of Life.* By Henry Watterson, of the Louisville "Courier-Journal." The only collection published of Colonel Watterson's trenchant papers, including biographical and literary sketches. Cloth, $5\frac{1}{2}$ x $7\frac{3}{4}$ inches; 375 pages, with a photogravure portrait. $1.50 net; postage, 15 cents.

> Col. Watterson's wit, his humor, his participation in the old-school ideals, his vigorous self-assertion, his long experience, his fund of anecdote, all contribute to the charm of the volume.—Kansas City Star.

The Consciousness in the Light of Biology. By Edward Claparéde, editor of "Archives de Psychologie." Reprinted from the International Quarterly. Paper, 25 cents.

Cox, Kenyon, Mixed Beasts, $1.00; Old Masters and New, $1.50 net; illustrated, $2.50 net.

Corbin, John, The First Loves of Perilla, $1.00.

Cranford, A Play. By Marguerite Merington, author of "Captain Lettarblair." A clever dramatization of Mrs. Gaskell's famous novel—easy to read and equally easy and attractive to act. With a frontispiece in color by Edwin E. Wallick. $1.25.

Crèvecœur, J. Hector St. John, Letters from an American Farmer, $1.50 net.

Crozier's General Armory; a Registry of American Families entitled to Coat Armor.* Edited by William Armstrong Crozier, F.R.S. Published by arrangement with the Genealogical Association. Containing descriptions of nearly two thousand coats of arms, with the name of the first of the family in America, the date of arrival and place of settlement, and the town or county whence he came; a glossary of heraldic terms, etc. Size $6\frac{3}{4}$ x $9\frac{3}{4}$. Cloth, $3.00 net; leather, $4.00 net; postage, 15 cents.

> The scope of this registry embraces the known arm-bearing families of all States in the Union, making it the most complete book of the kind published.
> —Baltimore American.

Crozier, William Armstrong, F.R.S., Crozier's General Armory, $3.00 net; leather, $4.00 net.

The Virginia County Records, $10.00 net per volume.

Darrow, Clarence S., An Eye for an Eye, $1.50.

Diehl, Charles, Essays on the Crusades, $1.00.

Doubledarling and the Dream Spinner. By Mrs. Candace Wheeler, author of "Content in a Garden," etc. Pictures in color by Dora Wheeler Keith. A group of stories told by the Dream Spinner to a little girl named Doubledarling, which all children will think it a privilege to hear, too. Mrs. Wheeler's experience in kindergarten work has taught her just what to say to children, and how to say it. In the same spirit are the pictures in the volume, by Mrs. Keith, hitherto well known for some of the best decorative work ever done in this country. $1.50.

Drawings by A. B. Frost. A collection in book form of many of Mr. Frost's cleverest pictures. The Sportsman, the Farmer, the Negro, and many other types, including, of course, the Boy, appear at their best, clothed in Mr. Frost's never-failing humor. With an introduction by Joel Chandler Harris, and accompanying verses by Wallace Irwin. $3.00.

Emerson and German Personality. By Kuno Francke, of Harvard University. Reprinted from the International Quarterly. Paper, 25 cents.

Essays on the Crusades. Reprinted from the International Quarterly, comprising "Christian and Infidel in the Holy Land," by Dana C. Munro, of the University of Wisconsin; "The Economic Development of Western Europe under the Influence of the Crusades," by Hans Prutz, of the University of Nancy, France; "The Byzantine Empire and the Crusades," by Charles Diehl, of the University of Königsberg, 12mo; pages 118. Cloth, $1.00.

"Essays on the Crusades" brings to the attention of the reader some influences exerted upon the people of the time and of later years by the Crusades, which have usually been overlooked by previous writers upon this most interesting and historic movement.—Northwestern Christian Advocate.

Everyman. The XVth Century Morality Play. Fourth edition. A reprint of the best of the old morality plays, links between the archaic theatre and the modern stage; on paper of antique finish; 43 pages, with an introduction, and 7 illustrations reproduced from old sixteenth century wood-cuts. Paper boards, 6 x 8¼ inches; price, $1.00.

All the typographical and mechanical details have been carefully studied with a view to heightening the quaint effect of this characteristic old morality.
—The Living Age.

†An Eye for an Eye. By Clarence S. Darrow, counsel to Mayor Dunne, of Chicago; special counsel for Teamsters' Union, etc., etc. The story of a murder and the murderer's expiation of his crime told in his own words to a friend in prison the night before his hanging. A strikingly natural and impressive narrative, full of human nature and sociological truth. $1.50.

†The Folly of Others. By Neith Boyce, author of "The Forerunner." With pictures by Horace T. Carpenter. A group of excellent short stories, studies in feminine mood and character, by the author of one of the most highly praised of recent novels. 12mo; pages 232. $1.00, postpaid.

> Without exaggeration, there is enough human nature within the small covers of "The Folly of Others" to supply a dozen more pretentious efforts of the day with a vitalizing effort.—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

Ford, Julia Ellsworth, Pictures by George Frederick Watts, $3.50.

†The Forerunner. By Neith Boyce. An American novel, in effect a full-length portrait, very sympathetically drawn, of one of the most striking of national types—the American promoter and money-hunter, to whose energy and pluck the material wealth of the country is due, but whose domestic and human happiness are too often dramatically sacrificed in the endeavor. 12mo. $1.50.

> The story is brimming with life, movement and delicate studies of temperament.—Philadelphia Item.

Fox, Minnie C., The Blue Grass Cook Book, $1.50.

Francke, Kuno, Emerson and German Personality, 25 cents.

The Free Trade Revolt in England. By Joseph B. Bishop. Reprinted from the International Quarterly. Paper, 25 cents.

Frost, A. B., Drawings by A. B. Frost, $3.00.

Further Adventures of the Happy Hearts. By Virginia Gerson, author of "The Happy Heart Family." Pictures in color by the author. A continuation of one of the most popular of children's books. Miss Gerson, whose dainty and original Happy Heart Family was hailed everywhere as a delightful successor to the Brownies, has given her youthful audience a second armful of these bewitching little creatures in the present volume. $1.00.

The Fusser's Book. New and enlarged edition. By Anna Archbald and Georgina Jones; pictures by Florence Wyman. A manual of advice to "Fussers" or ladies' men, containing epigrammatic hints as to etiquette and best policy on more than one occasion. Size 6 x 9; pages 35. Boards, 75 cents.

> The rules are very quotable and replete with subtle intimations. They apply to the fusser's etiquette at a dance, sailing and calling, to his attitude toward the athletic girl, the chaperone and the younger sister, as well as to "the best one's" fads, vanities and frocks.—The Vassar Miscellany.

Gayley, Charles Mills, The Plays of Our Forefathers, $1.50 net; The Star of Bethlehem, $1.00.

Gerson, Virginia, Further Adventures of the Happy Hearts, $1.00; The Happy Heart Family, $1.00.

Giddings, Franklin H., The American People, 25 cents.

Gilbert, C. Allan, In Beauty's Realm, $4.00 net.

Graham, John, Practical Track and Field Athletics, $1.00.

Hapgood, Hutchins, The Autobiography of a Thief, $1.25 net.

The Happy Heart Family. By Virginia Gerson. With pictures in color by the author. A happy-go-lucky, entertaining tale, told for children. Papa Good-Heart and the little Hearts, the Nanny Goat and the Black Velvet Cat with the white shirt front and long whiskers, Fritzy Heart the gardener, and last, but not least, the Catama-Nanny Boat, have made friends in every nursery. Size 8¼ x 10. Cloth, $1.00.

There are delightful full-page illustrations in colors, and the babies of the Heart family are scampering here and there all through the book.—New York Times.

Hay, Helen, Verses for Jock and Joan, $1.50.

Herbert Spencer.* By Josiah Royce. An estimate of Spencer's character and contribution to the thought of nations; written after the publication of his autobiography and constituting a last and enlightening word on the subject; together with an interesting chapter of personal reminiscence by James Collier, his amanuensis and assistant. Size 6 x 8; price, $1.25 net.

Professor Royce deftly touches on the history and meaning of evolution, the origin and significance of Spencer's own view of evolution, this view itself in its finished form, and finally offers a critique of the significance of Spencer's own work as a philosopher.—Public Opinion.

†Hester of the Grants. By Theodora Peck. A novel in a new field for fiction, the Vermont of early days, with Ethan Allen and General John Stark among its characters. 12mo; frontispiece by Thomas Mitchell Peirce. Cloth, $1.50.

Most of all to be praised for its atmosphere of truth, an atmosphere which envelops the substance of the narrative as though with the light and air and color of old Bennington in its most picturesque and exciting days.—New York Tribune.

Hourwich, Isaac, The Case of Russia, $1.25 net.

Ibsen, Henrik, Letters of Henrik Ibsen, $2.50 net.

Jones, Georgina, The Fusser's Book, 75 cents.

Keith, Dora Wheeler, Doubledarling and the Dream Spinner, $1.50.

Lamont, Thomas W., Pictures by George Frederick Watts, $3.50.

Laurvik, John Nilsen, Letters of Henrik Ibsen, $2.50 net.

Letters from an American Farmer.* By J. Hector St. John Crèvecœur. With a preface by Professor W. P. Trent, of Columbia, an introduction by Ludwig Lewisohn, and an appendix containing some hitherto unpublished letters from Crèvecœur to Benjamin Franklin. A reprint of a delightful Colonial classic, first issued in 1782 and now for more than a century out of print. Size $5\frac{3}{4}$ x $8\frac{1}{2}$; pages i-xxv, 325. Boards, $1.50 net; postage, 15 cents.

The present reprint is from the original London edition. It is issued in 8vo, is well printed on good paper, with a suggestion of the antique in the style, and is bound in boards, with white label; altogether a creditable and tastefully made volume. The publishers merit the hearty praise of all book lovers for their admirable reprint of this interesting work.—Brooklyn Daily Eagle.

*Letters of Henrik Ibsen. Translated by John Nilsen Laurvik. A strikingly interesting and important correspondence, covering a period of fifty years and constituting an autobiography of the greatest living dramatist, probably the greatest living man of letters, to-day. Among those to whom letters are addressed are King Charles of Sweden; Georg Brandes, the Danish critic; Björnstjerne Björnson, William Archer, and Edmund Gosse, as well as an interesting circle of less celebrated friends. The whole collection is full of characteristic and illuminating comment on men and events. $2.50 net; postage extra.

> The most important recent happening in the field of Norwegian literature. We have a running commentary on contemporary happenings and men, as well as on Ibsen's own works, revealing to us the great dramatist in a light entirely different from that obtained by merely reading or seeing his plays.—New York Evening Post.

The Life of a Wooden Doll. By Lewis Saxby. Illustrated with photographs taken from life. A juvenile book of a very novel sort—the days and doings of a wooden doll related in clever rhymes and pictured by the camera. With twenty-eight half-tone reproductions of ingenious groupings of the little people and their furniture and other possessions. 64 pages; 8 x 10 inches, with cover in two colors. $1.25.

> Ingeniously illustrated with photographs of groups of dolls, doll furniture, wooden animals, etc. Something new—especially the cat with the Cheshire smile.—New York Mail and Express.

The Little Kingdom of Home. By Margaret E. Sangster. Kindly, cheerful wisdom on homes and home-making, a recognition of the importance of the home-unit in our national life; thoroughly wholesome and human. With marginal designs of garlands and sprays of flowers. 8vo; pages 481. Price, $1.50.

> A book that deserves an honored place in every household, to be read and re-read. There is a distinct reverence in the various phases of domestic life, combined with common sense and sound advice.—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

†The First Loves of Perilla. By John Corbin. A sketch of a typical "matinée girl" and her successive admirations, by one of the most successful of metropolitan dramatic critics. Cloth, 4 x 7 inches, with specially ornamented box cover and a portrait of Perilla, in color, by C. Allan Gilbert. $1.00.

The dialogue is amusing, and the distinction drawn by the young girl between the emotions aroused by the different actors is worthy the pen of an experienced dramatic critic like Mr. Corbin.—Chicago Tribune.

MacDonough, Glen, Babes in Toyland, $1.50.

MacKaye, Percy, The Canterbury Tales, $2.50 net.

Man and the Earth.* An Economic Forecast. By Prof. N. S. Shaler. A study of the earth's inhabitants with reference to its material resources for taking care of them. Prof. Shaler, who is dean of the Lawrence Scientific School of Harvard University, discusses the problem of maintaining the fertility of the soil, and of developing other means to meet the constantly increasing demands of growing populations. Will all the earth some day be as uncomfortably, not to say dangerously, crowded as China is? That is the question to which this volume seeks an answer. $1.50 net; postage extra.

†The Man with the Wooden Face. By Mrs. Fred Reynolds. A love-story, the characters of which are a pleasant little company of very human people spending the summer among the Welsh Hills. Cloth, 5 x 7½ inches, with title-page printed in two colors. $1.50.

The love interest is handled with simplicity and directness.—Academy, London.

Merington, Marguerite, Cranford, A Play, $1.25.

Misrepresentative Men. By Col. D. Streamer, author of "Ruthless Rhymes for Heartless Homes," etc. With illustrations by F. Strothmann. A little book of pleasantly satirical verses on "Misrepresentative" celebrities from Adam down. Size $5\frac{3}{4}$ x 7. Boards, $1.00.

> There is good and good-natured fooling in verse in Harry Graham's "Misrepresentative Men," his gallery embracing all ages from Adam, Diogenes, Nero, Joan of Arc, Bacon, Marat, to Paderewski, Sir Thomas Lipton, and Theodore Roosevelt.—Nation.

Mixed Beasts. Drawings and accompanying verses, by Kenyon Cox. A collection of nonsense pictures and rhymes in the popular field of natural history from a comic point of view, including "The Paintermine," "The Vampirishman," "The Pelicantelope," and other farcical fauna. Size 6 x 8. Price, $1.00.

> These cheerful monsters are sketched with great simplicity and humor, and the verses that go with them are turned with quite as engaging a comicality.—New York Tribune.

More Misrepresentative Men. By Capt. Harry Graham ("Col. D. Streamer"), author of "Misrepresentative Men," "Ruthless Rhymes for Heartless Homes," etc. With illustrations by Malcolm Strauss. A new collection, descriptive of such celebrities as the German Emperor, Shakespeare, Marconi, Joseph Smith (the Mormon), etc. The wide-spread popularity of Captain Graham's pleasant little satires assures a hearty welcome for this latest volume. $1.00.

Special edition, bound in limp leather, $1.25 net; postage extra.

> The result is as happy a collection of verse as we have seen in some time; nearly all our old favorites are included, and there are very few in the book that are not somebody's favorites.—Boston Evening Transcript.

Simkhovitch, Vladimir, The Case of Russia, $1.25 net.

Smith, Jessie Willcox, Rhymes of Real Children, $1.50.

Spencer, Herbert, Herbert Spencer, $1.25 net.

The Star of Bethlehem; A Miracle Play. By Prof. Charles Mills Gayley, of the University of California. A drama of the Nativity, a curious and highly successful experiment in a literary form that has been the subject of one of the most interesting of popular revivals. Uniform with Everyman. 12mo. Boards, $1.00, post-paid.

> It tells the story of Bethlehem as seen by the common folk, and it is a rural comedy, in which—though the scenes be laid as they should be—all the thoughts are uttered in the spirit of English herdsmen, tillers, wives, etc. Mirth has its place, jokes are a-plenty, and the common, strong, worshipful life of good yokels has about it an indefinable charm like that of ripe ale.—Chicago Tribune.

Streamer, Col. D., Misrepresentative Men, $1.00; More Misrepresentative Men, $1.00.

Sweetser, Kate Dickinson, Ten Girls from Dickens, $2.00.

Am very much pleased with it. It is admirably adapted to such work as we do in Shakespeare. — Prof. Robert A. Armstrong, Department of English, West Virginia University.

Bell's Standard Elocutionist ‡

Principles and exercises followed by copious selections in prose and poetry, classified and adapted for readings and recitations from ancient and modern eloquence. For senior and junior students. Revised edition. 210th thousand. 12mo, Cloth, red roan backs, 563 pp. $1.50.

Of the book by Bell, I have nothing but praise. It is standard, and contains many valuable hints and exercises for the young student who desires to perfect his style of delivery preparatory to the higher art of oratory.—Prof. T. C. Trueblood, Department of Literature, Science, and the Arts, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, Michigan.

Bengough, J. W.

It offers an easy and attractive way of mastering the ground principles of the single tax.—Review of Reviews, New York.

Bersier-Rankin

The Estrangement of Young People from Christianity

It answers many of the objections to Christianity which thoughtless youths of to-day are apt to offer. Translated by J. E. Rankin, D.D., LL.D., President of Howard University. 16mo, Cloth, 58 pp. 50 cents.

This book must prove most serviceable reading placed in the hands of those verging upon manhood, and, read at the right moment, is likely to determine the destiny of the reader.—The Religious Herald, Hartford, Conn.

Bertram, Rev. R. A.

A Homiletic Cyclopedia of Illustrations in Morals ‡

It contains 5,000 useful illustrations and extracts relating to over a thousand religious and theological topics. The quotations are taken from the best authorities in the United States, England, and Continental Europe. The work also embraces the features of a homiletic commentary, throwing light on more than 4,000 texts of Scripture. Large 8vo, Cloth, 896 pp., $3.50; Sheep, $5.00.

The entire book is one extended index—each subject and all its heads and subdivisions are so arranged typographically that everything can be most readily found. In addition, there is a triple set of indexes, the first being an index of arrangements, with all the subdivisions. It serves as an exhaustive homiletical analysis of each topic. The second is the index of subjects, and the third is a textual index.

No book of illustrations for fulness, and, above all, suggestiveness, is worthy to be compared with this work.—Literary World, London.

I like Bertram's Homiletic Cyclopedia better than any collection of illustrations I have ever seen. Its analysis of subjects makes it much superior to a mere mass of quotations alphabetically arranged. It is not simply an orderly collection of beautiful stories but a series of mosaics. —Josiah Strong, D.D.

To the average minister it will prove a library of valuable and suggestive sermonic material.—Arthur T. Pierson, D.D.

Nearest to our ideal of what such a cyclopedia ought to be.—The Congregationalist, Boston.

If one must read a book through, as usually he should before giving an opinion of its merits or defects, it will be some time before I can give you one about Bertram's Homiletic Cyclopedia. But if sipping at a spring may fairly test its waters, or if eating a bunch of grapes may leave a just impression of a fruit of a vine, I don't know why my scattered readings in this encyclopedia may not justify me in saying that it appears to me an immeasurably rich collection of instruction and suggestive thoughts collected from many writers, evangelical in tone, and sure to be helpful to the mind and heart of one using the volume.—R. S. Storrs, D.D.

We can not write too high praise of the work accomplished by the compiler of this encyclopedia. His industry has only been equaled by the ability manifested in the arrangement of the work and his choice of selections. . . . We heartily commend this work to the notice of our ministers and local preachers, to whom it will prove an incalculable boon.—The Primitive Methodist.

Its ground plan is an alphabetical list of subjects, beginning with Adversity and ending with Worship. Each topic is divided sermon-wise into heads, and indeed is a sermon in itself. Under each of these illustrative quotations are given. Writers of every age and school have been laid under contribution.—The British Quarterly.

Its arrangement renders it a useful aid to all religious writers and preachers, and indeed to all religious readers also.—The London Times.

Any pastor who, by reading for fifteen minutes, could not find a sort of inspiration seizing him to go to work upon his sermon must be a man whom the Lord never made for a "preacher."—Bishop Coxe, D.D.

The ease with which any illustration is found is a commendable feature. . . . We are prepared from our examination to indorse the words of Spurgeon: "A very valuable compilation—a golden treasury—an important addition to a minister's library"—and to say that it is remarkably low at the price for which it is published. —The Christian Evangel, Chicago.

No one is likely to overestimate the influence of such a rich collection in a place where it is very difficult or even impossible to command the works of the best religious authors. For many it must necessarily serve as a library of reference and a cabinet of gems.—N. Y. Observer.

It is an admirable work, especially in the department of old English theology.—The Mail and Express, N. Y.

This stout octavo, with its crowded pages, presents short, clear, and impressive utterances from the leading religious writers.—Zion's Herald, Boston.

A study of the criminal classes and the poor of England with the best philanthropic plans for remedying the immorality and distress. 8vo, with colored chart and heavy paper, 326 pp., Cloth, $1.50; with chart printed in black and white and thinner paper, Cloth, $1.00; Paper edition, 50 cents.

More interesting than fiction, more veracious than history, more vital than theology.—The Outlook, New York.

The most powerful and practical contribution toward the solution of the social problem that has appeared.—Lutheran Observer, Philadelphia.

Bose, Ram Chandra

Brahmoism

The history of Reformed Hinduism from its origin in 1830 to the present time. 12mo, Cloth, 222 pp., $1.25; Paper, 50 cents.

At last we have a clear, scholarly, and candid review of this most interesting religious movement, and one written from an evangelical point of view. It is a work of great interest, and the author has laid the whole Christian world under obligation to him for this valuable work.—Examiner, New York.

Hindu Philosophy

The six orthodox systems of Hindu philosophy, popularly explained with chapters on: Sources of Hindu Philosophy, Age of Hindu Philosophy, Hindu Theory of Evolution, Hindu Asceticism, Hindu Logic, Hindu Atomic Theory, Hindu Ritualism, Hindu Pantheism, The Illusion Theory, Hindu and Christian Philosophy Contrasted. 12mo, Cloth, 420 pp. $1.50.

No other work gives as fully or as authoritatively as this does such valuable insight into Hindu philosophy. We heartily commend the volume for its ripe scholarship and for its interesting and valuable information.—The Interior, Chicago.

Holding the Ropes; Missionary Methods for Workers at Home

Practical plans and suggestions for stimulating individual interest and directing the efforts of missionary societies toward the most effective work, with chapters on: The Bible in the Missionary Meeting; Prayer in the Missionary Meeting; Music in the Missionary Meeting; How to Interest the Individual in Missions—A Study of the Turning-Points in Great Missionary Careers; The Missionary Library—How to Get It and How to Use It; The Mission Study Class; Missionary Training in the Home; Missions in the Sunday-School; The Money Problem in Missionary Work; Who's Who in Missions; Practical Work for Missionary Societies; Great Statesmen in the Witness-Box; Great Thoughts of Master Missionaries. 12mo, Cloth. $1.00, net.

"Holding the Ropes" is just what the clever title implies, a manual of church practise in working for missions. It is suggestive, stimulating, concise, and up to date. I do not know of anything in print approaching it in helpfulness to pastors or general workers for the missionary cause.—W. L. Amerman, Chairman New York City Christian Endeavor Union.

Nothing better could be found for the leader of missionary work who has exhausted all her own ideas and needs revivifying.—Christian Advocate, New York.

Mission workers in the home field, no matter what their experience has been, will find helpful guidance and stimulus here.—Christian Guardian, Toronto.

Breed, W. P., D.D.

Aboard and Abroad

A valuable book of reference in any household.—The Sun, New York.

A compendium of practical knowledge.—Lutheran Evangelist.

Byrde, Margaretta

The Searchers ‡

In this story are depicted the searcher after love, the searcher after truth, the searcher after sin. These take divergent paths, but find the same truths awaiting them at the goals. 12mo, Cloth, 452 pp. $1.50.

A remarkable achievement, strong in characterization, subtle in psychological insight.—Westminster Review, London.

Campbell, Rev. James M. ("Hamish Mann")

Bible Questions

A series of studies arranged for every week in the year; for use as prayer-meeting topics for the church prayer-meeting or for young people's societies, they are particularly applicable. 12mo, Cloth, 282 pp. $1.00.

Every question is pertinent and opportune, and the literature is bracing and upbuilding.—The Brooklyn Daily Eagle.

The lessons are written in a simple, direct style, and will be found suggestive and helpful by those who undertake to stimulate or guide students in their search into the scriptures. — Christian Record, Chicago.

Clerical Types

Twenty keen character sketches of as many types of clergymen. These stories of ministerial successes and failures are intermingled with keen wit, sarcasm, and affecting pathos. 12mo, Cloth, 217 pp. $1.00.

The point of view is genial and hearty, and while foibles and fallacies are cleverly pointed out there is no animus in the blows that shatter. —Hartford Post.

There is not a dull line in the book; a sense of humor dominates the chapters, and anecdotes and quiet satire enliven the text.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Typical Elders and Deacons

Composite character sketches of representative types of deacons, including, An Ideal Deacon, A Deacon Not Ideal, A Loquacious Deacon, A Silent Deacon, A Jovial Elder, A Chronic Grumbler, A No-Talent Man, A Manly Elder, A Critical Elder, An Elder of Good Report, A Modern Diotrephes, A Watchman on Zion's Walls, A Minister's Standby, A Strict Deacon, A Hopeful Deacon, A Trouble in Israel, A Peacemaker, A Hobby-Rider, A Modern Apostle John, and An Angel Behind the Mask. 12mo, Cloth, 137 pp. $1.00.

His observation, trenchant wit, and kindly humor help to make his book "meaty." He has a fund of anecdotes well in hand, and salted down with wise epigrams that are sure to make a hit with all classes of readers.—Indianapolis Sunday Sentinel.

It is very valuable, giving needed facts as to the causes of the different readings to the Scriptures, and the grounds upon which the changes in the present Revised Version have been made.—The New York Examiner.

A valuable help, and, we may say, a needed one.—The Churchman, New York.

Difficult to judge of the merits of the revision without this book.—San Francisco Evening Post.

Moses and His Recent Critics

A series of twelve essays by distinguished scholars and professors of the United States. The Baptist, Congregational, Episcopal, Methodist, Lutheran, and Presbyterian denominations are represented among the contributors. The essays are designed for average readers rather than for critical scholars. Edited by Talbot W. Chambers, D.D. 12mo, Cloth, 413 pp. $2.00.

The editor of this volume has rendered good service to the cause of truth, and left the hard-worked minister without excuse for lack of familiarity with the Pentateuchal question. It should have a place in the library of every student of the Bible. The arguments are arrows which every intelligent Christian may easily handle, and he should have his quiver full of them.—Presbyterian Quarterly.

Such a collection of essays as Mr. Chambers has compiled in one volume can not fail to be useful.—Church Record, New York.

The Pentateuch has been persistently and diligently assailed. The volume "Moses and His Recent Critics" can not fail to be of the greatest value to the Church, and will gratify a desire felt by thousands of those who love the Bible.—Christian Intelligencer, New York.

It is a bright, incisive, most timely discussion, original in method.—Joseph Cook, D.D., LL.D.

Craigie, Mrs. (see Hobbes, John Oliver).

Cremer, Hermann, D.D., LL.D.

A Reply to Harnack on the Essence of Christianity **

This work aims to meet the demands of Anglo-Saxon Christendom for an English translation of Dr. Cremer's celebrated lectures in reply to Professor Harnack's critique, "What is Christianity?" It has attracted wide-spread attention in Germany because it is generally pronounced the strongest and most important of the answers to the leader of higher criticism. Translated into English by Bernhard Pick, Ph.D., D.D. 12mo, Cloth, 280 pp. $1.00, net; by mail, $1.10.

Dr. Cremer goes straight to the heart of the matter, arguing his case with such eloquence, brilliancy of perception, and undoubted belief in his arguments that he impresses one as being an able and untiring pleader.—Philadelphia Item.

Croly, George

Tarry Thou Till I Come

A historical novel, dealing with the momentous events that occurred, chiefly in Palestine, from the time of the Crucifixion to the destruction of Jerusalem. It reveals the struggles between the Romans and the Jews, which finally ended in the overthrow and dispersion of the Jewish nation, picturing forth the conflict between Judaism and early Christianity. Introduction by General Lew Wallace. Illustrated by T. de Thulstrup, with frontispiece in colors, sixteen full-page half-tone drawings, and three bastard title-page designs. Cover design by George Wharton Edwards. 12mo, Cloth, 622 pp. $1.40. Presentation Edition, 2 volumes (in a box), sixteen photogravures, $4.00.

It is one of the noblest romances I have ever read, and must stand with the very best literature that has ever been given to the world.—Carroll D. Wright.

It is sublime. It occupies a unique place; there is nothing else like it in literature. Such a book elevates and ennobles the whole realm of fiction.—Hubert H. Bancroft.

Crooks, George R., D.D.

Commentary on St. Matthew (see Meyer's Commentary).

Crosby, Ernest Howard

Captain Jinks, Hero

A keen satire on war in which the parallel between savagery and soldiery is unerringly drawn. It is a burlesque on the various forms of cheap hero-worship. It holds up to scorn every important feature of militarism. 12mo, Cloth, 400 pp., Illustrations by Dan Beard. $1.50.

Wit and humor abound in his contrasts between our glorious civilization and the benighted civilization of the Orient.—Boston Times.

It is a keen and just satire on our military foolishness and crime. It paints the picture to life. —William Lloyd Garrison.

Swords and Plowshares ‡

A collection of poems, filled with the hatred of war and the love of nature. The author is a reformer, denouncing boldly, caustically, and humorously. As a lover of nature he expresses something of earth's message to man. 12mo, Cloth, 126 pp. $1.00.

If the combination of strong and direct thought with simple and pure expression is the essential requisite to a phrase's immortality, there are passages in it which the world will not allow to die.—The Philadelphia North American.

Tolstoy and His Message ‡

It gives an intimate view of the personality, character, and dramatic events in the life of the distinguished Russian writer and reformer. It clearly sets forth all of Tolstoy's ethical, social, and religious beliefs, and accompanies this exposition by a concise interpretation of the great teacher's philosophy of life. Has a description of the interesting ways by which he puts his belief into practise. 16mo, Cloth. 50 cents, net; by mail, 54 cents.

It is brief and to the point, and will give to many a comprehension of the man and his philosophy which they can not elsewhere obtain in so small a compass.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Delitzsch, Prof. Franz

A Commentary on the Book of Psalms ‡

From latest edition, revised and corrected by the author. Translated by Rev. David Eaton, M.A. Three volumes. Crown 8vo, Cloth, 1,533 pp. $2.00 per vol.

Of Prof. Delitzsch's new edition it may be fairly said that it is the most complete and trustworthy Commentary on the Psalms which exists. It is the care which this veteran scholar uniformly bestows upon his successive editions that gives them their peculiar excellence.—The Guardian, London.

A more learned treatise on the Psalter is probably not extant, and American students not masters of the German may congratulate themselves on the completion of the commentary in their own tongue. Happily it combines devoutness and scientific conservatism with vast learning. The work as whole is an invaluable and a permanent addition to the Biblical library of students.—Lutheran Quarterly, Gettysburg, Pa.

Delitzsch is one of the most eminent Christian scholars of this century. His commentaries on the Psalms and on Isaiah are standard works of great value, and it will be good service to bring them within the reach of every Christian minister.—Henry J. Van Dyke, D.D.

This is primarily the scholar's commentary, but the thoughtful reader of any degree of cultivation will find it richly suggestive and stimulating.—Western Christian Advocate, Chicago.

About the excellence of this work there can be no question. The clear print and the convenient size of the volume make the commentary a delight to consult, with reference to the meaning of the utterances of the sweet singers of Israel. —The Quarterly Review, Philadelphia.
